“ Like leaves on trees the race of man is found,
Now green in youth, now withering on the ground :
Another race the following Spring supplies ;
They rise successive, and successive fall :
So generations in their course decay ;
So flourish these when those are passed away.”

AN ADDRESS

Delivered by Hon. H. G. Connor, of Wilson, N. C., at St. Phillips Church, in May 1902, on the occasion of the Annual Pilgrimage of the N. C. Society of Colonial Dames of America, to Old Brunswick.

Madame President, Ladies of the Society of Colonial Dames, Ladies and Gentlemen:

For your kind courtesy, by which I am permitted to participate in these ceremonies, I beg to express my sincere thanks. The pleasure which I have is marred only by the consciousness that I am unable to discharge worthily the duty which I have assumed. The invitation so kindly suggested a personal compliment, coupled with a delicate suggestion that in some measure it is appropriate that the privilege be extended to me that I could not have done otherwise than accept it. If your kindness be not requited as it merits, you must remember that it often happens the most gracious deeds may not be adequately rewarded because of the poverty of the recipient rather than from a lack of appreciation. Standing in this presence and upon this spot, one richer than myself in power of expression and in knowledge of the deeds of your forefathers, might well feel abashed. When I remember that the story of the Cape Fear, its heroes and their brave deeds have enlisted the affectionate zeal, the scholarly pens, the eloquent words of Mr. George Davis, Col. Alfred M. Waddell, Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, Mr. James Sprunt, Mr. Eugene S. Martin, and others, I would be vain indeed, if I were not oppressed with a sense of my inability to speak as they have spoken. Having undertaken the task, I shall rely upon the courteous consideration and generosity for which the men and women of this section are so justly famed, to shield me from harsh criticism; let my effort be measured by the spirit which prompts, rather than by the manner in which it is performed.

That those always foremost in well-doing, worthily representing an ancestry of noble men, should once in each year make a pilgrimage to this spot, commemorate the lives and services of the men who built these walls and worshipped in this venerable church, seems to me a most happy thought and a most appropriate act. With reverential devotion to their memories you "remove the mosses from their tombs" and erect monuments and tablets perpetuating your appreciation of their virtues and deeds.

A reasonable, generous, loyal pride of ancestry, based upon a recognition of what one's ancestors were and what they did—one not "prompting to empty boasting, but quickening every generous impulse and stirring the purest ambition"—one, by which in the beautiful language of the preamble of your Constitution, "Successive generations are awakened to truer patriotism and aroused to nobler endeavor by the contemplation of their forefathers"—such a pride of ancestry develops, fosters and perpetuates the noblest attributes of character. Poor indeed are any people who have no pride in the past; who think not upon the days of old; who have no memories, no monuments; who, caring naught for what has been, care little for what will be. Bishop Stubbs wisely says: "The roots of the present lie deep in the past, and nothing in the past is dead to the man who would learn how the present came to be what it is."

There is danger that much of the finer, gentler, and therefore stronger, qualities of our men and women will be lost in the rushing, bustling life of these days; that in reaching forth for the material, the tangible things which minister to our present pleasures, we may lose the taste and desire for those things which minister to the higher, truer, finer parts of our nature. It is well, therefore, that at fit times and at appropriate places we tarry for a season to refresh our minds and hearts with a love and devotion for the past and its memories, to learn the lessons which they teach. May we not hope that in the days to come, when we shall have been gathered to our fathers, those who come after us may visit this spot, read what is recorded on this tablet and speak of what is done here this day as a memorial to us?

It has been wisely said that the home of a good, true man, the place where he has wrought his life work, from which he has gone in and out among his fellows, is a sacred spot, and to those of his own home and kindred, consecrated ground. So, in a larger sense, the spot upon which men have wrought good and brave deeds for the welfare of their State and Country, where in counsel or conflict they have made or defended institutions and laws, establishing and preserving liberty, peace and happiness, should be set apart and marked by monuments and tablets.

In the year 1855, that learned lawyer, elegant scholar and noble gentleman, Mr. George Davis, said, "The Cape Fear Country has never had a historian. Its public records are meagre and barren.

Its private records, once rich and fruitful sources of history, have become mutilated and impaired by the division and emigration of families." The able and interesting address containing these words has inspired the men and women of Cape Fear to remove the reproach of which their distinguished citizen then complained. Loyal sons of the Cape Fear, aroused by his appeal, have done much to "pluck away the mosses which had gathered upon the tombs of their illustrious dead." The honored mayor of Wilmington, a loyal and talented descendent of the most illustrious of the patriots of 1766-1776, has set forth in "A Colonial Officer and His Times," the virtues, talents and services of Col. Hugh Waddell.

Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, a gifted and distinguished native of the Cape Fear City, has, in his "Life and Character of William Hooper"—"The prophet of American Independence"—made a most valuable and instructive contribution to the history of men and times of Colonial Carolina.

In his "Life and Correspondence of James Iredell," Mr. Griffith J. McRee has written the best biography yet produced in this State.

Mr. James Sprunt, one of your most patriotic, successful and scholarly citizens, has, in his "Notes of a Colonial Plantation," opened and developed a rich mine of historical material.

The monumental work of that sturdy, liberty loving son of North Carolina, Col. William L. Saunders, by which, as Col. Waddell says, "He came beyond all comparison the best informed man upon our Colonial History that ever lived," contains a "Masterful presentation of the trials and struggles of our forefathers, and a glorious vindication of them against the historical scavengers who have sought to defame them." Col. Waddell, speaking in glowing, yet truthful eulogy of his friend and his work, says of the Colonial Records, "It is a great reservoir of facts, from which all must draw who would write accurately and truthfully the history of the first century of our colonization. It was done by a true and loving hand, under the inspiration of a brave and loyal heart."

In the long list of loyal sons who have loved and served North Carolina and contributed to her honor, glory and welfare, none more deserves grateful remembrance than Col. William L. Saunders.

The "Historical Addresses" delivered on this spot, under the auspices of the Society of Colonial Dames, contain valuable data for the future historian.

In the introduction to No. 1 of the "James Sprunt Historical Monographs," Dr. Kemp P. Battle says, "By the generosity of Mr. Sprunt of Wilmington, the University is enabled to begin a work which we are confident will be appreciated by the enlightened people of the State. "This is the periodical publication of monographs designed to elucidate the history of North Carolina." The publications which have been prepared during the last year entitled "Great Events in North Carolina History" are charming in style and intensely interesting.

The venerable and veteran editor and seer of the Albemarle, Col. R. B. Creecy, has given us in his delightful "Tales of a Grandfather" a valuable collection of memories, and pen pictures of the men of the past in the Albemarle Section, who have shed lustre upon that region so prolific of great men and stirring events in the Colonial period of our history.

Dr. Bassett, Professor of History in Trinity College, is a most loving and zealous devotee to the study and writing of our early history. The "Archive" is filled with work of a high order of merit. I would not fail to recall the valuable work of Dr. Stephen B. Weeks in his chosen field of historical investigation. Mr. Marshall DeLancey Haywood of Raleigh has given us some very valuable monographs and will soon complete and publish a history of the administration of Governor Tryon.

Capt. Samuel A. Ashe, who in his untiring and unselfish devotion and service to the State, illustrates and perpetuates the virtues of a long line of distinguished ancestors, I am assured has in hand and will complete a history of North Carolina. That the work will be worthy of the State is assured by the established reputation of the author.

Mr. Davis, in the address from which I have quoted, speaking of the purpose which inspired him, says, "My single desire is to awaken a new interest in her early history." If the wise and good, who rest from their labors, are permitted to have knowledge of the fruits of their service while here, we may be assured that the great, warm, loving heart of your departed citizen and friend is filled with joy that his labors to rescue the memory of his forefathers from forgetfulness were not in vain.

The story of the social and domestic life of the men of the Cape Fear, of their liberal hospitality, their happy homes, elegant manners, rich and rare conversation, fertile lands, their marrying and giving in marriage has been most interestingly told by their descendants. Mr. Davis describes them as, "Gentlemen of birth and education, bred in the refinement of polished society, bringing with them ample fortunes, gentle manners and cultivated minds. Most of them united by ties of blood, and all by those of friendship, they came as one household, sufficient unto themselves, and reared their family altars in peace and happiness." The Moores, Waddells and their associates were soon joined by men of note from all quarters, who came to swell their numbers. From Chowan came the distinguished lawyer, Samuel Swann, and his brother; John Edward Mosely, the President of the Council, and his kinsman, young Alexander Lillington; John Baptista Ashe and Cornelius Harnett, the elder. From Boston came William Hill, William Hooper, and General Thomas Clark; from South Carolina, came Chief Justice Allen and William Dry, the elder; from Ireland, Archibald MacLaine; from Liverpool, the Eagles; from London, the Quincies; and here came John Russell, and Robert Holton and Armand DeRossett, Col. Jones, Col. Merrick, the Claytons and Rutherfords, the Rices, the Rowans, the Watters and a host of others." The virtues, courage and loyalty of these men and their descendants at all periods of North Carolina history and in all departments of life and work have enriched the annals of the State. Whenever chartered rights were endangered by the assumption or abuse of power; whenever British aggression threatened the liberties of the people, they were the foremost to resist openly and forcibly. When new conditions demanded wise and safe counsel, these men were the wisest. When new political institutions resulting from new political conditions became necessary, these men were among the leaders in the work. When battles were to be fought, invaders repelled, succor to neighboring people to be rendered, the men of the Cape Fear were ready and prompt to discharge every duty.

Truly, Madame President and ladies of the Cape Fear, you and your sisters in other sections of the State have good cause to associate yourselves together to do honor to the virtues of your forefathers, and to encourage all who come under your influence to true patriotism, built upon the knowledge of the self-sacrifice and heroism of the men of the colonies who laid the foundation of this great nation.

I have thought it would be instructive and interesting to devote the half hour assigned me on your program to a study of the motives which moved and controlled the leaders in this section and their associated Colonists in Eastern Carolina in their struggle with the mother country which resulted in the revolution of 1776.

That which gives interest and permanent value to the struggle of patriotic men against assumed or abused political power resulting in revolution, change of dynasty or of institutions, is its connection with and expression of fundamental principles and strong political convictions. There is but a transient interest in mere upheavals of men struggling for temporary supremacy. These are the results of factional divisions, having no rational course and no permanent interest. They are incident to all communities in their beginnings. Men devoted to the institutions and laws of their country, proud of its past, its military and civic glory, are, because of such devotion and loyalty, based upon an intelligent understanding of the laws and their value, always most jealous of the slightest invasion of their rights. These are the men who are the first to enter and the last to abandon the contest. Such are the men whose deeds you are here to celebrate and commemorate. It was because John Ashe and Hugh Waddell were men of this sort that where we now stand "was the scene of the first armed resistance of the Stamp Act in any American Colony." It was here that those citizen soldiers "defied the power of Great Britain" and prevented the landing of stamps from her ships of war November 28, 1765. They declared that they would resist the landing of stamps and would fire on any one attempting it.

The first charter granted by Charles II to the Lords Proprietors of Carolina, among other provisions, contains these words, "And to the end the said province may be more rapidly increased by the multitude of people resorting thereto * * * * * We do give and grant and by these presents as likewise all liberties, franchises, and privileges of this our kingdom of England and all other of our Dominion aforesaid and they may fully and widely have, possess and enjoy as our liege people, born within the same. * * *

Any statute, act, ordinance or provision to the contrary notwithstanding." In the edition of 1854 of Bancroft's History (vol. 2, page 159) we find these words, "Are there any who doubt man's capacity for self-government, let them study the history of North Carolina." In the edition 1876, (vol. I, page 594) these words are omitted. This fact in no degree affects their truth. The controversies which disturbed the peace of the colony and filled the letters of the Royal Governors with complaints of the Colonists, resulted from misgovernment and unwarranted interference with the people's chartered rights.

The second charter contained the same provisions. As a result, in 1766, when the British Parliament enacted the Stamp Act, the men of the Albemarle and of the Cape Fear well understood its significance and the issue presented to them. They then, as always, insisted that the "liberties, franchises and privileges of Englishmen, claimed and enjoyed as a matter of right by our ancestors, belonged to them, because they were inhabitants of Carolina, all of whom were guaranteed the rights of Englishmen by their charter. "In like manner as St. Paul boasted of the vantage he occupied by right of his Roman citizenship, so our ancestors claimed as inhabitants of Carolina they, too, occupied a vantage ground peculiarly their own, and of which they could not be lawfully deprived without their consent."

Resistance to the enforcement of the Stamp Act was based entirely upon the ground that it was an invasion of their charter, which secured to them the exclusive right to tax themselves. "Five times before the storm of revolution swept over the State, the self-willed and power-hating lawyers of North Carolina had anticipated

unker Hill and Lexington and their own Mecklenburg in their willingness to die in behalf of the abstract idea of local self government. Their motives were not commercial; no ships rotted in their harbors; they had no manufactures to languish, no carrying trade to be ruined. Their conduct was simply a pure and priceless demonstration of the political genius and self governing passion of the Anglo Saxon race." It is this truth which gives to Carolina its absorbing and permanent interest. It is the further truth that at times the same spirit, "the same political genius and self-governing passion" has asserted itself. North Carolina, from the days of her brave men, Harvey, Waddell, Hewes, Iredell, Moore and their associates, at this hour has never entered into a contest in the field or the forum ignorant of the right to be defended or the wrong to be redressed. The crisis of 1766 passed by the repeal of the Stamp Act. No stamps were landed or circulated on North Carolina soil. "The issue was again presented in 1773-74." From that time to 1776 five provincial congresses called by her citizens met within the borders of the State. Unmoved by considerations of loss or gain, with British fleets hovering off her coasts, and sixteen hundred Tories gathering their clans for battle in her very heart, the men of North Carolina, with serene and patient wisdom, guided through the successive stage of self defense, rebellion, provisional government and independence. There was haste a plenty, but no confusion, no anarchy, no lawlessness. No detail of administration escaped their notice. No adjustment of power to liberty remained unguarded. No question of human rights went undiscussed. With a clear concurrent purpose begotten of great fortitude and love, these fearless, practical, well-eyed men performed a civic duty and submitted their work to the "ratification of remote generations."

The Colonists constantly maintained and adhered to two great cardinal principles; First they relied upon the known and unchanging text of written law. "Our charter still subsists" was their slogan from start to finish, from the first royal governor to the last. Second, that whenever in their opinion speech was exhausted and force necessary, they hesitated not to use violence to enforce their chartered rights, and to prevent their infringement.

The Legislature, which met on the 4th of December, 1773, appointed a committee to gain the earliest intelligence of the proceedings in Parliament in regard to America, and to maintain correspondence with the other colonies. The Governor, foreseeing the result of a concert of action, determined to prevent North Carolina's being represented in any Colonial Congress that might be called. The deputies to such bodies had always been elected by the Legislatures; hence the Governor, that he might keep matters in his own hands, dissolved the Assembly and determined that it should not assemble again until matters were in better shape. When this was communicated to John Harvey, then Speaker of the Assembly, he replied, "Then the people will convene one themselves." He conferred with Wiley Jones, at Halifax, and with Samuel Johnston and Colonel Buncombe, at the home of the latter in Tyrrell County. We find that on July 24, 1774, a general meeting of the inhabitants of Wilmington, in the Province of North Carolina, was held in the town of Wilmington. At this meeting, William Hooper presided. It was resolved, "That Col. James Moore, John Ancrum, Fred Jones, Samuel Ashe, Robert Hogg, Robert Howe, Francis Clayton and Archibald McLaine should be advised to prepare a circular letter to the several counties of their province, expressive of the sense of the inhabitants of this district with respect to the several acts of Parliament lately made for the oppression of our sister colony of the Massachusetts Bay, for having exerted itself in defense of the constitutional rights of America."

Other resolutions breathing the same spirit and setting forth their purposes were adopted. They were not content with mere expression of sympathy, but showed forth their faith by their works and declared, "We consider the cause of the town of Boston as the common cause of British America, and as suffering in defense of the colonies in general; and that, therefore we have sent in proportion to our ability a supply of provisions for the indigent of that place." This committee at once prepared and sent to the freeholders of Craven County a letter enclosing the resolutions and inviting them to elect delegates to represent them at a Congress to be held on August 20th. This letter concludes with these words, "We rely upon your sending an immediate answer to these our proposals, and wishing you success in all your efforts for the support of the Constitutional liberties of America." It is interesting to note that in every declaration made by these clear-minded, "level-headed" men, it is their "Constitutional liberties" they are defending. The freeholders of other Counties met and adopted resolutions of a similar character.

Governor Martin, on August 13th, issued a proclamation, in which he did "strictly require and enjoin on their allegiance all and every of his Majesty's subjects to forbear to attend at any such illegal meetings." Two days afterwards the freeholders of Pitt County met and resolved "that John Simpson and Edward Cotton attend at a convention of this province." They were instructed to a "declaration of American rights." They declared, "It is the first law of British law and legislation that no man can be taxed but by his own consent or by his legal representatives." These men spoke as if they had learned the rights of Englishmen from him whose great name their count-

ore. The freeholders of Johnston County on the same day met and declared, "That his Majesty's subjects in America are entitled to the same rights and privileges that his subjects in the kingdom are," and "that it is repugnant to the rights of the people that any tax should be imposed on them without their consent or the consent of those who properly represent them." On the same day the freemen of Granville met and set forth the great fundamental political truth that by the civil compact subsisting between our king and his people, allegiance is the right of the first magistrate and protection the right of the people." They further resolved that "His Majesty's subjects living in America, have either by inheritance or by purchase—all and singular the rights, liberties and immunities claimed by their British ancestors, and entitled to the privileges granted to them by their respective provincial charters; that the sole right to impose taxes upon the people of America is constitutionally vested in the representative provincial assemblies." As indicating the broad patriotic spirit which constrained these men and their determination to subordinate all things to the vindication and defense of their chartered rights, we find them declaring, "that for the common good, every difference, division, party and faction and the cause thereof subside; that peace, unanimity and concord subsist throughout this province."

On the 25th day of August, 1774, the Council met at New Bern. The Governor's proclamation had been disregarded and he signified to the Board that "this day is appointed for the meeting of certain persons, called deputies from several counties and towns of the province at this place, and that many of them had come to town and he desired the advice of the Council whether he should take any further measures than those he had taken, when it was the unanimous opinion that no further steps could properly be taken at this juncture." It is evident that the Council better understood the temper of the people than did their royal Governor. The Convention met on the same day. Among the deputies were the most prominent men of the Province. From Brunswick came Robert Howe; from Craven, Richard Cogdell; from Chowan, Samuel Johnston; from Chatham, Richard Caswell; from Duplin, James Kenan and William Dixon; from Granville, Thomas Person; from Halifax, Nicholas Long and William Jones; from New Hanover, John Ashe and William Hooper; from Onslow, John Harvey; from New Bern, Abner Nash; from Edenton, Joseph Hewes. John Harvey was unanimously elected Moderator. On the 27th day of August the Convention set forth in a series of resolutions, its opinion and position upon the questions and conditions which had brought it into existence. These resolutions give prominence to two truths: First, "That we claim no more rights than the rights of Englishmen without diminution or abridgement." Second, "That it is of the very essence of the British Constitution that no subject shall be taxed without his own consent, freely given by himself, or by his legal representatives, * * * and that any other than such is derogatory to the rights of a subject and a gross violation to the grand charter of our liberties." William Hooper, Joseph Hewes and Richard Caswell were appointed deputies to attend the General Congress, to be held in Philadelphia. The resolutions were signed by the Moderator and each deputy. Provision was made for convening the Congress by the Moderator, or, in the event of his death, by Samuel Johnston.

Governor Martin, in his letter to the Earl of Dartmouth, says: "The first intimation I received, except from vague rumor, of the measures taken lately here was from the enclosed printed letter of a committee at Wilmington to the freeholders of Craven County." In this very interesting letter the irate Governor roundly scores his Council, for that although invited to reside at his house, and hold "themselves abstracted from the Deputies" they mixed with the members of this "Cabal." He excepts Mr. President Hassell, who he says acquitted himself like "a true and worthy man." He says that while he thinks Mr. Caswell "disapproves of these measures in his heart and undertakes this office purely for the sake of maintaining his popularity * * * the other two are professed champions of all popular measures." Whatever foundation there may have been for Governor Martin's opinion that Mr. Caswell disapproved of these measures, we find that he "set out from the Red House, Sept. 3d, 1774 for Philadelphia," and made an interesting "itinerary," reaching there on the 25th day of the month. He notes that at a banquet at the State House thirty-two toasts were drunk, setting them out in full. They are quite interesting as indicating the large capacity of these patriots for enjoying the good things of life, and at the same time give expression to their political opinions and purposes. Andrew Miller, in a letter to Thomas Burke, Sept. 4th, 1774, says: "I fancy that I have seen a copy of the provincial resolves. I am told that they are drawn by Mr. Hooper." "It was resolved that a committee of five persons be appointed in each county to accede to this Association, to take effectual care that these resolutions be properly observed, and to correspond occasionally with the provincial committee." Pursuant to these resolutions, Committees of Safety were appointed by the several counties.

At a meeting of the free holders in the Court House at Wilmington on November 23rd, 1774, they unanimously elected Cornelius Harnet, John Quince, Francis Clayton, William Hooper, Archibald Mc Laine, John Roberson and James Walker. The record of the proceeding of this committee gives us an accurate and graphic account of the state of mind, the patriotic purposes and the invincible determination of the men of this section "to give an unanimous adhesion to the resolutions and advice of their representatives in the late General conference."

On January 24, 1775, the Committee assembled for the purpose of choosing a committee for the county to join and co-operate with the committee of the town. They chose George M. Moore, John Ashe, Samuel Ashe, James Moore, Alexander Lillington, Timothy Bloodworth, John and Thomas Devane and others. At this time they decided to have stated monthly meetings. It clearly appears, that, although there existed in the Province an organized government with the Royal Governor at its head, the real power, recognized and obeyed, was in those Committees of Safety.

It would be interesting to call your attention to their mode of procedure and to the variety of subjects of which they took cognizance. A proposed horse race was at their suggestion abandoned, "as being subversive of the said association and a breach of the resolves of the General Assembly." Mr. William Hill, being addressed concerning the tea brought into port by the "Sally," answers, "The safety of the people is, or ought to be, the supreme law of the land. The gentlemen of the Committee will judge whether this law or an Act of Parliament should at this time operate in North Carolina." Mr. Mabson is notified that the Committee have resolved that "all slaves imported into this river since the first of December shall be reshipped to the places where they came from as soon as possible." The merchants of Wilmington, masters of vessels and traders are notified if they have gunpowder on hand they will cease to make sale thereof until informed by the Committee. Mr. Swann and Mr. Roberson made report to the Committee that all persons applied to had complied with the request, except Mr. Burgwyn, whose answer "appears to be evasive." The Committee declared that Mr. Burgwyn's answer was unsatisfactory and that he have notice of it. Mr. Burgwyn, on the same day, assures the Committee that there is some misapprehension in regard to the matter, "as surely it cannot be supposed that I intend any insult to a set of gentlemen for whom I have individually high respect." He proceeds to assure them that at the time of the inquiry he did not know the quantity that he had and makes some reference to the fact that "a part of the gun powder belongs to Mrs. Vaddell." He concludes his letter, "I should be extremely sorry to act in any respect contrary to the true interest of my Country." Mr. Barnett, for the committee, assures Mr. Burgwyn that his answer is satisfactory. A meeting of the merchants and traders is declared to be necessary to prevent as far as possible any advantage being taken of the present situation of the Province, with America in general rating goods higher than they were formerly sold at. Billiard tables and dancing in public houses were condemned as being repugnant to the resolves of the General Conference. The price of salt was regulated by the Committee.

That these patriotic gentlemen were not so deeply absorbed in the stirring events affecting the welfare of the Province as to neglect other concerns of this life is shown by an announcement in the "Gazette" of February 12th, 1775, that "Mr. Roger Moore, of Cape Fear was married to Miss Polly Nash, at Pembroke, the seat of Abner Nash, Esq." It is stated that "she is a most amiable young lady with a handsome fortune."

John Harvey, Moderator, issues his proclamation to the respective counties and towns to elect delegates to represent them in a Convention to assemble at New Bern on April 3rd. He gives as his reason for this that "the Assembly stands prorogued on the 27th of March." We now reach a time when the struggles of more than a century are to culminate, and the right of self government to be finally asserted and maintained.

On April 2nd, Governor Martin issued a proclamation reciting that in consequence of the advertisement issued and circulated by John Harvey, Moderator, sundry persons have been elected by "a small number of freeholders" to meet in Convention in the town of New Bern on this day; that the meeting of the said convention and the declared purposes thereof will be highly offensive to the King and dishonorable to the General Assembly, which is appointed to sit at this time for the dispatch of public business." He therefore exhorts all his Majesty's subjects to withdraw themselves from the same and to desist from all such illegal proceedings. A large number of those elected to the Convention were also members of the Assembly. The temper of these men is shown by the record which they made. It reads as follows: "At a general meeting of the delegates in this Province in Convention at New Bern the 3rd day of April, 1775, etc." Then follows a list of the delegates present. Whereupon John Harvey was unanimously elected Moderator. The conduct of Hooper, Hewes and Caswell, delegates to the General Congress, is declared "in every particular worthy of the trust imposed in them." The Moderator returned the thanks of the Convention to the delegates, to which they made an appropriate answer. These gentlemen were again appointed delegates to the General Congress. To this Convention the borough of Wilmington sent Cornelius Harnett, the county retaining Col. Ashe and Mr. Hooper; Orange sent Francis Nash; Onslow, Edward Sharkey; Brunswick, Parker Quince. The Convention adjourned April 7th. On the 4th of April the Assembly

t in New Bern. John Harvey was unanimously elected Speaker. us was presented the very singular spectacle of a body of men designated by the Governor as a "Cabal" and as an "illegal Assembly," and the same men at the same time constituting a body addressed by his Excellency as "Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Assembly."

The address of Governor Martin is filled with denunciation of the Convention. The House in its answer says: "Far be it from us, Sir, to prevent the operations of the Convention now held in New Bern, or to agree with your Excellency in bestowing upon them the odious epithet of an illegal meeting. They are, Sir, the respectable representatives of the people, appointed for a special and important purpose." The Assembly concluded this important communication to the Governor with an expression of warm attachment and heartfelt compassion for the deplorable state of the town of Boston, and a declaration of a fixed and determined purpose to unite with the other colonies in their effort to retain and hand down to posterity unimpaired those rights and liberties, which as British subjects they possessed. They "highly approve" of the proceedings of the Continental Congress, and the choice of Hooper, Hewes and Caswell as delegates, and expressed their thanks to these gentlemen for their services. Thereupon, as we might well expect "His Excellency, the Governor, was pleased to dissolve the Assembly"; and thus ended the last Legislative body that ever sat in North Carolina under British rule.

The relations between Governor Martin and the people became more strained every day. Charges of the most serious character were made against him. The Committees of Safety practically assumed control of affairs, and the people gave to them loyal support. Important events followed each other with great rapidity. The Governor moved from New Bern to Fort Johnston. From here he was driven by Col. John Ashe to seek safety on the "Cruizer." His Excellency issued his proclamations and denunciations, all of which only stimulated Ashe, Harnett, Howe and others of their associates further promote "sedition and rebellion," until he declared that they stand foremost among the patrons of revolt and anarchy."

We find on January 16th, 1775, "a letter from the people to Governor Martin." The language of the letter is in such striking contrast to the diplomatic style of its conclusion as "Your Excellency's most obedient and Humble Servants" that it has the flavor of grim humor. It is evident from the language of the proclamation of August 20th, that Governor Martin was of the opinion that the letter was written by "a certain John Ashe, who presumed to employ the most respectable name of the people to cover his own flagitious designs." Mr. Harnett, Chairman of the Committee for Wilmington, on July 27th, called a meeting of the free-holders of the county and town to elect additional delegates to the Convention called by Mr. Samuel Johnston to meet at Hillsboro, the 20th of August. Archibald McLaine was elected for the town, and William Hooper, Alexander Lillington and James Moore for the County as additional delegates. This act on the part of the people called forth "a fier proclamation of Governor Martin." This sulphurous state paper forewarns and exhorts all His Majesty's subjects within the Province to forbear making any choice of delegates to represent them in the intended Convention at Hillsboro. Notwithstanding the exhortation every county and every borough in the Province sent a large number of delegates to this Convention than to either of the ones held at New Bern, and on August 21st one hundred and eighty-four delegates, elected by the freeholders, answered the roll call, "within forty-eight hours after their organization," a "test" solemnly binding the members under the sanction of virtue, honesty and sacred love of liberty and of country to maintain and support all and every one of the acts, regulations, and resolutions of the Continental and Provincial Congresses was reported and unanimously adopted, every one of the one hundred and eighty-four delegates signing it. Although a digression, it is interesting to note a record made by those who came after these men more than a century later. On the 20th of May 1861, the Delegates to another Convention were assembled in the City of Raleigh. "At eight o'clock, as agreed upon, in open Convention the members proceeded to affix their names to the ordinance of separation and one hundred and twenty, the whole number provided for by the Act of the General Assembly came forward and signed the instrument." In this Convention, Brunswick was represented by Maurice Moore; Wilmington, by Cornelius Harnett and Archibald McLaine; New Hanover, by George Moore, Alexander Lillington, Samuel Ashe, William Hooper, James Moore, and John Ashe; Brunswick County, by Robert Howe, Parker Quince, Robert Ellis and Roger Moore. Samuel Johnson was there from Chowan; James Kenan and William Dixon from Duplin; Richard Caswell from Dobbs; Henry Irwin from Edgecombe; Thomas Person and John Penn from Granville; Thomas Hart from Orange; three of the Harvey name from Perquimans; Joseph Hewes from Edenton; and Abner Nash from New Bern.

The roll call of this Convention calls to mind many of the brightest and proudest pages in the history of this dear old Commonwealth. It was in session twenty-days. Its work for organizing the Province for defense was important and thorough. As indicating the temper of the men who proposed it, we find that they ordered the proclamato be burned by the common hangman." They declared that the Governor had "absented himself." They organized additional Committees of Safety in the counties and a central committee, called "Provincial Council", clothed with complete power. Col. Saunders says, "The New Government, with ample powers and a full complement of officers, thus sprung full grown, as it were, into being, moved along steadily and did its work regularly."

On April 4th, 1776, the Provincial Congress met at Halifax. A Committee, of which Cornelius Harnett was Chairman, was appointed to take into consideration "the usurpations and violations attempted and committed by the King and Parliament of Great Britain against America." On Friday morning the Committee reported that in their opinion the House should enter into the following resolve: "That the delegates in this Colony in the Continental Congress be empowered to concur with the delegates in declaring independence and forming foreign alliances, reserving for this Colony the sole and exclusive right of forming a Constitution and laws for this Colony, and for appointing delegates from time to time to meet with the delegates of the other colonies for such purposes as shall hereafter be pointed out," which resolution was unanimously adopted on April 12th, 1776. That which was done on this day is commemorated by the words, "April 12th, 1776" on the State Flag.

A Committee was appointed, of which Mr. Harnett and Mr. Ashe were members, to prepare a temporary civil constitution. Mr. Hooper was later added to the committee. In all of the important work of this Convention the delegates from the Cape Fear Country took leading part. In a letter to James Iredell, Samuel Johnston says, "All idea of forming a permanent government was laid aside at this time. It is now proposed for the present to establish a council to sit constantly." The movement which had its beginning in the defiant words of brave John Harvey—"Then the people will call us (a convention) themselves"—had now reached a point where the "political genius and self governing passion of the Anglo Saxon race" recognized the necessity for a permanent constitution. The political germ had now reached a state of development where it must organize.

On the 12th day of November, 1776, the Congress met at Halifax. Brunswick had there Cornelius Harnett, Archibald McLaine and others. Richard Caswell again sat for Dobbs; New Hanover sent John and Samuel Ashe; Onslow, Edward Starkey. The three Harveys were there from Perquimans to complete the work begun by their patriotic ancestor, who had passed away from the scenes of this earth. Parker Quince sat for Brunswick County, Hewes for Edenton, Willie

Jones for Halifax, and William Hooper for Wilmington. Richard Caswell was elected President. A Committee, of which General Ashe, Mr. Samuel Ashe and Archibald McLaine were members, was appointed to "form and lay before the House a Bill of Rights and form of a constitution for the government of the State." Note the change of terms from "Province" to "State." On December 14th the Bill of Rights was debated "paragraph by paragraph" and passed its third reading and on the 18th the Constitution was adopted and ordered to be engrossed. The work of State Building was completed and the Bill of Rights rung out the great truth "That all political power is vested in and derived from the people solely." The Constitution declares that "allegiance and protection are in their nature reciprocal and the one should of right be resumed when the other is denied."

The provisions of this Constitution present a striking illustration of the truth of Edmund Burke's remark, "that the Englishman in his reaching forth for better forms of political life never loses sight of or abandons the past, but ever seeks to construct his new institutions upon the conservative basis of that which he finds in existence." While changing the foundation of political power or sovereignty from the King to the people, they carefully retained the elementary principles of the British Constitution, especially those which the wisdom of the ages had established as the guarantees of life, liberty and property. The Common Law which Englishmen had builded was preserved as the basis of American Jurisprudence. Trial by jury, the writ of Habeas Corpus, the Freedom of the Press, the Right of Alienation, the right of the people through their representatives to levy taxes, etc., was carefully guarded. The Charter "still subsists," but was hereafter to have for its basis the consent of the governed, and not the grace or sovereign will of any king or potentate.

It required five years of suffering and struggle to make good the work of the people and have the world recognize that North Carolina was a free, sovereign and independent State. The Colonists had ceased to be subjects and had become citizens. I sometimes think that we do not clearly express the true position of the Colonial leaders when we speak of their "making a revolution." Was it not rather a war for the preservation of chartered rights and English liberties? Was their conduct not the assertion and maintenance of rights rather than a revolt against lawful authority? This certainly was the view held by the British Whigs in regard to their action, and it was from this point of view that Chatham, Burke and Camden defended them in the British Parliament. To this day their descendants have fought to preserve constitutional rights—have never made a revolution or rebellion.

The conception which a people have of civil and religious liberty established and protected by law will be reflected in their manners, morals and mode of life. When law is the expression of the virtuous and enlightened sentiment is "the State's collected will," it is respected and obeyed. This begets and preserves gentle manners, domestic virtues, high ideals, industry and frugality. When there is equality of opportunity, and appreciation of true manhood and womanhood, honorable toil secures, rather than forfeits, respect. The youth are stimulated to high endeavor and laudable ambition.

The preamble of your Constitution declares the great truth that History shows that the remembrance of a Nation's glory in the past stimulates to rational greatness in the future." It is, therefore, well that the Society of Colonial Dames of America has been founded, that the descendants of these men who in the Colonial period, by their rectitude, courage and self denial, prepared the way for success in that struggle which gained for the country its liberty and constitution, might do honor to the virtues of their forefathers, and encourage in all who come under their influence true patriotism, built on the knowledge of self sacrifice and heroism of those men of the Colonies who laid the foundation of this great Nation.

The inscription on this tablet declares that the deeds of these Heroes and patriots of the lower Cape Fear should not pass away and that their names must not wither." To the end that this declaration be made good, it must ever be kept in mind that every privilege, which by reason of their self sacrifice and heroism you enjoy, impose on you sacred duties. These men set up their family altars in peace and happiness. It is yours to preserve them in the same spirit; to practice in the new conditions under which you live, the same virtues. That peace and happiness, religion and piety, may dwell among us, we must ever remember that "prosperity of states is laid in pure domestic life, in commercial integrity, in high standards of moral worth and public spirit, in simple habits, in courage, uprightness and a certain soundness and moderation of judgment which springs as much from character as from intellect.

These cardinal virtues are to be practiced in the home, in the church, and in all walks and vocations of life. In the same measure as we find them in the home and in the church, we may expect to find them in the public and political life of the people. It is because these men who planted this Colony and laid the foundations of this happy State so well understood this, that they builded this church and practiced these virtues. These qualities form the basis of the life and character of their descendants. It is yours to perpetuate their virtue, that in all generations the same happy State, which they bequeathed to you, may be preserved for those who come after you.

BATH, N. C.

(From the pen of a lady of Beaufort County, N. C.)

Old historic sleepy Bath ! What visions of the past, imagination conjures up at the mention of that name ! In varied procession there passes our mental vision, the roaming Indian, the hardy hunter and trapper, clad in buckskin shirt and breeches, his rifle and hunting knife at his side. Sedate Quakers, earnest Baptists and Huguenots; grave, generous and wise legislators; honest sailor and black bearded pirate; Church of England curates in gown and bands; English adventurers, gay knights and fair ladies, and all the numberless men and women, who worked, loved and "lived out life's little day" then vanished into the misty past leaving but scant records of their lives and labors.

Careful, reverent hands have gathered up the history and chronicles of the Cape Fear, the Albemarle and the Neuse sections, but only a few facts can be gleaned of the early history of Bath and these will be presented as best I can compile them in this article.

Long before the advent of the white man, many tribes of Indians roamed at will the shores of the Pamlico, the Meherrins, Corees, Matchapungos and Mattamoskett Indians occupied this section and up to forty or fifty years ago, many traces were found of their former villages. In some places the ground was thickly covered with broken pottery, beads, flint arrow heads and stone tomahawks. Nature here was a bountiful mother, the rivers teemed with fish, the mouths of the creeks with oysters, the forests abounded with game, nuts, wild fruits and berries, and in winter the waters were covered with water fowl.

The town of Bath is most beautifully situated on a bluff, a clear, rippling stream of water on either side, forming a peninsula, around which the creeks come in one broad sheet, giving a charming view of one mile and a half to the Pamlico River, with its extension of five miles to the opposite shore.

In the office of the Secretary of State at Raleigh, is recorded the first grant of land in Beaufort County, it was issued to Seth Sothell prior to 1682. The Lord's Proprietors in England thinking that their land rents would be more carefully looked after by one of their number, induced Seth Sothell to buy the Earl of Clarendon's grant amounting to twelve thousand acres. He set sail from England for his new home in 1681, but was captured by Algerine Corsairs and held as a slave for two years. When released, he came to the colony, arriving in 1683. It is said of him "that he was the most shameless reprobate that ever filled the Governor's chair in America. He took bribes, stole property and so perverted Justice that after six years of misrule an indignant and outraged people rose in their might, tried, impeached and imprisoned him, then sent him in exile to South Carolina. After an absence of two years he returned, dying shortly after and leaving the lands around Bath to his wife *Anne Sothell.

In 1693, the Indians in this section were attacked by a malignant fever, Wheeler says, but Dr. Hawks thought it was small pox which so reduced their number, that the whites no longer dreading them as formerly pushed their settlements further down the country.

In 1705 another band of †Huguenots led by their pastor Phillipe de Richeliong entered the colony, some settling in Bath, some in Craven Precinct and others on the Cape Fear river. The settlements prospered and from South Eastern Virginia and North of Albemarle Sound settlers came, among them many men of wealth and standing, attracted by the expectation that the better entry from the ocean through Ocracoke Inlet would make it the great commercial depot of the Province; for many years the Port of Roanoke had been the entry for all vessels in and outward bound from North Carolina waters, but a terrible storm which the chroniclers of that time said, "altered the very course of Nature," changing the courses of rivers, closing channels and opening others, so injured the channel at that point and deepened the water on Ocracoke bar, that all vessels were obliged to enter at Ocracoke." The storm referred to occurred in 1696.

The settlers cleared the ground for the cultivation of corn and tobacco and also raised large numbers of cattle and swine. The manufacture of tar was commenced about 1704 and this with turpentine in its crude state (as they had no means of distilling the spirits of turpentine from it) shingles and staves made from the juniper and oak with which the country abounded were among the first exports, to New England and foreign markets. The small New Sothell was her third husband, and after Sothell's death she became the second wife of Col. John Lear of Nansemond Co., Va.

Note by the Editor.—This information was also imparted to the REGISTER by one of the best Genealogists in the South, but a recent examination of Seth Sothell's will throws much doubt upon the marriage of the lady to James Blount, &c. Seth Sothell in his will mentions his father-in law by name, to-wit: Edward Forster.

Bath was incorporated March 8th, 1705-6 by the Assembly held at the house of Capt. Jno. Heckenfield on Little River, it was the first town in the province to have that distinction. In 1709 the Rev. Mr. White writes to a friend in New England that "Bath contained only twelve families," the most of the settlers preferring to live on their plantations on the banks of the river and numerous creeks, their intercourse with the Indians had been characterized by genuine consideration and respect for their mutual rights and the early page of our history is unsullied except in isolated cases by acts of aggression by the whites, met by the bloody reprisals of the Indians, which had darkened the history of our white brothers North, however in 1711 the crafty Tuscaroras who had long been jealous of the increasing numbers and power of the whites induced the Meherrins, Cotechneys, Mattamoskeets and Matchapungos to unite with them in an effort to crush out the whites. Tradition says that the Mattamuskeets and Matchapungos met on Indian Island to perfect their plans for the massacre of the settlers of the Bath section. On the morning of September 11, 1711 at sunrise the bloody work commenced and many of the unfortunate settlers fell victims to the tomahawk and scalping knife; neither age nor sex was spared and happy the one who could secure a hiding place. After rifling houses and stores of their valuables, the torch was applied and the Indians drunk from the effects of the liquor they had obtained continued for three days their work of destruction, until overcome by drunkenness and exhaustion they were compelled to desist.

Those of the settlers who could do so, reached a rude fort and there made a stand against the Indians. In the rear of the lots on which the residence of Mrs. Joseph Bonner is erected in Bath, is still seen a large excavation which is said to be the site of this fort. Neville's Creek in Beaufort county still perpetuates the name of the unfortunate family living on its banks who were all murdered.

In this emergency the Colonists called upon the Governors of South Carolina and Virginia for assistance. The Governor of South Carolina quickly responded, sending Col. John Barnwell with a force of white militia and a large number of Yemassee Indians (the deadly enemies of the Tuscaroras); the hostile Indians had entrenched themselves on the Neuse River, where they were attacked

* The vessels which came in this river at this early date to trade with the inhabitants stopped at the landing of Churchill Reading, Esq., where the planters brought their produce for shipment; the landing was on the South side of Pamlico river. Mr. Reading was the ancestor of Miss Bettie Hoyt, Miss Bragaw and others.

y Col. Barnwell with his force. Three hundred of the Indians were killed and one hundred captured, the Yemassee carrying the captives back to South Carolina to be held as slaves. Governor Spotswood of Virginia kept the Five Nations in check while King Blount's friendly Tuscaroras remained neutral. After the settlement of these troubles, Tom Blount's Tuscaroras for remaining neutral, were rewarded by a large grant of land on Raquis Swamp and Tarattock River in Chowan Precinct later Bertie County. This part of Bertie is known to this day as the "Indian Woods." Later in 1715, the Yemassee Indians turned against the whites in South Carolina, and the Tuscaroras in the vicinity of Bath incited by their example massacred about twenty families on the scattered plantations. About the time of the first massacre Gov. Hyde lived in Bath, probably for a year.

At a session of the Assembly held at Little River an act was passed to build a public road from Core Point opposite Bath to New Bern and by a later Act a Ferry was established between this point and Bath, no other person being permitted to run a ferry in ten miles of the same. In 1715 an Act of the Assembly provided for the care of the Public Library of St. Thomas Parish at Bath. Of this library we have the following account "the first Parish or Public Library of which we have any knowledge dated from 1700, was due to the loving zeal of the Rev. Thos. Bray, founder and Secretary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel." Dr. Bray was born in Shropshire in 1656 and died in 1730. He did send to us a library of books for the benefit of this place by the "Honorable the Cooperation for the establishment of the Christian religion." This collection was valued at £100, and was the foundation of the first public library established in N. Carolina. The library seems at first to have led a wandering life but was finally settled in Bath, though it was intended for Queen Anne's Creek (afterwards Edenton). In 1712 Dr. Rainsford tells us "that it had been dispersed and lost by these wretches who do not consider the benefit of so valuable a gift." The Act of the Assembly was, we presume, to gather together and preserve its scattered remnants, of its further future we have no information. Bishop Cheshire has suggested that it passed into the hands of Edward Moseley and was identical with the library presented by him to the town of Edenton in 1723.

A church of the Established faith of England was built in Bath in 1734, the large square brick used in its construction were brought from England, the quaint old church without a steeple, still stands in excellent preservation; outwardly it is unchanged, though within touched by the modern spirit of innovation it has lost some of its most interesting features. The quaint sounding board over the pulpit has been removed and the square high back pews replaced by those more modern in style. Near the pulpit, secured in the brick walls, is a slate tablet erected to the memory of Admiral Palmer the Surveyor General and Lady Margaret his wife, their daughter Margaret afterwards became Mrs. LeRoy who was a resident of Washington, N. C., for many years and is still remembered by the older citizens of that place. On the west side of Bath Creek certain lands called Glebe Lands were laid off for the use of the Rector, and a small creek there retains the name of Glebe Creek. The Rev. Alexander Stewart was the Rector of this Church just prior to the Revolution and returned with his family to England on the commencement of hostilities, his lands were claimed by a relative during his absence, who sold them to a Mr. Crawford. On his return from England a compromise was effected with Mr. Crawford by which he regained a portion of his property.

A point of land on the river not far from the mouth of Durham's Creek known from earliest times as Garrison's Point is a part of the Glebe lands; it is now occupied by Mrs. William Butt, the great-great-grand-daughter of Parson Stewart. The late Dr. Fred Gallagher of this town and Mrs. Rosa Willis are also among his descendants.

Chas. Eden came in 1713 as the Royal Governor of North Carolina, who spent a part of his term in Bath about the same time Chief Justice Christopher Gale and Tobias Knight, Governor Eden's Secretary, both lived in *Bath.

Tradition says that near the mouth of the creek on its western bank stood Gov. Eden's palace and by a subterranean passage cut through the steep bank, Tobias Knight received goods captured by the pirate Teach and afterwards secretly disposed of them. Teach, known as Black Beard, first smuggler, then pirate with a fleet of armed vessels, the largest of which called "Queen Anne's Revenge" carried forty guns and one hundred men, swept the seas. When captured vessels became his prey, they were stripped of all valuables, the unhappy crew and passengers blind folded, compelled to walk the plank which led to a grave in the deep, and then the torch was applied to the dismantled vessels, and away they sailed in search of new prizes and fresh victims. Taking advantage of an amnesty which had been afforded, to such pirates who could abandon their murderous life, he obtained a pardon from Gov. Eden bought a house near Bath, married his thirteenth wife and settled himself to enjoy his ill gotten spoils. Many traditions are related of his drunken orgies both at his house and in Bath. Tiring of life on shore he resumed his piratical career and so open and flagrant were his acts, that Edward Moseley and other leading men openly denounced Eden and Knight as his accessories.

A communication was sent to Capt. Ellis Brand commanding a British squadron, in the Chesapeake, that Teach was at Ocracoke and he dispatched a Lieut. Maynard with a well armed crew in quest of him. Early in the engagement Maynard's vessel got ground and so severely did his crew suffer from the pirates murderous fire that he had recourse to stratagem to save his uninjured men. Ordering his crew below, only the dead men were left on deck and the pirates, thinking the victory won, boarded the vessel only to be received by a desperate onslaught from the concealed men. Teach and his men, except nine, were killed, and these were carried to Virginia, tried and executed. Lieut. Maynard sailed to Bath with Teach's head at the prow of his boat, a ghastly token of his victory.

It has been doubted that Gov. Eden lived in Bath, but tradition has always affirmed it and the records of our county show that he owned lots in Bath and a large estate called "Thistleworth" on the opposite side of the river from Bath. He sold his property in Bath to John Lovick, who became his Secretary after Tobias Knight's disgrace, and moved to Eden House, on Chowan river, in 1719, where he died in 1722. There were several Colonial governors after his death but the colony made but little substantial progress until the arrival of Gov. Gabriel Johnston in August 1734, when he took the oath of office in Wilmington. He was a Scotchman by birth, a man of sound judgment, learning and liberal views. Under his wise administration the Province increased in wealth and numbers, Bath sharing the general prosperity. During his tenure of office one session of the Assembly was held at Bath, at which time an Act was passed "For facilitating the navigation of the port of Bath." From the beginning of Gov. Johnston's administration to the Revolutionary war was the golden era of Bath. Many vessels, built and owned by the citizens of the town and vicinity, were engaged in a brisk trade with Northern and foreign ports. On the banks of the river where now, with a few exceptions are the humble habitation of fishermen, were large plantations with comfortable, substantial houses of wood and brick. The citizens of the town and neighboring planters lived not only in comfort and abundance, but even luxury, as was shown by the massive, solid, mahogany furniture, cut glass, silverware and costly wearing apparel which they owned. The whole section was famed for its hospitality and generous living. Weddings were occasions of great festivities, the feasting and merry-making lasting for several days. The women were notable housekeepers and deft with the needle and spinning wheel. The men were fond of hunting and all kinds of athletic sports.

We have no record of the schools in Bath in these early days but we know that many of the youths from this county attended the Academy in Edenton and some at New Bern.

A large hotel was built in Bath and tradition has kept alive the memory of grand balls there at which ladies in rich brocades, with sweeping trains, danced the stately minuet with their gallant partners or to lighter measure tripped the gay reel or comelier dance.

Though Bath had been so long incorporated it never possessed the usual paraphernalia of Justice, a Court-house, jail and stocks, until 1766. At the time the Court-house was built Thomas Bonner of Bath, was Sheriff, and Court was held at his house.

In 1765 George Whitfield, the noted Evangelist, visited Bath, but he was received so inhospitably and encountered such violent opposition to his preaching that he is said to have shaken the dust from his feet as a token against the town and invoked the curse of Heaven upon it.

This section sent some brave officers and soldiers to the Revolutionary war. Col. John Patton, with his regiment, bore a conspicuous part in the battle of Kings Mountain; he was an ancestor also of Miss Bettie Hoyt and Miss Annie Bragaw. Maj. Reading Blount was another gallant officer, his portrait and sword are highly cherished by his descendants, Misses Janie and Pennie Myers. Mrs. Charles, Miss Rodman and Miss Mary Blount are also his descendants. Simon Alderson, Captain of a Troop of Horse, was a daring cavalryman; from him descend Mrs. McDonand and the writer of this article.

Whether it is to be attributed to Whitfield's curse, or other causes, the prosperity of Bath had commenced to decline and many of her prominent citizens had moved to Washington, N. C. In 1785 the Commissioners of Washington (Nathan Keas, John Gray Blount and Richard Blackledge constituted the Board at that time) petitioned the Assembly, then in session at New Bern, to change the county seat of Beaufort county to the town of Washington. An Act was passed in conformity with the petition and Washington became the county seat. The query has often arisen, "why was this change made?" and the reply has been that Washington being nearer to the head of navigation, was better situated to handle the produce brought from the counties up the river, in flat boats, and therefore better located to become the commercial centre of the county.

For twelve years past Bath has shown some signs of awaking from her sleep of a century. May we not hope that the curse is sted and that the revivifying influence of modern progress may uch her and place her in the line of present activities!

Past the old town and deserted plantations still roll the blue aters of the Pamlico as of old. Now mirroring on its placid sur-ce the clouds and sky or stirred to livelier measure by the passing eeze, it rushes sparkling, leaping, rejoicing, on and on until it is st in the embrace of the green, salt waves of the sound. On its nks in many a spot, overgrown by bush and creeping brier, lulled y the music of the rushing river sleep the dead, alas! the forgot-n dead of the long ago.

The above is a literal copy of the original found November 18th the fire proof vault attached to the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Chowan county, at Edenton, N. C. The package which this paper has probably slumbered for two centuries, contained only the complaints, summons and returns of Civil actions which are comparatively valueless. The writer had carefully on two occasions last year, as he thought, examined every paper in the metallic box containing this package, without discovering it. Perhaps it is the most valuable paper in existence relating to the early history of the Colonial Government, certainly none of more interest or whose contents give so clearly, concisely and briefly the Constitution of the government, as to its officers, as designed by the Fundamental Constitutions (120 in number) by John Locke, enacted by the Lords Proprietors for Carolina, March 6th, 1669. We congratulate the historians of North Carolina that it has been brought to light, and it affords us great pleasure to present it as an exact copy of the original, with the exception of three words marked by stars in the first article, the paper on which they appeared is gone—in fact the whole document is well worn by age, and has to be handled very gently and tenderly; some of the words required the aid of a glass to reproduce them in the above copy. The seals, containing the Coats-of-Arms of each Proprietor is attached; all of them used red ink except Berkeley, whose seal appears in black.

“The Humble Peticon of ye Honble Philip Ludwell, Sheweth, That his Excell ye Palatine and rest of the true and absolute Lords Proprietors of Carolina did by their Comissn under their hands and Seals bearing date the fifth day of december wch was in the year of our Lord 1689 Commissione and appoint ye Petticoner Governor of this part of their Province of Carolina and by their Instructions under their hands and Seals bearing date the twenty Seventh of the Same Month in the Year aforesd did Impower the Peticonr to appoint a pson or psons to collect the qt rents of land due or that Should become due wthin the limits of his sd Government and acquittances for them to give the said rents soe Collected to take to his owne use as by the said Comission and Instructions relation thereunto being had more at large doth and may appear And for the better ascertaining of the sd qt rents unto ye Peticoner according to ye true intent and meaning of ye sd Instructions for ye Support of ye Peticoner in ye sd Governmt by an Act of Assembly made in the month of March wch was in the year of our Lord 1694 it was provided and enacted that all psons yt had possessed or enjoyed any land or plantacon for ye space of four years and had paid noe qt rents for ye same within that time Should pay four yeares qt rents for their land to ye Peticoner then being Governor or to whom he should appoint in the Specie's and at the rates hereafter named that is to say in pork at one penny by the Pound or in Tobacco at three farthings the pound or in dry hides at two pene ye pound or in tallow at four pene the pound or in Spanish Money not under thirteen peny wt ye ps of Eight at ye usual rate as by the sd act relation thereto being had doth appear. The above paper contains a number of valuable items, the date of Governor Ludwell's commission as Governor and the manner in which he received his salary, also the Quit Rent charges, and the location of the tract of Land belonging to Seth Sothell where he lived, died and was buried; also the marriage of Mrs. Sothell to Col. John Lear, of Nansemond County, Va. Seth Sothell in his will mentions his father-in-law Edward Forster, from which we infer that his wife was Anna Forster before her marriage, we regret the above paper is without date.—Ed.

ANSWER OF SETH SOTHELLS' EXS. TO RECOVER QUIT RENTS RECEIVED WHILE HE WAS GOVERNOR.

(Original in Court House at Edenton, N. C.)

NORTH CAROLINA—Ss. To ye Honble Genll Court.

The answer of Majr Lewis Burwell & Capt Thomas Godwine Executors of Coll John Lear Executor of Ann his wife Executrix of Seth Sothell Esq to ye Declaration exhibited against them by his Majestyes Attorney Genll for three hundred pounds Sterling aleged received by ye sd Seth Sothel for quit rents due to ye Lord proprietor to wch yr respondants by their Attorney Hugh Campbell, reply

- 1stly Yt ye Lord proprietors names ought to have particularly mentioned in ye said declaration for want of which ye declaration is insoficient & the action ought to be dismissed.
- 2dly The Attorney Genll ought to produce a Letter of Attorney from ye Lord proprietors for his Commission to be his Magtyes Attorney is not sufficient power for ye bringing to this action or to demand or receive any debt due to ye Lord proprietors.
- 3dly Yr respondants by their Attorney desired of ye Honble John Archdale Govr of North and South Carolina yt ye said Action might be prayed when he was in this County to wch he answered yt he was not provided for any tryell to ye sd action & therefore do judge yt since he refused then to permit it when he was here we ought not to be prosecuted in his absence as yt he did not intend it should be done in his absence.
- 4thly Ye respondants sayeth they are altogether ignorant of any thing wch is alleaged in ye said declaration.
- 5thly That if ye said Seth Sothell did receive any of ye quit rents he was on of ye Honble Proprietors himself and he & ye other proprietors are but on & ye proprietors cannot be divided therefore this action can not ly against your respondants for in this action we are shewed for what of right belongs to ourselves.
- 6thly. If ye Lord proprietors desires to have an acct of what Seth Sothell Esqr has received in this County they ought to bring an acct of ye Soumes of mony they have received for quit rents & considerable quantities of Land Sold in South Carolina & other places wch it will appear ye Lord proprietors are much indebted to ye respondents

7thly No such action can ly against ye respondants for if ye sd Seth Sothell had received ye whole quit-rents of this County they did belong to him as Govr as the quit-rents here always belonged to ye Govr in this County Since ye sd Seth Sothell was Govr although no gov'r since was a proprietor as ye sd Seth Sothel was & ye Lord proprietors have been always well Satisfyed yt ye quit rents should maintain ye Govrs Chearge of ye County for ye time

8thly The 8th part of ye quit rents did of right belong to Seth Sothel Esqr he being on of ye Lord proprietors & it cannot be made appear yt he hath received So much of ye quit rents & not get his eighth part.

9thly If ye Lord proprietors had expected to have had any of ye quit rents of this county they would have demanded them while he was alive or else ye Honble Philip Ladwell was Govr who was appoynted to call Seth Sothell Esq to an accot for all his actions done here during the time of his Governmt: and it may be judged yt ye sd Seth Sothell Esq did then make acct of ye pretended quit rent or yt ye Lord proprietors Judge there was no part of ye quit rent by him received due to them

10thly By Act of Parliament in Anno bicesimo Prius Jacoby Pg 16 prays all debts not demanded in six years is voyd in Law and cannot after be demanded & what quit rents is pretend to be received by Seth Sothell is long before ye terme of six years.

11thly It cannot be expected yt ye respondants knoweth any thing of what hath passed betwixt Seth Sothell Esqr and ye Lord proprietors being they never see nor knew in his Lifetime & therefore ye respondants can not wage their Law.

For ye reasons above expressed ye respondants desires ye said action may be dismissed & ye Plantife be ordered to pay such Cost and damnadge as yr respondants have suffered by this unjust Motion & yr respondants shall pray.—

INVESTIGATION CONDITION &C. HIS MJESTYS SHIP SWIFT ADVICE—A WRECK ON THE COAST.

Whereas by order of yor Honrs ye Governour & Councell we Capt Jno. Hunt Mr Jno Blany Mr. Wm Barron Mr. Jno West & Mr. Jno Watts were Impowered and Sworn to go down to ye Sand Banks to gard his Majesties Ship Swift Advice Boate: In obedience to Contents we Viewed ye sd Shipp & finde her hull firm only some Okeham Issued out of her bows and many of her bolts with her Chain plate Dragged out wch hath weakened her

That the Ship is buried in Sand Seaven foot and we do beleive that  after three or four foot digging upon ye ebb being  Sutch a motion with ye water that it will be impossible to work upon her to any Effect.

We also finde that there is no timber neare upon ye Sand banks to make staves and wayes in order to lanching ye sd ship & ye Sand hills so large & unpassigible that if timber was to be found it could not be brought to her.

Itt is our Judgmt that ye sand being of so quick a motion it will be impossible to make bed at by reason of ye tides Coming and flowing every Six hours which by no means can be kept out wch in that loose Sand will att ye returne of the water undoe wt hath been Done before.

For bringing timber by water we Judge it a Difficulty next to Impossibility for these reasons that ye Inlett from ye Ship into ye Countrey is Dangerously barrd & hath but 8 or 9 Foot water so that Vessells of Burthen to Transport timber of Length and Biggness Sufficient will not Pass, and by reason of ye Swift tide & Eddies & Shoales in the Inlett no Vessels Can Steer out with a raft

a tow for a Vessell alone Cannot Safely go out but against tide a Raft Cannot be Carried against tide.

John Hunt John Blaney Jno Watts John West William Barron.

The Psons above named doe upon their oathes make

COPY OF A LETTER FROM DEPUTY GOVERNOR THOS.
HARVEY TO GOVERNOR ARCHDALE. (Valuable.)

(Original copy in the Court House at Edenton, N. C.)

May it please yor Honr.

Two of your Honrs Letters are come to hand ye first of the 23. of ber I received about 3 months agoe ye letter of the 17th of Janury last I recd very lately & have hither to expected Col Quarys arrivall we hear yt he is in some of ye Northern Governmts, these re according to my Duty to give you Honr an acct of wt hath appened Since yor Honrs departure of the present State of the Governmt, and not to trouble yor Honr with small matters.

In January last his Majestys Ship Swift Advice boat was deserted of all her owne men in the Colony of Virginia & from thence was driven by the wind to sea & about ye latter end of that month cast on shore on our Sand banks where she was found by some of the Inhabitants of that place who plundered her of wt they could carry away a few dayes after Anthony Dawson coming thither took upon him to secure her as a wreck for the proprietors use & to that end took out her guns sailes and much provision but their case was such that as more company Came every one endeavoured to gett something for themselves out of the spoil Some were great Rogues opportunity made others but little better that before I heard anything of it much of the goods armes & furniture was imbezzled as soon as I had notice I sent down Capt Jno Stepney and after him Mr Comander who apprehended about 20 of the psons engaged in his Riot & tooke a good deal of the Goods that was Carryed away some in the peoples houses & Some hid in the Ground ye psons that were apprehended were most of them brought before me & Comitted.
and I wth ye Councill gave a Comission of Oyer &c to Capt Walker &c for the tryall of the offenders Majr Swann was at that time of the Gout for I have omitted to tell to acquaint yor honr that we have appointed a Genll Court for tryall of all Causes whereof ye Majr is Judge for wch Cause I was compelled to give a new Comission. Her Capt H Bostick comandor of his Majestys ship continually pressed for dispatch besides the prison was full & very burdensome. In the latter end of March the prisoners most of them were tryed & had judgement I think to the utmost of their demerit & ye rest had Bail till another Court among the rest of the Mischiefs done I was Informed that Several papers were burnt that were found in the ship & it is feared Some Pacquett from White hall to ye Governmts in America but the pson that is accused of this is fled being one Pole of Coratuck. All this while Capt Bostock moved for aid to launch the Ship & Seemed not to doubt of saving her & Sent into Virginia to provide a sloop & other necessarys for that purpose and I took care that 50 men Should be as ready as could be possibly expected in this Country but at his returne he began to despare of Saving the Ship and demanded more aid as alsoe that a Survey might be had upon her I being very willing if it were possible to Save the King's Ship appointed Some of the ablest men we have & least they should be partial joyned wth them Some Masters of Vessells that did not belong to this Country to Survey the Ship & yt nothing might be wanting I called the Assembly to concur wth me & ye Councell to Levy aid for his Majesties Service in this afair the Assembly met the latter end of May and the Surveyr made return that the Ship was irrecoverable I had much adoe to make ye house of burgesses to take the matter soe much as into their consideracion after they were met they adjourned their house for two months without the Councells assent or knowledge upon yt we somoned them again by new writts wch being served on the members before they were dispersed by yt meanes they were compelled to comply so far as to appoint Some of ther Members to joyne in Committee with two of the Councell to inquire into the returne made by the Surveyor by whom it was resolved that the Ship could not be launched by any force we were able to raise. We dissolved the Assembly and the Capt carried away the Guns Sailes Rigging &c and all the goods that could be found & departed without giving me any pticuler accot of wt he carried away or did onely I was Informed by the Marshall whom I sent down for that purpose that there was nothing left but the hull wch Lyeth still upon the sands.

In April Mr Comander died & we have appointed Capt Thos Lutten of Chowan Marshall whilst these matters were in hand. Sr Edm Andros sent me a Letter & in it a copy of a Comission from the high Admiralty of England empowering him to constitute Judges &c of a Court of Admiralty in this Governmt in case of Vacancy but we having appointed Capt Henderson Walker Judge of the Admirallty for this Governmt wth other officers returned an-wer that there was no vacancy & soe at present put a stop to that matter wch we believe to be a great incroachment upon the powers granted to the proprietors in their Charter but if Capt Walker hold the Sr Edmonds power is soe ample by that Commission yt I know not how it will be resisted Your honr may easily see that these matters have caused great trouble Charge & vexation to y^e Government & pticularly to my selfe they have indeed been intolerable I being very subject to indisposition of body for that I am compelled to intreat yor Honr to take the burden from off my shoulder I could heartily wish it might be done by yor Hons owne presence here among us I believe I have already been tedious enough but I must crave yor honrs patience & advice in wt follows concerning his Matys Customes.

After yor Hons departure Mr Tomes being weary of trouble appointed Mr. Glover D Collector who continued in that Office till the 25th of March last at wch time Mr. Randolph who writeth himselfe Surveyr Gen^l sent a Commission to Majr Swann & wth it an Act of Parliamt made in ye 7th & 8th year of his Majestys Reigne for registering of Vessells in order to qualify them to trade wch we held our Selves obliged to put in Execution wch tho we did upon the only vessell whereof Mr. Ashley was Master who came into this Governmt after the time appointed by that Act wtout a Register & wch we did after the most easy & favourable sense that we could any ways judge ye law Capable of & also remitted all the forfeiture except wt appertained to the King yet I have received from the said Randolph such reproach abuse & threatening as I believe hath not been heard of as by the letter Inclosed yor Honr may be more largely informed for understanding of wch I desire your honr to take notice that Mr Patrick Henly^r Master of the Jane & Sarah came to Wm Glover for his clearing being not halfe Loaded & leged the Cause to be yt he had recd advice from his owners to cast away before the 25 of March or else to hale up his Vessell & survey her for fear of increasing the penalty of the sd Act & this advice came by an expresse sent out of Virginia and he had his clearing from Mr Glover & his Let pass from me on the 24th day of March & departed wtout any word of disturbance & for the Fees yor Honr knows they are ascertained by law in this Governmt The Coler wch he alsoe mencons was a vessell that was then in the Country & shee having not such Certificate as the Law requires I caused her to be stayed 7 or 8 days till I was informed better of the true sence of the Law & a favourable expedient being found to Lett her pass she was released here wtout damage & stayed here a considerable time after she had liberty to pas being in doubt to venture all she had advice from her owners for fear of Seizure in her owne port for the Law not being of till the day of its being in force put a great Surprise upon all Psons concerned in trade & Governmt. And we always endeavoured to be most favorable in these matters. There was also one Vessell more seized by informacon of Coll Wilkison & Mr Porter for Importing European Goods not omediately from England but upon prooffe that the goods were lawfully transported from England to N England & from there into this port she was cleared.

Yor Honr writes to me concerning the qt rents of wch I know not wt to say for there is very little come to my hands & far as I am Informed the receivers have got in very little. Severall psons dispute the paying ym because there is no direct power given by the proprietors to yor honr for receiving & giving discharges for them (as they say) I desire yor honrs pticular direction herein for there hath not come into my hand's soe much as will defray the Charge & expenses wch I have inevitably been put to this year either by the qt rents or any thing else the whaling comes to very little hitherto, I have now given a comission to Mr Thomas Durant to take care of the whaling and wreck on the Seashore and from him I am in hopes of a honest accot.

There is an Inlett broke in a little to ye North of the former and which is more hopefull Than any have been before Coll Pollock is disabled by ye above menconed act he being a sick man and Mr Sanders is noe assistant to me at all so yt we are now very few whereby ye Govermt is very weake Your Honr desires my kindness to ye bearer which I shall gladly show for your Honrs sake soe soon as I can learn who he was Yr letter came through many hands to me and as for ye papers which were left behind I can here nothing of ym I desire yor Honrs directions how I shall dispose of wt money I have in my Hands belonging to your Honr I hope your Honr hath Red my former letter however I desire yor Honr to informe me of some certain way of directing letters to you We have largely writt to ye proprietors and pticularly concerning Mr Randolphs letter we have alsoe given account thereof to ye Comissners of his Mjstys Customes We know not wt ugly representacons he may make or wt accusation he may frame out of a pce'll of direct lyes yt he has put up he seems to be Maliciously sett against us I hope if it ly in your Honrs power you will endeavor to rescue us.

Therefrom I assure yor Honr we have acted nothing but ye plane sence of ye Law inferred from which we durst not desist having recd such strict comand from his Majts most Honrble Privey Councell comand us to be very strict in psuing ye Laws concerning trade and noe man here hath been injured any thing or put to any hard ship save yt a 3d part of Ashleys vessell by a fair tryall was condemned to ye King for I and Majr Swann remited freely our parts We have sent copy of ye tryall to ye Comner of ye Customes at London and herewith I have sent you also a copy of ye same I will trouble yor Honr noe further having been already too tedious for which I crave your pardon and am uly 10th 1698.

January 14th) the above written is a duplicate of my last since which I have nothing to add but that Coll Quarry the 10th of this present arrived & delivered to me ye Exemplification of their Lettres patentt the receivers of the qt rents give me acct that they gett nothing in we have reinforced their power by an order of Councill ord'd them to give acct in March next.

(Original in Court House at Edenton, N. C.)

We of the Subscribers hereof being part of the members of this house doe in behalf of Or Selves & the rest of the inhabitants of Pampticoe humbly address yore Honors that Considering the happy Settlement of that place without any the least Charge to the Lord Proprietors as likewise the many inconveniences which doe attend this Governmet are lyable too as the poorness of their Land and the want of Timber their Distance from Generall Corts & Trade

We humbly conceive that these things being duly and Materially considered that the people of that place and Nuse and all the adjacent Settlements ought to be invested with all the priviledges & advantages of other part of the Government and that their Quit Rents shall not be required to be higher than in the County of Albemarle for we doe assure yor Honors that we doe believe it hath and will be a great Hindrance to the Settlement of adjacent places that there is a Rumor Spread abroad that an Exaction —, in Rents shall be required from them more than what is paid in the County of Albemarle which we conceive to be highly unreasonable and therefore Most humbly pray yor Honr to confirme all ye just Rights unto us by Such an Act as may rather Encourage than hinder the Settlement of adjacent places lay-aside all Doubts & Sensensies of that kind its likewise or Humble request that a proper ample forme be laid down before them to purchass Land without Rights And since we Know it is to be in yor Honors power to make what abatement you find Convenient in yor Demands for the purchasing of Lands the Rents to the Lands a being reserved & allowed off which is one half of the full rent paid in the County of Albemarle which is being duly considered we hope and most humbly pray is highly reasonable that a Suteable abatement may be made considering the High rent reserved we doubt not Considering the great Clemency and Justice of yor Honors to obteyne We further Dessire in behalf of Or Selves that yor Honors will please to Undastand what we shall be Charged for Quit Rents Since the Settlement of that place as likewise that yor Honors will please to Grant unto us patents as hereafter without Demanding any thin

This tract of land adjoined that on which the first church in North Carolina was erected in 1701 and 1702. It also shows that Thomas Gillam, at whose house the first Vestry was held, lived there probably as early as 1675-8. The location lies immediately on Edenton Bay about $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles from the town.—EDITOR.

This was the list of tithables taken for a part of Perquimans precinct, the last twenty on the list in all probability lived in that part of Tyrrell which was, at the time the list was taken, a part of Perquimans. Pasquotank also, in 1702, included the extreme eastern portion of Tyrrell. Chowan had jurisdiction over the western portion, and when Tyrrell precinct was formed in 1722 while the act creating it states that it was a part of Chowan only, it is very probable that Perquimans and Pasquotank contributed their quotas to its formation. The Little River section of Perquimans was not included in this list.—EDITOR.

All communications had to be sent by special messengers either conveyed by horse or boat, which made the execution of all orders very tardy and vexatious, the above seems to have been the rule and not the exception. This letter was probably written from Bath to John Porter on Albemarle Sound in Chowan Precinct. It appears that he was preparing for war upon Wm. Glover and his adherents.—EDITOR.

The above paper is perhaps the oldest paper extant, executed in the Colony; there may be older papers in North Carolina executed in England. It is very valuable, showing as it does that the Courts had been organized with regularly constituted officers, and that the records were being recorded, of which fact this paper gives us the first record evidence.—EDITOR.

The above paper is without date, but as Matthew Pritchard married, about 1696 or 1697, Mrs. Sarah Henley widow of Patrick Henley, it was written shortly after this marriage. Mrs. Sarah Henley has a very large number of descendants among the "Friends." We have published it not only as a record of the Court of Chancery, but also that they may have the benefit of the Genealogy contained in it.—EDITOR.

By reference to a letter from Thomas Harvey, Deputy Governor to Gov. Archdale published in this number, the reader will find that he states that the revenue from fishing had been very small but that he had appointed Mr. Thos. Durant to take charge of the collections and expected an honest account. The above bill was probably given by Wm. Still for an amount due prior to the time Mr. Thos. Durant took charge of the collection, upon which time was allowed for its settlement, default being made in the payment it was turned over to the Governor and Deputies for action, hence its appearance among the records. Whale and Sturgeon were Royal fish and a license was necessary to catch them, the parties so engaged paying a royalty of ten per cent. of the value of fish taken to the Lords Proprietors.—EDITOR.

LETTER FROM THE AGENTS OF NEW YORK AND MASSACHUSETTS TO GOV. SAMUEL JOHNSTON, OF HAYES, NEAR EDENTON, N. C., RELATING TO AN ADJUDICATION OF THE BOUNDARY LINES OF THESE STATES.

New York 15th June 1785.

We hope the notification of your appointment as one of the Judges in a controversy between the States of Massachusetts and New York transmitted by the Secretary of Congress will have been received before this reaches you.

The magnitude of the interest to be decided upon makes it the wish of both States that the determination may be had by a full Court and not a bare quorum.

A federal Court is the only mode of decision on questions of territorial rights between the States and Should gentlemen of the first abilities and the Mutual choice of the Contending states decline the appointment this institution however beautiful in theory will sink into disrespect and become incapable of giving those advantages to the Confederacy which have been expected.

Impressed with these sentiments we solicit your attendance as one of our Judges at the time and place mentioned in the Official Communication of the Secretary of Congress.

Although we consider the pecuniary compensation as the least ducement to your attendance, yet we beg leave to assure you that shall be such as will give the most entire satisfaction.

With the highest considerations we have the honor of being
Sir

Your most obedient servants

LETTER FROM JAMES MADISON TO GOV. SAMUEL
JOHNSTON, OF HAYES, &c.

New York June, 21, 1789.

Dear Sir.

I lost no time in handing to the President the address inclosed in your favor of the 22 of May, and have postponed an acknowledgement of the latter in expectation of being able at the same time to cover the President's answer. This has been and continues to be delayed by a very serious indisposition, we hope he is not in much danger, but are by no means without our fears also. His disorders commenced in a fever which has greatly reduced him, and is terminating in a very large tumor which, unless it degenerate itself into a dangerous malady, will probably be remedial.

In the inclosed paper is a copy of a late proposition in Congress on the subject of amending the Constitution. It aims at the twofold object of removing the fears of the discontented and of avoiding such alterations as would either displease the adverse side, or endanger the success of the measure. I need not remark to you the hazard of attempting anything of a controvertible nature which is to depend on the concurrence of $\frac{2}{3}$ of both Houses here, and the ratification of $\frac{3}{4}$ of the State Legislatures. It will be some time before the proposed amendments will become a subject of discussion in Congress: The bills relating to revenue, and the organization of the Judiciary and Executive Departments, being likely to remain for some time on hand. This delay proceeds from the intricacy and partly from the novelty of the business. At every step difficulties from one or other of these sources arrest our progress. After the first essays the work will become every day more easy.

Among other difficulties, the exposition of the Constitution is frequently a Copious Source, and must continue so until its meaning on all great points shall have been settled by precedents. The greatest part of the week past has been consumed in deciding a question as to the power of removal from offices held during pleasure. Four Constructive doctrines have been maintained 1, that the power is subject to the disposal of the Legislature. 2 that no removal can take place otherwise than by impeachment. 3 that the power is incident to that of appointment and therefore belongs to the President & Senate. 4 that the Executive power being generally vested in the President every power of an Executive Nature, not expressly excepted is to be referred thither, and consequently the power of removal, the power of appointment only being taken away.

In support of each of these constructions the Argumenta ab inconvenientibus have been elaborately dealt out against the others. The decision in a Committee of the whole on the Office of Foreign Affairs has adopted the 4th opinion as most consonant to the frame of the Constitution, to the policy of mixing the Legislature & Executive honors as little as possible, and to the responsibility necessary in the head of the Executive Department.

With very great esteem and affection

I am Dear Sir

Your obedt & mo: hble Servt

Govr Johnson.

We call special attention to the above seal attached to the commission of the Justices, it is the only impression of the Colonial Seal, thus far discovered, sufficiently plain to be deciphered. Within the circle appear eight crowns, representing in all probability, each one of the original Lords Proprietors; a Coat-of-Arms appears under each crown, all apparently different, with a Maltese Cross in the centre; the letters composing the word "Albemarle" are placed in the spaces between the crowns, there being eight spaces and nine letters in the word "Albemarle", two of them, to-wit: "be" are placed in one space. Under a lens the impression made in red wax (as fresh as it would be at the age of a few years) presents a beautiful and elegant piece of work, reflecting great credit upon the artist. We congratulate our readers upon its discovery, years of careful and difficult search having been given to find an impression sufficiently clear to photograph and reproduce in a half-tone or electrotype, that they might have the pleasure of its examination. The Editor found the paper, to which the seal is attached, in the Court House at Edenton, N. C. Perhaps there is not another distinct impression of the seal in the State, certainly none more clear and distinct in all of its parts.—EDITOR.

Upon Petition of John Bird, ordered to be referred to the House of Burgesses and the Opinion of this House is that the petitioner ought to be paid (Without date).

Mrs. Winifred Hoskins, Secretary of the Edenton Tea Party, was the daughter of John Wiggins and wife Catherine Baker (daughter of Henry Baker and wife Catherine Booth), their issue were ¹Thomas Baker, md Sarah Bryan (daughter of Edward Bryan and wife Martha West); ²Lemuel Baker, ³William Baker, ⁴Richard Baker, ⁵Blake Baker, ⁶Pattie Baker, md Thomas Hoskins; ⁷Catherine Baker md — Whitaker. (We are indebted to Miss Rowe Wiggins of Wilmington, N. C., for the names of Henry Baker's children). She married about 1763, *Richard Hoskins of Chowan County. A

* Richard Hoskins born 1740, was the son of William Hoskins and wife Sarah Whedbee. William Hoskins was the son of Thomas Hoskins and wife Elsie or Elizabeth Bowling, married 1705, in the Parish Church of Bromley, Kent Co., England, they came to Chowan county and settled but a short distance from the site of Edenton. Thomas Hoskins was probably a grand son of Thomas Hoskins who appeared in the colony as early as 1673. Frequent trips were made by the early settlers of Carolina to England, and possibly Thomas Hoskins, the husband of Elizabeth Bowling, was married in England while on a visit to the home of his ancestors. Mrs. Sarah Hoskins, the mother of Richard Hoskins was born Jan'y 23d 1717. She was the daughter of Richard Whedbee, born Feb. 13, 1687 and wife Sarah Durant born about 1690. Richard Whedbee was the son of John Whedbee and wife Deborah Sutton. His marriage to Sarah Durant was celebrated Feb. 4, 1709. Sarah Durant was the daughter of John Durant and wife Sarah Jooke (daughter of Thomas and Ann Jooke). John Durant was born in Berkley, later Perquimans Precinct, N. C., Dec. 26, 1662. John Durant and wife Sarah Jooke were married April 9, 1684. John Durant was the son of George Durant born Oct. 1 1632, married Jan'y 4, 1658-9 in Northumberland Co., Va., Ann Marwood, they came to Carolina either in 1660 or early in 1661. George Durant purchased two contiguous tracts of land from the Indians in 1661, the two deeds are signed respectively by Cisketando and Kilcocanen Chiefs of the tribe and are well preserved on the record books of Perquimans county at Hertford, N. C., one bears date March 4, 1661, these deeds conveyed the lands lying in a neck of land, fronting on Albemarle Sound and bounded on one side by Perquimans river and on the other by Little River, they bear to this day the name of "Durant's Neck," and are at this writing almost entirely owned by C. W. Grandy, Esq., of Norfolk, Va. Mrs. Sarah Whedbee wife of Richard Whedbee died April 4, 1728, her youngest son Hezekiah was born but a few days before her death. From Richard Whedbee's will (in the office of the Secretary of State, at Raleigh, N. C.), executed in 1746 we give the names of his children mentioned therein, (1) John, (2) Richard, (3) George, (4) Mrs. Elizabeth Pratt, (5) Mrs. Deborah Wilkins, (wife of Charles,) (6) Mrs. Sarah Hoskins, (wife of William,) (7) Mrs. Ann Forster, (wife of Robt Forster, clerk of Chowan Precinct and later of Bertie county,) their daughter, Frances Forster married July 19, 1742, Clement Hall, an attorney at law, who shortly after his marriage went to England and received orders in the Church of England and on his return was called in 1744-5 as the 1st Rector of St. Paul's Parish, Edenton, N. C., it was his only Parish, he died in 1758 on his plantation, about 3 miles north of Edenton, the property is now owned by F. A. White, Esq. Ann Hall, his daughter married James Blount, whose son Frederick Blount married Rachel Heritage, their daughter Mary Blount, married William Shepard of Craven Co., N. C. James Blount was the son of John Blount and wife Sarah Elizabeth Vail, daughter of Jeremiah Vail and wife —. John Blount was the son of John Blount and wife family tradition gives Mrs. Winnefred Hoskins the credit for spinning and weaving (from the flax grown on her father's plantation) her wedding trousseau; the web was so delicate and fine it could be easily passed through her wedding ring. (If we only had such maidens at the present day but a few years would elapse before our beloved old State would become rich and independent.) It has been but a few years since one of her descendants described to the writer the exquisite design and elaborate embroidery of one of the skirts which she saw in her childhood. Fine white linen is the most appropriate material to adorn a bride, it is typical of that purity which should characterize every union, a type of the union between Christ and his Church. The bridal tour was made from or near Scotland Neck, to the Roanoke river, thence in a flat-boat to Edenton where, at the wharf, a horse bridled and saddled (in waiting) conveyed them to their home "Paradise" (the name is still retained) about four miles North of Edenton; here they lived, reared a family of twelve children (eleven of whom married,) and died, he in 1800 and she in 1807; both are buried on the plantation where they settled, the land being the inheritance of Richard Hoskins from his father, William Hoskins. They had the following issue:

A—Samuel Hoskins md Ann Roberts and had issue. He died January 7, 1802.

B—Catherine Hoskins md John Blount, no issue. John Blount md 2nd Rebecca —, no issue. He died in 1835.

Elizabeth Davis, and grand son of James Blount and wife Ann—, who came to N. C. from Isle of Wight Co., Va., in 1669, (8) Benjamin Whedbee, (9) Joseph Whedbee. For abstract of Richard Whedbee's will see Vol. 1, No. 4, page 509 of the Register.

Thomas Hoskins, a brother of William Hoskins above mentioned, married in 1769 Mary Roberts and moved to Tyrrell Co., N. C., where he lived and died in 1804, from his will recorded in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Tyrrell Co., N. C., at Columbia, N. C., we extract as follows: "Wife Mary, four grand children, Eliza, Anne, Sarah and William Rombough, heirs of my deceased daughter, Mertha Rombough, wife of William Rombough of Edenton, daughter Elizabeth Cecy, son James Hoskins, heirs of son Thomas Hoskins dec'd, son Hardy, daughter Mary Murphy, daughter Sarah Wynne, son-in-law Benjamin Lowry, son Charles, daughter Ann Hoskins, sons James, Hardy and Charles Ex'ors. July 1804. Tt. Wm. Spencer, Robert Sawyer."

James Hoskins, son of Thomas Hoskins and wife Mary Roberts, married Oct. 22, 1785, Mary Norcom (daughter of Frederick Norcom and wife —) among their issue was Lt. Chas. Hoskins, U. S. A., killed in the gallant charge made at the battle of Monterey, during the Mexican war. Lt. Chas. Hoskins married Miss — Deane, of Rhelle, New York, they had issue, one son, Major J. D. C. Hoskins, Major of artillery U. S. A., now stationed at Governor's Island, in the harbor of New York city. Daughter Mary Murphy, wife of William Murphy who removed to Louisiana, are the ancestors of Senator Caffrey, late U. S. Senator from La., and the present U. S. Senator, Hon. Murphy J. Foster, of La. We hope to give this branch of the family in future issue. All the descendants of William Hoskins and wife Sarah Whedbee likewise descend from George Durant. Mrs Sarah Hoskins became the third wife of Joseph Blount, I.

D—Ann Hoskins md, April 26, 17—, Chas Roberts and had issue.

E—Baker Hoskins md, 1st Sarah Skinner, 2nd Martha Ann Skinner (daughter of Joshua Skinner and wife Martha Ann Blount, daughter of Charles Worth Blount and wife Mary Clayton.) Issue by both marriages.

G—Edmund Hoskins md, Dec. 29, 1802, Elizabeth Blount; they removed to Mississippi about 1835 and had issue.

They rise successive, and successive fall :
So generations in their course decay ;
So flourish these when those are passed away.”

TO THE SOCIETIES OF THE COLONIAL DAMES OF AMERICA, THE NORTH CAROLINA SOCIETY OF CO-LONIAL DAMES SENDS A CORDIAL GREETING.

The event of most importance during the past year was our third Annual Pilgrimage to the Old Colonial Church of St. Philip, which took place on May 6th, 1902, and was a most interesting and successful one. Perhaps it may not be uninteresting to our Sister Dames to learn something of the manner in which the occasion was celebrated.

With a portion of the gift to this object of a life member, Miss Ida N. Moore, of Washington, D. C., which I mentioned in my letter of last year, the Society at the suggestion of our President, Mrs. Gaston Meares, had caused a tablet to be prepared and placed on the east wall of the church north of the chancel window, to the memory of Col. Maurice Moore, who in 1725, donated the land for the town of Brunswick, reserving for the "Glory of God" the portion on which was built this Parish Church of St. Philip. To the untiring exertions of Mrs. Meares and Mrs. Kidder we are indebted for the beautiful Mural Tablet unveiled on that day.

The Hon. H. G. Connor, President of the North Carolina Historical Society, delivered the address, and three Clergymen, Rev. Dr. Carmichael, and Rev. Dr. Bratton, representing colonial families of Virginia and South Carolina, and Rev. Mr. Horsfield, representing St. James' Church, Wilmington, twin sister of St. Philip, conducted the religious services.

The Dames, with their guests, some two hundred in number, and a guard of honor from the Wilmington Light Infantry company, boarded the steamer at 9:45 a. m. for the delightful trip down the river on this lovely day. In about an hour the landing was reached, and disembarking, all were soon wending their way over the ramparts, across the traverses and through the artillery embrasures of Fort Anderson, the massive sand embankments of which pass across the site of the sleeping town and surround the ruins of old St. Philip. Everyone caught the inspiration of the day and inhaled with delight the balmy odors of pine and cypress.

A procession was formed outside the church under the triple east window, which, passing through the guard of honor at the western door, singing the hymn "Lift the Strains of High Thanksgiving," entered what had once been the center aisle, and proceeded to the site of the ancient altar, where a temporary platform had been erected. After a brief but fervent service of praise and prayer, the Tablet was unveiled by little Miss Florence Kidder, a daughter of our former president, Mrs. George Kidder, and a lineal descendant of Colonel Maurice Moore. This Tablet is of white marble beautifully inscribed, and riveted to the wall with brass rods. The inscription reads:

"A Memorial to
 "Col. Maurice Moore
 "Gentleman and Soldier of the King
 "Who in the Year of Our Lord 1725
 founded in a Wilderness
 The Town of Brunswick
 "Reserving for the Glory of God the "Portion of land on which was built "This Parish Church of St. Philip.
 "Also to the
 "Heroes and Patriots of the Lower Cape Fear
 "Whose brave deeds illustrated its Colonial History.
 "Brunswick was for a time the seat of the Royal Government in the Province and the residence of its Governors Johnson, Dobbs, Tryon.
 "It was the scene of the first armed resistance to the Stamp Act in any American Colony. When Citizen Soldiers led by
 "Hugh Waddell and John Ashe
 "Defied the Power of Great Britain and prevented the landing of the stamps from her ships of war Nov. 28, 1765.
 "This Tablet is the Gift of Selina M. Harvey and Ida N. Moore, descendants of Maurice Moore, and was erected under the auspices of the North Carolina Society of the Colonial Dames of America,
 A. D. 1902.
 "For these are deeds that should not pass away and names that must not wither."

The orator of the day was introduced by our President and delivered an eloquent historical address, which is now in the hands of a publisher and will be added to the number of those which have preceded it.

A visit to the tomb of "The Bride of St. Philips'" and others of the early pioneers of civilization in this section, interested visitors, while a generous luncheon was spread under the trees. This was accompanied by a veritable "feast of reason and flow of soul," as many of the elder generation exchanged information and anecdote which had been handed down by their ancestors, through the generations, to the present day.

As the sun was setting we gathered on board the steamer for home, while the iridescent waves encircled and bore us on.

For some time, during last Winter, the meetings of our "Historic Circles" were necessarily suspended, but, with this Fall, they have been resumed with ardor. These "Circles" in several cities in the State have entered with zest into the work and have outlined programs and dates for monthly readings.

From our Genealogist, J. R. B. Hathaway, of Edenton, N. C., who is also Editor of "The North Carolina Historical and Genealogical Register," comes the cheering news of his finding, during his researches, the original papers (for which historians in North Carolina have vainly searched for 150 years) signed by the Lords Proprietors with seals attached putting into partial effect the "Fundamental Constitutions" compiled by John Locke for North Carolina, March 6, 1669, the paper bearing date Feb. 5, 1678. These, Mr. Hathaway writes in a letter to our President, were found in a package of otherwise worthless papers. The use of a lens was necessary to decipher them. He also found a fine impression of the seal of the Colony attached to the commission of Christopher Gale and four others as members of the General Court, bearing date 1712, which he has had photographed and placed in the hands of an artist for a half tone. "It has been publicly stated," he writes, "that the only impression of this seal known to be in existence was in the Bodleian Library, Oxford, Eng."

As this information is of interest to all of the Societies of Colonial Dames, I have taken the liberty of transmitting it.

We have mourned the loss of many Sister Dames of both the National and State Societies, but have been spared that loss in our own.

We have added thirty-five new members during the year.

With our New Year's greeting we send cordial thanks for courtesies extended to us.

Respectfully submitted,

EMMA MARTIN MAFFITT,

Historian North Carolina Society of Colonial Dames of America.

The above paper establishes several facts: it gives us the name of the ship on which Governor Burrington came to Virginia, and approximates very nearly the date of his arrival in North Carolina; also establishes the rate of per cent. made on goods brought from Great Britain to North Carolina at 300 per cent., which per cent. must have profoundly impressed Joseph Castleton, that he was penniless in a new and strange land.—EDITOR.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR MR. CORBIN GOING TO NORTH CAROLINA FROM EARL GRANVILLE.

(Original in the Court House at Edenton, N. C.)

Arlington Street, 14th Novr., 1744.

1st. With this Mr. Corbin will receive His Majestys Original Grant under the Great Seal Bearing date 17th Sept. 1744, for setting off to me in Severalty my Eighth Part of the Carolinas; & an Office Copy Bearing date 12th Sept. 1744, under the City Seal of my Surrender and Conveyance to His Majesty of the other Seven Eighths; & one hundred printed Exemplaries of each of these Deeds; and a Packet from the Duke of Newcastle to the Governor of South Carolina with a letter from his Grace, Notifying to him this Transaction by His Majesty's Command and another Packet to the Governor of North Carolina, with a like Letter from his Grace, on the said Transaction, and containing withal His Majesty's Commands to the said Governor to appoint proper Persons on His Majesty's part to carry on, in Conjunction with proper Persons on mine, the Division Line which has been begun, for Setting off my Eighth Part of the Carolinas in Severalty.

2d. As the Man of War, on board of which Mr. Corbin is to take his Passage, is to sail directly to South Carolina, Mr. Corbin will have an opportunity to deliver to Governor Glenn, the Duke of Newcastle's Packet above mentioned & my Letter to the said Governor & will then proceed to North Carolina.

3d. There Mr. Corbin is to address himself to Mr. Moseley, putting into his hands the Letter I have written to him, & communicating to him these Instructions, & the Copy of my Letter to the Governor of North Carolina, which Letter, as well as the above mentioned one from the Duke of Newcastle (the Copy of which Mr. Corbin will also Communicate to Mr. Moseley) I would have Mr. Moseley & Mr. Corbin to wait on the Governor with, acquainting him that I have sent the Deeds to be inroll'd & desiring his assistance & advice as to what remains to be done, & that he will give orders, pursuant to the King's pleasure signified to him by the Duke of Newcastle, for continuing and carrying on the Division Line.

4th. Printed Exemplaries of the Deeds are to be distributed among the principal People & given in particular to the Clerks of the Several Precincts or Counties in my Division, & some of them may be transmitted to Virginia & other Parts of the Continent, where it shall be thought Advisable.

5th. Mr. Corbin will acquaint Mr. Moseley that my Chief view & desire at this time is that a Regulation be established, whereby the People in my District being made easy, & quieted in their Possessions, I may have my Rents duely & regularly paid. When that Point has been adjusted, other Matters about settling Protestant Families may be thought of.

6th. Mr. Corbin will communicate to Mr. Moseley, Mr. Abercromby's Paper, which will be delivered to him with this; And as to the principal Matter therein mentioned, upon the subject of a Quit-Rent Law, if something of that Nature must be done, I would have That proceed, which shall be thought by the Governor, Mr. Moseley & Mr. Corbin to answer best the ascertaining the payment & recovery of the Quit-Rent in Specie. And as my Estate in the Carolinas, instead of being an undivided Eighth Part of every acre in the two Provinces, now lyes within a small Compass in one of them, which must greatly facilitate the coming at an exact & full Rent-Roll, wherein I find by Mr. Moseley's Letters, some progress has already been made: I, in a particular manner, recommend it to him & Mr. Corbin, that what remains to be done on that head may be perfected the Soonest that may be.

7th. I would have Mr. Moseley to transmit to me, by the first convenient opportunity, the Form in which he shall advise New Grants of Land to be hereafter made by me.

8th. As to such Parts (falling in within my Division) of these great Tracts of Land, which are mentioned in Mr. Abercromby's Paper, for which no Quit Rents have hitherto been paid, I would have Mr. Moseley & Mr. Corbin acquaint the Governor, that for so much as the said Governor is or may be interested therein, My intention is to oblige & favour him. But as to others, it is not to be expected, if the Grantees do not Comply with the Conditions of their Grants, that they should hold on such Tracts of good Land without paying Rent for them or be allowed to withhold them from those that would.

9th. Being informed that People in Virginia want Lands contiguous to theirs, I would have Notice to be given to them, that I shall be for accomodating them as occasion shall offer, at a reasonable Rate, Concerning which Rate I desire to have Mr. Moseley's advice.

10th. Mr. Moseley having acquainted me, it was Necessary to have the Division Line between His Majesty's Land & mine to be carried on, & his Majesty's Orders going now to the Governor of North Carolina as that head, I desire Mr. Moseley will set that matter forward, which he is empowered to do on my part by my Commission of the 25th May 1743.

11th. Mr. Moseley & Mr. Corbin will in my Name return thanks to the Several Gentlemen, who have been employed in making out the Division between His Majesty & me, for their dispatch therein.

12th. Mr. Corbin, who is sent with These to Mr. Moseley, is one I have a value for, whom I recommend to Mr. Moseley. He will be assistant to & act in Concert with him in my Affairs, & when some progress shall have been made therein, He is to return home, & by him Mr. Moseley will fully inform me of all matters & I hope, be able to transmit to me a compleat Rent Roll. What money Mr. Corbin shall want, for the time he shall remain in North Carolina & on his return home, I have desired Mr. Moseley to supply him with from time to time, taking his Receipts. to the amount of Two hundred Pounds Ster. charging the same to my account.

13th. Mr. Corbin will avoid concerning himself in any disputes among the Gentlemen in North Carolina by whom I desire to be look'd upon as a Gentleman, who having a considerable Estate in that Country, is desirous to be a good & an Usefull Neighbour to them.

GRANVILLE.

Mr. Corbin will not fail to Correspond with me from time to time.

No. Carolina—ss. To ye honble the Court of Chancery.

The Bill of Complt of Wm. Relfe Complt agt the Honble Coll'll Thos. Cary in this Honble Court prsent Deft. In humble wise Complaineng, Sheweth unto your Honrs: that in ye yeare 1704 your Orator was Employed by ye honble Col Robt. Daniel then Deputy Govr of this province to Collect ye Quitt Rents in Pascotank river by Virtue of which power your Orator did Collect & receive one hundred & Sixty bushels of Indyan Corne but soe it was may it please your Honors: that before your Orator had rendred ye Same or any acct thereof to ye sd Robt. Daniell The sd Coll'll Thos. Cary arrived in this Governmt wth Comiscon to be Deputy of ye Same and as Soone as ye said Deft had published ye same to ye said Deft Sent a certaine writeing under his hand as Dep Governr to yor Orator thereby requireing your Orator to Keep all Such Sume or Sumes of money or other things as he had reed for Quit rents in his hands untill further ordr from him as he (yor Orator) wo'd answer ye Contrary at his peril—In Obedience to which Comand yor Orator did reteyne ye afsd One hundred & sixty bushels of Corne & refused to deliver ye Same to ye afsd Coll'll Daniell when demanded And your Orator further Sheweth that at Divers other tyemes your Orator told ye sd Deft by wt Authority he received the afsd Corne and that Coll'll Daniell had sent to demand ye Same and requested his honrs orders wt to doe wth it for that he thought to deliver it to him by whose power he received it and ye said Deft then told him that he ought to observe his order (viz. to keep the same till further orders from him) which if he did he ye sd Deft wo'd have been harmless and he shod Come to noe Damage thereby or words to that Effect. In pursuance whereof your Orator wholly relying upon ye word & promise of ye Deft. did keep ye sd Corne in his Custody until the Same was ut-

This action was brought during the reign of Queen Anne. Charles Worth Glover was in the Indian War of 1711 and 1712, and in Bath County at that time, hence we are quite sure this was about the time he was so roughly handled. The charge against him has not yet appeared.—ED.

RELATING TO ROAD ON THE SOUTH SHORE OF ALBEMARLE SOUND.

"No. Carolina—ss. To the Honble Frederick Jones Chief Justice of North Carolina And to the rest of the Honble Members of the Generall Court.

The Petition of Sam'l Spruill, Godfrey Spruill &c. on the behalf of themselves and others Inhabitants of the West Side of Cuscopening River & other Districts. Humbly Sheweth That yor Petitionrs with others Inhabitants of sundry Districts on the South Shore of Chowan Precinct, have for these several years past cleared and opened the Roads and made very good bridges within their several respective Limits, and Divisions notwithstanding the Same was very burthensome to them by reason of the few Inhabitants resideing within these Limits, Yet so it is may it please yor Honors That the inhabitants of South Lancaster altho' many in number at least 15 or 16 tithables to about three miles of Road having neglected to repair the Roads & bridges within their Limits: have at the suggestion of Capt. Jno. Worley to the Precinct Court of Chowan held in October last, obtained an order of the said Court (without your Petitioners privity) whereby yor Petitioners with others were ordered to assist in clearing & makeing a Road within the Limits of the said South Lancaster Inhabitants Contrary to all Law & Reason.

Whereupon yor Petitionrs being Summoned to Work on the said South Lancaster Road preferred their Petition to the Prect Court of Chowan the 18 of this Instant Aprill praying to be releived against the said Order, and that yor Petitioners should not be Compelled to work out of their several respective Limits. But yor Petitioners were so farr from finding releif from the said Precinct Court of Chowan, that the said Court have confirmed their former order, and have further Ordered that each person refusing to obey the same shall pay five shillings pr diem so long as they neglect, as by a Copy of the same order was held in open Court unto yor Petitionrs. Your Petitionrs moved that their appeal from the said Order of Court, to yor Honrs in the General Court might be Entred & allowed according to Law: But the said Justices of the Precinct Court would not admit of yor Petitioners appeal but denied the same alleadging that Could not be. For they said the Genl Court had nothing to do therewith, & although their said order was hard, they themselves could not alter it, untill the next year. All which proceedings, as well of ye said Capt. John Worley in moveing the Precinct Court of Chowan touching the said Roads, as the Orders passed by the said Precinct Court against yor Petitionrs, being very Erroneous & Contrary to Law and the said Precinct Court refusing to admit of yor Petitionrs appeal from their order unto yor Determination yor Petitionrs are Compelled to Pray yor Honrs to grant his Majesties Writt of Injunction commanding the said Justices of the said Precinct Court of Chowan & all other officers & persons whatsoever from any further proceedings touching ye said Orders so passed in the said Court, untill yr Petitionrs have been heard before yor Honrs touching the irregularity of the said Proceedings; And that the members of the said Precinct Court of Chowan be Commanded to Certify unto yor Honrs at the General Court to be holden for this Governmt in the month of July next at Queen Ann's Creek, their Proceedings agst yor Petitionrs. And that yor Petitionrs may be fully Relieved in the Premises And the said Orders so passed against them in the said Precinct Court of Chowan sett aside Yor Petitionrs as in duty bound shal Ever pray &c.

LETTER FROM EDWARD MOSELEY TO MR. AUGUSTINE SCARBROUGH, TREASURER, PASQUOTANK.

Chowan february first, 1713.

Sr.

Enclosed I send you an acct of the Estates in yr Precinct. You must remember, That it is your duty by the act of Assembly to give to every Councill Lists of all the persons Estates in his Division Drawn out at length with the value of the Tax he is to pay. The Constables are to have them 40 daies before the time of paymt. And it is his Duty under great penalty which you must inform him of to give the same to every person or leave it at his abode at least 20: daies before paymt. which is to be the 25 of March, So that if it should happen that the Constable should be straitened for time, it may do as well if it be brought in 20: daies after his Notice altho' it should be something past ye 25: of next month but I suppose as yt there is time enough. Wee have not afixed to each person what he is to pay, but you must sett it at ye end of the paper to be left with them, by computation it comes to ten pence on the pound this year & as much next. All ye Estates being about 25000£ & 10d in the pound is the nearest without fraction.

I likewise send you a list of the Claimes allowed last Assembly, it may be of use for people to see what is allowed them, that if they have any Just Claims to make, they make them to the Assembly. But in Regard to ye 12:000 £ bills & ye 1000 £ this year will not pay off ye claimes allowed by the first Assembly, I cannot see any other use for them at present.

The 1000 £ next year & ye money ariseing by the five pounds fines when all Collected & paid in and a Dividend made thereof, it is hoped will pay off the last Assembly's Claimes, which cannot be till next year, ye Soonest.

You are to remember & inform all ye people whose Estates come to 60 £ & upwards that they are this year to pay in Pork, beef, Corn, wheat, Pitch, Tarr, Tobacco Three pence in the pound of what their Estates are valued at besides ye 25: p 3 poll Tax & this 10s. in ye pound, the notice given & paymt. to be made at the same time with the other: this is for Governour Craven's money.

You must likewise remember that Captn. Hall is to have ye Choice of 72 £ out of the Collections this year. Govr Craven's money Excepted. For all other matters referring you to ye Bearer Mr. Hicks. I am Sr.,

Yr very humble Servt.,

LETTER RELATING TO GOVERNOR GABRIEL JOHNSTON'S WILL.

Sir. If I had recollected that you proposed staying at Endfield this Week I should have insisted that you should have spent a day or two here with your * * * and have seen your Cousin before she sits out on her Journey to Virginia. If I see Mr. Cathcart on Thursday next I then propose setting out for Williamsburgh. Mr. Elliott and I have been considering of the late Govrs Will. Considering how it is Worded I am a great Loss how to act so as to prevent disputes hereafter. It is Mr. Elliots opinion that it ought to be done in Chancery of which he will inform you at large, the bill may be drawn up by the advice of Mr. Barker & Mr. Jones, of which I doubt not all concerned will agree to. All that I Want to have ascertained is a certain course to go by in regard to the Laegacy's mentioned in the will, what I have proposed by Mr. Elliot will be much for the advantage of the Estate. The headings of the bill & answers Mr. Elliot will give you that. It may be sent to your Father for his Opinion, and advice thereupon. As I propose this should be done in a friendly manner with the consent of all parties and if your Father thinks it proper he may be present at the Court of Chancery the Thursday before the Supreme Court at Newbern 17th Nov. 1755.

ALBEMARLE COUNTY AND THE ORIGINAL PRECINCTS OF CAROLINA, LATER NORTH CAROLINA.

(BY THE EDITOR OF THE REGISTER.)

A most excellent and commendable proposition having recently appeared in some of the papers, made by Hon. J. Bryan Grimes, Secretary of State of North Carolina, offering a prize to the scholar (under eighteen years of age) in the public schools of the State who will make the clearest and simplest diagram in chart form of the formation (with date) of the counties of North Carolina, etc., our attention having thus been directed to this subject, we have concluded to give our readers what information we have gathered from the records relating to the early divisions and sub-divisions of the territory embraced in that portion of Carolina, later North Carolina, especially Albemarle County.

The above-mentioned offer is very creditable to the head and heart of Mr. Grimes, and is a step in the right direction. We rejoice to know that a movement so important to an accurate knowledge of the settlement of the Colony and State has been inaugurated; it is eminently calculated to awaken not only in the public schools, but the masses as well, a deeper interest in historical research and knowledge. It is not only to be commended, but to be hoped that the interest so awakened will deepen and widen until not only the children, but all her citizens shall become fully conversant with the history of the land of their nativity or adoption. North Carolina has a grand and glorious history, to which her sons and daughters can justly point with pride, conscious that her star shines with as great brilliancy as that of any of her sister States composing the great constellation of the American Union. It has never been written in all of its details, hence the necessity (even at this late date) of delving in the archives of the State, among the dusty records of the past centuries, for every fragment of record evidence to forge, link by link, the historic chain that binds together the events of the past and bring prominently to view those in whom the events centered.

Accuracy is the first constituent element of history. Without it it is comparatively of but little value and worth scarcely more than tradition. On account of the great mass of data, scattered all over the State, in public offices and private houses as well, which has never been ¹systematically compiled and arranged, through which the historian has to search for facts and dates, it is not a matter of surprise that the most careful and painstaking toiler should be sometimes led into error, for not infrequently what appears, from the evidence in hand to-day, to be true, newly-discovered evidence at a later period discounts and often entirely destroys. The purpose of this article is to correct, in a kindly spirit, from the records we have, for the benefit of the present as well as future generations, some of the errors that have heretofore obtained with reference to the early precincts, their formation, etc.

Carolina—at least that part afterwards North Carolina—had in her early settlement three divisions, viz.: The Counties of Albemarle, Bath and Clarendon. Albemarle County was the earliest formed, and this article will be confined in the main to a notice of her formation and sub-division into "Precincts." By reference to the Colonial Records of North Carolina, Vol. I, page 49, it is apparent that Albemarle County, named in honor of General George Monk, Duke of Albemarle, was laid out by the Lords Proprietors as early as 1663. We quote from the above-mentioned work as follows: "Copy of a Commission to Sir William Berkeley, to constitute and Commissionate a Governor for ²Albemarle River * * * to be and continue Governor of all that parte of the province aforesaid which lyeth on the North East side or Starboard side entring of the river Chowan, now named by us Albemarle River together with the Islands and Isletts within ten leagues thereof, for the tearme and time of ——— yeares from the date of his Commission which he shall receive from the said Sir William Berkeley, he behaving himself well: and likewise the same person or some other fitting person to be and Continue Governor on the South West or larboard side entring the same river,

1 Far be it from us to depreciate the stupendous work done by the late Col. W. L. Saunders and the present Chief Justice of North Carolina, Hon. Walter Clark, in their research, and compilation of the North Carolina Colonial Records, and State Records. For this work they deserve the gratitude of every North Carolinian; without them we would be drifting (historically speaking) like a boat without keel or rudder, but we refer to the large mass of data which remains as yet untouched.

2 Albemarle Sound and Chowan River were known in the early records as Albemarle River and Chowan River; quite frequently the two streams were called by the same name, and some times were synonymously used for the same stream.

and from the entrance thereof 20 leagues up the river and from the river side — myles Southerly into the land, for the tearme and time of yeares from the date of the Commission that he shall receeve from Sir William Berkeley, he behaving himself well as aforesaid. And also to nominate and appoint 6 fitting persons to be of the Council of each Governor, if two &c.” The above commission bears date — day of 1663, and is followed by instructions to Sir William Berkeley, on pages 50 and 51 of the same volume, for laying out the land in the above-mentioned boundaries.

Again, on page 93 of the same volume, we find as follows:

“Mr. Drummond,

“Sir:

“Our last unto you was by Mr. Peter ¹Carteret accompanying your Commission and Instructions for the Government of the ²*County of Albemarle* in which we confyned the County to 40 myles square or 40 square myles in which there was a mistake, for it should have been 1600 square myles instead of 40 of which you are to take notice and to bound the County accordingly and if it be not enough to comprehend all the plantations under that Government give us notice of the deft. and on what point of the Compass those plantations lye that are without the bounds (from the entrance to the Mayne River) and we can enlarge your bounds; and shall if there be reason for it.

“Wee rest,

“YOUR VERY LOVING FRIENDS.

“Cockpitt Jan’y 7, 1664-5.”

The above letter was evidently written by the Lords Proprietors to William Drummond, the first Governor of Albemarle County, in Carolina, and proposes to enlarge the territory to be embraced within the County of Albemarle, and accounts for the second charter of King Charles II.; this latter charter took in a strip of land (between Albemarle Sound and the present southern boundary of Virginia) thirty-seven miles wide; in other words, extending the boundary from the 36th degree of northern latitude “to the North end of Currituck river or inlet upon a straight westerly line to Wyanoak, which lies within or about the degrees of thirty-six and thirty minutes Northern latitude,” etc.

The County of Albemarle was sub-divided into three precincts, exactly at what date or by what authority does not appear. Under date of ³1671 we find that Martin says the County of Albemarle was at the same time divided into three precincts; the eastern was called Carteret, the middle one Berkeley, and the western Shaftesbury. From our understanding of these divisions (a knowledge gained by an investigation of the grants prior to 1685, in the Secretary of State's office, Raleigh, N. C., in part), Carteret Precinct was composed of the territory lying north of Little River to the Virginia line (never definitely settled until the joint survey of the boundary line by commissioners of Virginia and North Carolina in 1728-9); this included the present Counties of Pasquotank, Camden and Currituck. Berkeley Precinct corresponded then to the present boundaries of Perquimans County and a narrow strip of land, probably three or four miles wide, on the extreme eastern border of Gates County. The latter boundary is deduced from deeds recorded in Chowan and Perquimans Counties for land located within the district named. Shaftesbury Precinct, afterwards known as Chowan Precinct, embraced the balance of the territory included within the bounds of Albemarle County.

¹Martin, in speaking of the Quaker George Fox's visit to Carolina in 1672, states that "He crossed the wide wilderness which separates the County of Albemarle from the settlements of Virginia accompanied by another man only. They first reached the plantation of one ²Phelps, a person of his society, who had removed with his family from New England to the precinct of Berkeley and dwelt on Perquimans River" (Italics ours). Perquimans River to this day cuts in twain Perquimans Co. These precincts retained their names until about the year 1685, when Carteret Precinct was divided into Currituck and Pasquotank, and the three original precincts appeared thereafter as four. Again we quote from Martin, Vol. 1, page 176: "1683. The four precincts on Albemarle Sound which were hitherto designed by the titles or names of some of the lords proprietors, viz.: Shaftesbury, Berkeley, etc., were now named by the principal streams that water them, Chowan, Perquimans, Pasquotank and Currituck, appellations which they to this day retain." Martin fixes this change of name in 1683, but it was evidently after 1684, for, by reference to Book of Land Grants No. 1, pages 104, 105, 144, 145, etc., in the office of the Secretary of State at Raleigh, N. C., it will be found that the grants referred to bear date in 1684, and the land conveyed located in Shaftesbury Precinct. We know, from having traced the title down to the present, that some of these lands are contiguous to the town of Edenton, the site of which was in Shaftesbury, afterwards Chowan, Precinct. In 1685 there were four precincts in Albemarle County instead of the three original. The fourth has already been accounted for by the division of Carteret Precinct into Currituck and Pasquotank; also, please bear in mind that Martin says above that they were "located on Albemarle Sound," and so continue to this day. The first three existed from certainly as early as 1671, first by their proprietary names, and then, about 1685, the eastern being divided into two separate and distinct precincts, there were four precincts, taking the names of the water-courses which penetrated their boundaries and territory. These precincts were not formed in 1722, but as early as 1671, a half century prior to that date.

In 1722 Bertie Precinct was formed, not as one of the original precincts, but out of territory belonging to Chowan Precinct. In support of this proposition we introduce the Act of Assembly creating the precinct, which will be found in the "Collection of Laws" by James Davis, of New Bern, published in 1751, on page 29. Chapter V of the Acts passed by the Assembly held at Edenton October 2d to October 19th, 1722, the caption says: "An Act appointing that Part of Albemarle County lying on the West Side of Chowan River to be a Precinct by the name of Bertie," and the preamble to the Act recites: "Whereas, That Part of Albemarle County lying on the West Side of Chowan River, being part of Chowan Precinct," etc. (Italics ours). The above language is clear and explicit and can leave no doubt that Bertie Precinct was not an original precinct, but was formed out of Chowan territory.

The same is true of Tyrrell Precinct, for by reference to the same book, page 73, appears the following Act, being Chapter IV of the laws passed by the Assembly held at Edenton November 27th, 1729, entitled, "An Act to appoint that Part of Albemarle County lying on the South Side of Albemarle Sound and Morattuck (Roanoke) River into a Precinct to be known by the name of Tyrrell Precinct, Running so high as the Rainbow Banks including part of the several Precincts hereinafter named, viz., Chowan, Pasquotank, Bertie and Currituck," etc. This Act is conclusive proof that Tyrrell was not an original precinct, but taken from the precincts named in the Act above recited.

That portion of Tyrrell Precinct, as above constituted, lying on Albemarle Sound immediately opposite Currituck, on the other side of the Sound, was prior to November 27, 1729, part of Currituck Precinct, and the same is true with reference to Pasquotank, Perquimans and Chowan, the latter extending her authority certainly as far east as Scuppernong River, which included all that part of Tyrrell County out of which Washington County was formed in 1799, as well as a small strip of land lying between the Washington County line and Scuppernong River. "Running so high as the Rainbow Banks" took in nearly the entire border of Martin County (as at present constituted) on the Roanoke River.

There are deeds on record, for lands in Chowan Precinct, in the office of the Register of Deeds of Chowan County, at Edenton, in books W. No. 1, B. No. 1, C. No. 1 and F. No. 1, bearing date from 1692 to the date of the formation of Bertie and Tyrrell Precincts, for lands on the north side of Meherrin River, "in Caledony Woods on Coneconary Swamp (which, if we mistake not, are part and parcel of the State lands in Halifax County, N. C.) in the present boundaries of Bertie, Hertford, Northampton, Halifax and Edgecombe Counties, and also deeds for lands on Welch's Creek, as well as the east and west sides of Scuppernong River; in fact, these books contain the deeds for all lands conveyed in the above-named counties prior to the time of the establishment of the two separate precincts above-named. The entire early settlement of Chowan, Bertie and Tyrrell Precincts will be found in these deeds, which followed immediately behind the grants issued by the Governor and his Council.

Carteret Precinct was not an original precinct, but was formed from Craven Precinct, as will be found by reference to the Colonial Records of North Carolina, Vol. II, page 459: "At a Council held at the Honoble the President's house August ye 8th, 1722. Present the Honoble Thomas Pollock, Esqr., President, &c., Christopher Gale, John Lovick, Tho. Pollock, Junr., Esqrs., Lds Proprs Deptys. * * * Pursuant to a former order of Council for making Core Sound a separate Precinct from Craven, It is resolved that the said precinct be Called and distinguished by the name of Carteret precinct and that the bounds thereof shall be and include all the Lands lying on the said Sound, (Bogue Sound) and the rivers and Creeks runing into them including all the settlemts to the Southward thereof untill there shall be a further division of other Counteys or precincts.

"And that Craven Precinct shall consist of all the settlements upon Nause, Trent and their branches including Bear River, and John Nelson, Richard Russell, Enoch Ward, Joseph Bell and Richard Whitehurst are appointed Justices of the Peace for Carteret precinct aforsd."

This settles beyond the shadow of a doubt the exact date when Carteret Precinct was formed out of territory belonging to Craven Precinct, hence we are forced to conclude that this (Carteret Precinct) did not exist as an original precinct. An Act was passed in 1738 by the Assembly changing the names of the precincts to Counties, hence we immediately had thereafter Carteret County. These early divisions we arrange as follows: Carteret Precinct in 1671, Berkeley Precinct in 1671, Shaftesbury in 1671. Carteret divided about 1685 into Currituck and Pasquotank, Berkeley changing its name to Perquimans about 1685; Shaftesbury, name changed to Chowan, about 1685; ¹Carteret Precinct formed from Craven August 8, 1722; Bertie formed from Chowan October, 1722; Tyrrell formed from Chowan November 27, 1729. Craven was an original precinct, probably formed at a later period than the three original precincts comprising Albemarle County, but of this Precinct we will have something to say later.

We do not profess to be infallible in the above statement, but have given from the records, as far as we have been able to reach them, what appears to be the correct formation of these early sub-divisions of North Carolina, and will be glad to have any one with better data and evidence in hand to correct any errors that may appear in the record we have given, as accuracy is what we are after in all history, and especially so in the formation and formative period of North Carolina history.

Information is earnestly desired of the Holladay family, of North Carolina—Thomas and Samuel Holladay's descendants from about 1730. Also the names of the parents of Rev. Seth Speight, of the M. E. Church, Virginia Conference, before the formation of the North Carolina Conference. The ancestors of Emperor Moseley, whose daughter Mary, born about 1783, married 1st Samuel Jarvis and 2nd, in 1803, Wm. Coates Butler, son of Anthony Butler, of Philadelphia, and wife Elizabeth Coates. Emperor Moseley appears upon the conveyance books of Pasquotank County, N. C., at Elizabeth City, in Book D. and E., Jany. 9, 1765, and runs down to deed book N., Sept. 14, 1793; he then disappears from the records. He was certainly 21 years old, if not older, in 1765, hence was born certainly as early as 1744, and perhaps before that date. Was he a grandson of Col. Edward Moseley, who came from Princess Anne County, Va., to Chowan Precinct about 1705 or 1706, or from the same family in Princess Anne County, Va.? Samuel Jarvis, Sarah Moseley's first husband, lived in Currituck County, N. C., not far from Princess Anne County, Va., but probably married his wife in Pasquotank County. Her second marriage, to W. Wanted, the descendants of Jasper Hardison (who lived in Tyrrell Precinct about 1734) down to Thomas J. Hardison, who lived in Edgecombe County and moved later to Anson County, N. C.

Thomas Lewis appears in Carteret County, N. C., about 1740. He died shortly after 1800. His issue was: (1) Uriah, (2) Esther, md George Willis; (3) Thomas, born Mch. 26, 1772, md about 1793 Sidney Styron; (4) John, (5) Polly, md James Wade; (6) Daniel, (7) Archibald, (8) Deborah, born about 1781-'83, md Jackson Fulcher; (9) James, (10) Isaac. Issue of his third child, Thomas Lewis, and wife Sidney Styron: (1) Elizabeth, born Jan. 11, 1793, md — Bell; (2) Rachel, born Sept. 20, 1795, md — Harriss; (3) George, born Sept. 23, 1797, died an infant; (4) George R., born Mch. 11, 1800; (5) John W., born Nov. 28, 1801, md Harriet Wade; (6) Mary, born June 28, 1804, md Wm. Lewis Blount Litchfield; (7) Mark Anthony, born June 26, 1806. The mother of Sydney Styron was ——— Bateman before her marriage. Wanted, the name of the father and mother of Thomas Lewis, Sr. Was he from the Chowan County Lewis family or that of Pasquotank? Henry Bonner left a bequest in his will executed in 1738 to his daughter Deborah; also to his granddaughter Deborah Lewis; also to his son Thomas. As all of these names appear among the children of Thomas Lewis, Sr., the indications are that he was closely connected with the Chowan Lewis and Bonner families. The Wade family, into which some of the children intermarried, originally settled at Wade's Point, in Pasquotank Precinct, in all probability.

Information is desired of the ancestors of John McCorkle, whose will was probated in the year 1800. He left children Catharine and Joel. Joel McCorkle left children Finly and Samuel. Samuel McCorkle, among his children, left James Stewart McCorkle. The same letter states that Gilbert Falls was killed at Ramseur's battleground during the Revolution (one of six Captains killed—his sword and cuff-buttons are still in the family). My father's grandfather was James Stewart, who left 10 children: (1) James, (2)

Finly, (3) Hugh, (4) John, (5) Robert, (6) Caroline, (7) Euphemia, (8) Theresia, (9) Martha and (10) Ann. Martha Stewart and Samuel McCorkle were married and had issue, (1) James Stewart McCorkle, (2) John E. McCorkle, (3) Martha McCorkle, (4) Mary McCorkle. James Stewart McCorkle md Mary Jane Buford in Mississippi. Wanted, the ancestors of the Buford family, and any information relating to the other families mentioned will be very greatly appreciated.

Thomas Blount, who md Mrs. Mary Scott 1685-6, is generally conceded to have been the brother of James Blount, who died that year. James Blount mentions a son Thomas in his will in 1685-6 and a grandson. A paper-writing among the records in Court-house at Edenton shows that James Blount and his brother Thomas proved their rights on the same piece of paper. Thomas Bonner's wife Mary, who survived him in Chowan, the mother of Lydia Bonner, was Mary Roberts, sister of Jonathan Roberts, who married in Hertford County Miss Brickell.

Information desired of the Lytle family in North Carolina by a gentleman in Washington, D. C.

A gentleman in St. Louis, Mo., wishes descendants of Richard Rhodes, who died in Pasquotank Precinct in 1692; also the ancestors of Mary Harrison, who became the wife of Wm. Holland, English emigrant to North Carolina in 1725. Wm. Holland was father of James Holland (Rev' soldier and Congressman from Rutherford County, N. C.).

Lady in Austin, Texas, enquires with reference to the Lanier, Williams and White families of North Carolina. She descends from Col. Joseph Williams (md Rebecca Lanier); their ancestors desired; also of Col. James White. Judge Thomas Lanier Williams was a son of Col. Joseph Williams (above), of Surry County, N. C. He lived and died in Kingville, Tenn. He had a daughter Margaret McClung Williams. Mrs. Sarah Hobson was a granddaughter of Col. John Williams, brother of Judge Thomas L. Williams.

CORRECTIONS IN LAST ISSUE OF THE REGISTER.

We seem to have had hard luck in the last issue. Quite a number of errors unintentionally crept in:

1. The article on Bath, a lady from Washington, N. C., calls our attention to a mistake on page 22, with reference to the ancestors of Miss Bettie Hoyt and Miss Bragaw. Churchill Reading was not their ancestor, but his sister Anne Elizabeth Reading was. She married 1st Thomas Blount, and became the ancestress of the Blount, Myers and Rodman families, of Washington, N. C., and through her 2nd marriage, to ———— Caldron (their one son being Churchill Caldron), became the ancestress of Miss Bettie Hoyt and Miss Bragaw. The father of Anne Elizabeth and Churchill Reading was Lionel Reading, upon whose estate Fort Reading was located. Major Reading Blount and John Gray Blount, mentioned on page 26, were grandsons of Anne Elizabeth Reading. Miss Rodman and Miss Mary Blount are not the descendants, as there stated, of Major Reading Blount, but of his brother, John Gray Blount. The above is compiled from written documents in possession of the late Miss Patsey B. Blount, daughter of John Gray Blount, mentioned above, and are absolutely correct.

2. In the article on the Edenton Tea Party, page 121, add to the issue of Sarah Ann Hoskins, md Nathan Mathewson Lawrence, their grandson Irwin Lawrence Potts, son of Leata Hoskins, Lawrence md John R. Potts; again 5th child, Sallie Hoskins Lawrence md Hugh Landis Skinner.

3. Again, on page 122, same article, 13th line from the bottom, read as follows: Dr. R. H. Lewis md 2nd Mary Long Gordon, daughter of George Loyall Gordon, of Albemarle County, Va., and wife Mary (not Frances) Long Daniel, daughter, etc.

4. Same article, page 116, for Thomas Baker, Lemuel Baker, William Baker, Richard Baker, Blake Baker, Pattie Baker, md Thomas Hoskins; Catharine Baker, md ———— Whitaker, read: Thomas Wiggins, Lemuel Wiggins, William Wiggins, Richard Wiggins, Blake Baker Wiggins, Pattie Wiggins, md Thomas Hoskins;; Catharine Wiggins, md ———— Whitaker. They were the children of John Wiggins and wife Catharine Baker, and not, as stated, the children of Henry Baker and wife Catharine Booth.

We are always glad to make a correction where any error occurs. We desire to have the records exactly correct.—EDITOR.

BOOK NOTICES.

The "Jones Family," by L. H. Jones, Esq., No. 100 W. Broadway, Louisville, Ky., is on our table in a neatly bound volume of 295 pages. The descendants of Roger Jones, of Virginia, are clearly and accurately given. Mr. Lewis H. Jones descends from Roger Jones' younger son, Thomas Jones, brother of Colonel Frederick Jones, of Chowan Precinct, N. C., Chief Justice of North Carolina in 1721. It is an accurate history of the family, and every member should be in possession of the work. The work indicates a vast amount of research and care in its preparation. The price has been reduced to $5 per copy. Apply to Mr. Jones, if you desire a copy. His address is given above.

"The Alstons and Allstons of North Carolina and South Carolina," by Dr. Joseph A. Groves, of Selma, Ala., has been received from the author. It has been his life-work to prepare and publish the volume, and every fact that could possibly be secured, relating to the family, has been gleaned, compiled and published. It is an exceedingly valuable addition to the genealogical lore of the two States, as well as the country at large, as the descendants of John Alston of the Carolinas are now to be found in every portion of the American Union. The genealogy goes back to the old Saxon Kings, dating back to 90 B. C. We take pleasure in commending the work to the members of the family. The price of the book is $10, and can be had upon application to the author.

"Grand-Father's Tales," by our venerable and highly-esteemed friend, Col. R. B. Creecy, fills a vacuum in the historical literature of North Carolina that could never have been supplied by any other person than himself. We congratulate him and the public on its production. It is written in his happiest style, and preserves, for coming generations, many historical facts that would otherwise have been lost. His thoughts flow from his pen with an ease and grace that captivates the reader and enchants him to its conclusion. May our friend live for many years to come, with unimpaired mental faculties, to add fresh laurels to the literary reputation he has so richly and worthily won. He can be as gentle as a woman in the finer fields of literature, but woe betide (when occasion requires) the man who falls beneath the stroke of his keen Damascus blade! Let every North Carolinian, at home and abroad, secure a copy of the work. The price is $1.50, and can be had upon application to Col. R. B. Creecy, Editor of the Economist, Elizabeth City, N. C.

“Like leaves on trees the race of man is found,
Now green in youth, now withering on the ground :
Another race the following Spring supplies ;
They rise successive, and successive fall :
So generations in their course decay ;
So flourish these when those are passed away.”

EDWARD REMINGTON.

The histories of North Carolina generally have the name George "Catchmaid," instead of "Catchmany." Without the original it is hard to tell which is correct, as the Register who copied the name may have made an error in getting the name correct.

The above deeds are probably the oldest conveyances for land on record in North Carolina. There may be older grants in the Land Office at Richmond, Va., and it would be well for the State of North Carolina (through the Legislature) to secure a copy of the land grants and deeds recorded there and have them copied in a book and deposited in the Office of the Secretary of State, as we are quite sure that the earliest settlement of the Colony can alone be secured from that office. Who will take the initiative in so valuable a work? The cost could not be very great, as probably there are but few such conveyances antedating the second charter of Charles II. executed in 1665.

FERRY BETWEEN GATES AND HERTFORD COUNTIES, NORTH CAROLINA.

The Petition of Henry Baker To the Worshipful Justices of Precinct Court of Bertie Now Setting the 12th day of August, 1725, humbly sheweth:

That while Bertie was a part of Chowan prect. the Ferry at or near Meherrin was settled by Chowan Prect. Court on sd. Henry Baker, and thereupon John Beverly, who thought himself injured thereby, caused a hearing of that matter to be in the Genl. Court, which Court thereupon affirmed the Ferry to your petitioner.

The Ferry being thus Established by order of Precinct & Genl. Court on your Petitioner became his property, from which he ought not to be divested without Lawfull cause, such as not performing what ought to be done. And that, too, by the Law of this Governmt.

Yet nevertheless Coll. Willm. Maule, when this precinct was first Established, unduly and without the least notice to your petitr., obtained an order of this Bertie prect. Court by the pretext of an Order of Assembly to that purpose to Establish him in the said Ferry.

But inasmuch as the said order as a request of Assembly was Irregular, because they did not know your petitr. pretentions (Nor did it pass both houses) your petitr. brought the cause to the Genll. Court who proceeded no further therein than to Refer the same back to the Assembly.

And at the last Assembly the lower house, who granted the former order in favor of said Maule, Ordered that the precinct Court of Bertie should proceed as by Law they ought. The former Order of Assembly in favour of the said Maule notwithstanding.

Therefore, seeing the Order of Assembly at first was irregular and not binding, and the last Order of the Lower house referred the matter to this prect. Court to do therein, it now lies before them. And your petitr. humbly prays this Court to Consider the Irregularity of appointing the said Coll. Maule, since no complaint was against your petitr., or he be heard thereon, for altho' this Court has power in this precinct to Alter the Keeper of the Ferrys as they see cause yet it must be on some sufficient motive, because it touches men's Interest.

Now, when this was made a precinct your petitr. was in Lawfull possession of the Ferry and in Justice ought not to have been turned out, or another appointed without sufficient notice to the Court as Misdemeanors, &c, and the Court ought to have known and enquired who was Ferryman when they were made a precinct. And their not doing this but appointing another without taking any notice who was then Ferryman or how it stood was wrong and Injurious; and since your petitr. was wrong'd and Injured he ought to be righted.

And altho' some scruple hath been, whether this Court can reverse their own Order, yet without entering into that dispute, no doubt if they had power before to putt Coll. Maule in they have the same power now to turn Coll. Maule out and so put your petitr. in the same state this precinct first found him when made a precinct. And then if Coll. Maule has any better right or pretence to it than your petitr. he may take his cause for it.

Therefore, on the whole, your petitr. humbly prayes that the said Coll. Maule may be ordered by this Court no longer to keep the said Ferry. That your petitioner may be wholly reinstated in the Quiet possession thereof.

And as in Duty Bound he shall ever pray, &c.

THOS. JONES, for the Petitr.

At a precinct Court held at Bertie the second Tuesday in August Last. On the petition of said Baker vs. Maule, Concerning the Ferry at Meherrin the Judgmt. of the Court was to reject the appellant Baker's petition, which Judgment or order the appellt. sayeth is wrong and Erroneous and ought to have been for the appellt. to have petition Granted.

1st. For that the apelkt. being in lawfull possession of the said Ferry nor having Comitted any irregularity, nor Cited to be heard when the same was Granted to Maule, which was done in a clandestine manner by said Maule, was wrong and Injurious to your appellt.

2nd. For that the sd. Precinct Court because they had Granted the same to Maule therefore would not reverse their own order was erroneous, for if they see cause at any Time they may alter Ferrys, and if they at first wrongfully granted it from the appellt. that of itself is a Sufficient reason why now, since the same is Discovered, they ought to restore or Grant it to your appellant, who therefore prays that the Judgment of the said Court may be Reversed and he have his petition Granted.

THOS. JONES, for Appellant.

NORTH CAROLINA GLEANINGS IN ENGLAND.

The following notes, which I hope to continue from time to time, are partly from my own collection and partly from the unprinted manuscripts of Mr. Henry Fitzgilbert Waters, now in my charge. For an account of the work of Mr. Waters and myself here in England, see the Virginia Historical Magazine for January, 1903, page 291. In that issue of the Virginia Historical Society's organ I began the publication of the portion of the matter particularly relating to Virginia. In the South Carolina Historical Society's Magazine for July, 1903, I began to issue the notes concerning that province. In the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society's Record for October, 1903, the notes concerning New York were begun, while in the magazine of the Pennsylvania Historical Society for April, 1903, those relating to Pennsylvania were started. The historical societies of Maryland, New Jersey, Delaware and Georgia have no periodical organ, but I have been preparing series of notes concerning these colonies for separate use by those societies. The North Carolina Historical Society having no publication, consequently I gladly avail myself of the hospitality of THE NORTH CAROLINA HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL REGISTER. Moreover, as North Carolina families have so strong a strain of Scotch and Scotch-Irish blood, I shall have, in this case, to rely chiefly on my own searches, as Mr. Waters never explored the Scotch and Ulster records, which I have long been working at intervals. I may only add, as to the New England matter, that in the collections of the Essex Institute the notes chiefly concerning northern New England are being issued, while in the Genealogical Quarterly Magazine (begun in April, 1903) all of the work of Mr. Waters, not utilized elsewhere, is appearing alphabetically, to be later issued in volumes like the two published by the New England Historical and Genealogical Society.

From the records in the Court House at Hertford, Perquimans county, N. C., the following items are taken:

Mary Harvey, daughter of Thomas and Sarah, was born Nov. 20, 1694, and married Col. Robt. West.

Thomas Harvey was Acting Governor during Gov. Archdale's absence in 1697 and '98.

Thomas Harvey's will in the office of the Secretary of State at Raleigh, N. C., dated Meh. 23, 1698-99, and probated Nov. 2, 1699, mentions "Wife Sarah, Son Thomas, Daughter Mary, Nephew Thomas, son of Brother Richard, late of London; Nephew John, brother of said Thomas; Brother Robert, of ye Heath in Snetterfield Parish, Warwickshire, in case of his death to my next oldest Brother and so on. Meh. 31, 1696.—Test, Henry Norman, Robert Fendall, John Peire, Wm. Glover. Wm. Wilkinson, Exr., as I am Executor for John Harvey, dec'd. Test to Codicil Rich. French and Ruth Laker."

The North Carolina Historical and Genealogical Register was published by James Robert Bent Hathaway at Edenton, North Carolina, beginning in January, 1900 and continuing until July, 1903. It was issued quarterly, each number containing approximately 150 pages, crowded with valuable North Carolina historical and genealogical data, largely abstracted by the editor and publisher, from the public records. In the first volume there were 640 pages, in the second 640 and in the three numbers of the third volume there were 480 pages, making altogether 1760 pages of material Mr. Hathaway collected in the brief life of this remarkable publication. Not less than 50,000 names appear in the publication from the beginning until the end. Not all of these names, by any means, may be found in this imperfect index, but by reason of the foresight of the founder, who arranged a great part of his material in alphabetical order, (particularly the lists of revolutionary soldiers, and the marriage bonds) a literal transcription of every name is found unnecessary for a workable guide to the contents. Mr. Hathaway's is a monumental work and a rich heritage to the researcher interested in the early families of the Old North State, and the only thing lacking has been an index, which doubtless the pioneer publisher would have himself supplied had his life been spared.

It is this omission which the writer has undertaken with an unpracticed hand to supply. The unorthodox manner in which the index is constructed, the interpolation of citations occasionally from Grimes and other accepted sources, designed to point out additional authority on the subject; the insertion of "side bar remarks" and genealogical notes throughout the work (in the nature of footnotes) may not prove likeable, or popular, but should not detract from the value of the factual records quoted. But here they are. Take them or leave them.

The index is not perfect, nor are the notes. It and they are full of mistakes. So is Grimes, so is Wheeler, Martin, Williamson and nearly all other books that have ever been written about North Carolina. In this instance, many, if not all such mistakes were noticed by the writer when it was too late to correct them and others have been discovered since the volume came off the press. If you see them, just pass them over and let them go. Nothing can now be done about it. This is a wartime job, produced in spite of aggravating wartime regulations, which seem necessary. It may not be much of a job, but it has been largely a labor of love and is the best available, since it seems to be the only one ever attempted. If you don't readily find the name wanted, keep searching among the "connected" names and other material referred to and it will probably turn up.

The numbers 1-442, mean Volume 1, page 442; 2-164 mean Volume 2, page 164, and 3-222 mean Volume 3, page 222, and so on, all the way through. This is very simple. The work, crude though it may be, should make your file of Hathaway's H. & G. Register of much greater value.

DANIEL AKEHURST. From page 40 of "Virginia Carys": "Among the old records of Albemarle County, North Carolina, at Edenton, are several affidavits filed July 18, 1713, concerning a slave named Stephen, who had been sold some years before by Ann Akehurst to Miles Cary, Jr. The witnesses are "Miles Cary, the elder, age "42", whose signature is the unmistakable autograph of our first Clerk of Warwick, age "43", and Elizabeth Cary "age 34", who says that she went to dwell in the house of Daniel Akehurst in 1695. This Akehurst was a Quaker. He lived in Warwick (County, Virginia), but had been the Proprietor Archdale's Deputy in North Carolina Council, subsequently secretary for the Proprietors, and died in 1699. The York County (Virginia) records show that in 1701, "Mr. Miles Cary, Jr." was attending to business for "Ann Akehurst, executrix of Daniel Akehurst, deceased."

The will of DANIEL AKEHURST, Deputy in the Council, discloses that he probably left no male descendants. In his will he mentions only his wife Ann and daughter Filla Christy Akehurst, and directs that his estate be delivered to Thomas Symonds for his daughter's use, his wife Ann and Symonds be named his executors. The will was probated in Warwick County, Virginia, and was witnessed by Mary Cary and Miles Cary. 1-133.

PETER ADAMS, of Chewan County, in his will of 1745 (1-167), speaks therein of his brother Jehn, of Wrentham, New England. If the family of ADAMS, to which two Presidents belong ever had representation in the South, the names of the Chewan Adamses, suggest they perhaps may have belonged. Peter was a common name in the Presidents' family.

BAKER FAMILY. HENRY BAKER, "merchant of Isle of Wight County, 1703, mentioned on 2-568 as the father of the HENRY BAKER mentioned in most of the other items appearing under the name. He son died at BUCKLANDS in CHOWAN COUNTY in 1739, and left, among other children a third HENRY BAKER, who inherited BUCKLANDS, which fell in HERTFORD when that county was organized. There as still another HENRY BAKER, not of this family, who died in SUREY COUNTY, VA. in 1700.

The first HENRY BAKER, believed to have been a son of LAWRENCE BAKER, was a wealthy and influential merchant on Lewne's Creek Plantation in Isle of Wight County, Virginia, and a close neighbor of the HARDYS, (Of Hardy's Mill), BLOUNTS and BRYANS, who came to North Carolina from the same locality. He was closely connected with MAJ. NICHOLAS HILL, whose widow Silvester Bennett Hill, a niece of GOV. RICHARD BENNETT, in her will in 1707 (W. & M. (1) 7 p. 254) mentions "My loving friend Mary, wife of HENRY BAKER," and "My God-Daughter, MARY, daughter of HENRY and MARY BAKER." HENRY BAKER (of Isle of Wight Co. Va.) died there in 1712, leaving children HENRY, JAMES, LAWRENCE, WILLIAM, SARAH, MARY, CATHERINE and ELIZABETH (Ibid). He served on the county Court of Isle of Wight County in 1685, 1698 and 1702; was Burgess in 1692, 1693, and was lieutenant Colonel of Isle of Wight Militia, being 67 years old at the time of his death. He ave his oldest son, HENRY BAKER, 2,500 acres of land at BUCKLANDS, in North Carolina. This later Henry Baker, before moving to Chowan County, N. C., served as Sheriff of Henrison County in Virginia, was Captain of Militia, and as Burgess from Henrison County in 1723-26. He was twice married, first to Angelica Bray, daughter of Col. David Bray, son of Col. James Bray, of JAMES CITY COUNTY, Va., member of the Council in 1690, second, to RUTH GRANGERY, daughter of EDMUND GRANGERY, of Pasquotank County; his children by both marriages being HENRY, JOHN, BLAKE, DAVID, ADOCK, SARAH, RUTH and MARY. Mary married TSCHEANES DE GRAFFENHED, the grandson of the old BARON who founded NEW BERN. HENRY BAKER, of the third generation, also an older son married CATHERINE COOTE and died in 1770, leaving HENRY, (IV) BRAY and LAWRENCE, the last born at BUCKLANDS in 1745, member of the Provincial Congress of N. C. This HENRY IV BAKER married as his second wife ANNA MARIA BURGESS, who died in 1808, and they were the parents of DR. JOHN BURGESS BAKER (b. 1802) who resided at GATESVILLE, where he died in 1837, the father of GEN. LAWRENCE S. BAKER (b. 1830), who married ELIZABETH PAUL HENDERSON.

BLOUNT FAMILY. The BLOUNTS, like the BAKERS and many others who settled in the old AL-EMARIE PRECINCT, were from ISLE OF WIGHT COUNTY, VIRGINIA. According to family tradition there were "three brothers", who were the emigrants. Traditions are often erroneous, but diligent research, in this instance, confirms the stereotyped phrase. There is a mere scintilla of evidence that they were the sons of a THOMAS BLOUNT, who also settled on Lewne's Creek Plantation, at confirmative records have not been found by this compiler. The theory sounds reasonable and logical. The three brothers were (1) JAMES (2) THOMAS and (3) RICHARD BLOUNT. James and Thomas Blount were the ancestors who came to North Carolina, while Richard Blount appears to have remained in Virginia.

Mr. Hathaway on page 34 of Volume 1, tells us that there is evidence that JAMES BLOUNT - as living with his family in ISLE OF WIGHT COUNTY, Virginia in 1660; John Bennett Boddie in his Seventeenth Century Isle of Wight", on page 567, says that "JAMES BLOUNT sold JOHN ROSS seven and of cattle in Isle of Wight County May 13, 1673" quoting from the record. The will of JAMES BLOUNT was proven in CHOWAN PRECINCT, N. C. July 17, 1686 (1-34) and he left children, JAMES, JOHN, THOMAS, ANN and ELIZABETH. Ann married a SLOUGH and Elizabeth married a HAWKINS. In some enlightening notes Mr. Hathaway has taken some pains to review the descendants of this JAMES BLOUNT. There is little that any writer could possibly add to this.

As for THOMAS BLOUNT, the light is not quite so clear. From the notes it appears that he was called "Jr.", who married MARY, the widow of JOSEPH SCOTT, apparently in Virginia somewhere. Thus he must have been a nephew of JAMES and a son of James' brother THOMAS BLOUNT. Was he the THOMAS BLOUNT who lived on Kendrick's Creek in Tyrrell County and died there in 1701, leaving wife MARY and "all my children"? He is seemingly the father of the Blount who was brother-in-law of GEORGE HILL READING, of Bath County, who in his will in 1734, mentions his nephews JOHN and JACOB BLOUNT, and of BENJAMIN BLOUNT, who "was brother of JACOB BLOUNT and son of THOMAS BLOUNT", son in law of KATHANIEL EVERETT (or AVERTT), but who also may have married a READING. These facts and the fact that he (BENJAMIN) left will in TYRRELL COUNTY in 1739, proved in 1740, indicates strongly that he was one of the sons of THOMAS BLOUNT who married MARY SCOTT and died in Tyrrell in 1701. Since this BENJAMIN had a son JACOB, was he not the JACOB who married ANBARA GRAY "of the THOMAS BLOUNT line" mentioned by Mr. Hathaway (1-523.)

In discussing the JAMES BLOUNT line Mr. Hathaway on (1-522) makes it clear that the JACOB BLOUNT who married BARBARA GRAY, was not of that line, but of the "THOMAS BLOUNT line", so that, if we eliminate the RICHARD BLOUNT family, of Virginia, unless THOMAS BLOUNT of TYRRELL was JACOB'S ancestor, then Jacob must have been a "waif", which we know he was NOT. This JACOB BLOUNT was the father of two sons, both of whom were Governors of Tennessee, and otherwise greatly esteemed and remembered in the "Annals" of that commonwealth. In one of the histories of that State, widely quoted as an authority, it is stated:

"In 1669, THOMAS BLOUNT, great grandfather of WILLIAM BLOUNT, with two brothers, emigrated to Virginia, where one of the brothers settled and became the head of a long line of descendants. The other two brothers moved to North Carolina and settled in the vicinity of ALBEMARLE. JACOB BLOUNT, father of WILLIAM BLOUNT, was born in BERTIE COUNTY, N. C., in 1726, and was married to BARBARA GRAY, a lady of Scotch ancestry in 1744, by whom he had eight children. On the death of his wife he married a daughter of EDWARD SAITEN, by which union there were five children. JACOB BLOUNT was a member of the North Carolina Assembly in 1775-76. His death occurred at his country seat in Pitt County in 1789. WILLIAM BLOUNT, eldest son of JACOB BLOUNT, was born in BERTIE COUNTY, N. C., March 26, 1749. He was married February 12, 1778 to MARY, a daughter of COL. CALEB GRAINGER. He and his father (JACOB) participated in the battle of the Alamance, May 16, 1771, and all the brothers were leading spirits in the revolutionary war. His half-brother, Willie, was Judge of the Supreme Court of Tennessee, and Governor of the State from 1809 to 1815. From 1780 to 1790 William Blount was a member of the General Assembly of North Carolina, and in 1783-34 and 1786-37 of the Continental Congress. Governor William Blount was appointed Territorial Governor of Tennessee by General George Washington in 1790," etc.

Without ever having seen a list of the children of Jacob Blount, or an account of his immediate parentage, it occurs to the compiler that he was the JACOB, son of BENJAMIN BLOUNT of Tyrrell County who died in 1740, and that among other sons he had WILLIAM, (b. 1749) JOHN GRAY (b. 1752), READING (b. 1757), THOMAS (b. 1759), and by his second marriage, WILLIE (b. 176). Also there was evidently a JACOB, date of birth not found, who went to Tennessee, after his brothers, and resided there for a time, at Knoxville, since his name appears there on the county records.

RICHARD BLOUNT, the third one of the original brothers, (said to have been the emigrant to Virginia) remained in Virginia, where his name occurs on the records a number of times. His wife was MARY (last name unknown), who after the death of RICHARD BLOUNT became the wife of THOMAS FLOOD, then married JOHN WASHINGTON, of Surry County, and after he died, married it is said, the fourth time, a CHARLES FORD. By Richard Blount and wife MARY there was only one son, THOMAS BLOUNT whose will was proven in Surry County, Virginia, March 7, 1709. This THOMAS BLOUNT married (1) ELIZABETH BRIGGS, and (2nd) PRISCILLA BROWNE, the widow of RIVER JORDAN, of the COL. GEORGE JORDAN family. It is probable that THOMAS BLOUNT had no children by PRISCILLA (Browne) JORDAN, his second wife, who after his death married WILLIAM THOMAS, of SURRY COUNTY, grandson of MAJ. NICHOLAS HILL heretofore mentioned. THOMAS BLOUNT and his first wife ELIZABETH BRIGGS had these children: THOMAS, RICHARD, WILLIAM, HENRY, BENJAMIN, ELIZABETH a. BOWELL ED - MUNDs, MARY m. JOHN FLOOD and another daughter (name unknown) who married JOEL BARKER. It would be tiresome to extend this line further, here, suffice to say, that many of them lived in SURRY and BRUNSWICK COUNTY, the son-in-law HOWELL EDMUNDS (who married ELIZABETH BLOUNT) being the Sheriff of that county in 1727-28, and the ancestor of THOMAS EDMUNDS who married a daughter of the distinguished lawyer THOMAS ELDRIDGE, of Brunswick.

BRYAN FAMILY. The BRYANS also came from ISLE OF WIGHT COUNTY, VIRGINIA, and they were all of the same parent stock. In Mr. Hathaway's accounts (independent of the actual records) he deals with different branches of the family, such as the William Bryan record 1-577 1-564, the EDWARD BRYAN family 2-325, the JESSE BRYAN family 2-557, etc. No one need take what this compiler says seriously, if they disagree, but, an intense study of the Bryan family has convinced me that what is said here is true.

HODGES COUNCIL, who made his will in Isle of Wight County, Virginia, in 1699, was the grandfather of nearly all of the Bryans of this record. His daughter CHRISTIAN HODGES married EDWARD BRYAN in Isle of Wight County, probably by 1655. The wife of HODGES COUNCIL was LUCY HARDY, a member of the HARDY FAMILY who owned the old HARDY MILL on Lawne's Creek Plantation in Isle of Wight County, acquired by GEORGE HARDY in 1646-7, away back in the "dark ages" of Virginia History. This EDWARD BRYAN was the grandfather of EDWARD, NEEDHAM, JESSE, SIMON, JOHN, WILLIAM and most of the BRYANS of this remarkable record. RICHARD BRYAN, who while his name occurs once or twice on the records, "beat it" to the upper reaches of the Rappahannock Country and settled in KING GEORGE COUNTY, and became the ancestor of WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN, through the marriage of one of his descendants with a LILLARD. He was one of the sons, I think of EDWARD BRYAN and his wife CHRISTIAN HODGES. This compiler has the complete record, stored away in his files. So, thus it happens, that the BRYANS are all descendants of the old HARDY MILL neighborhood, marked only on the older maps of the lower side of the JAMES RIVER in Virginia. The account of the English ancestry of the BRYANS shown on or at 2-536, may be a clue to the English ancestry and the origin of the family, but throws no light on details and is therefore of little value. The name was spelled BRIAN in England, and it was from this family that the redoubtable sea-faring old warrior, BRIAN HARRISON, related to the Harrisons into which the Bryans afterwards so often married, obtained his name.

BURTON FAMILY. HUTCHINS BURTON married TABITHA MINGE (2-154). In York County, Va. CUTLETT, THOMAS will (1706) 1-37.

GOV. THOMAS CARY and the CARY REBELLION. THOMAS CARY (according to WHEELER'S) was appointed deputy governor by Sir Nathaniel Johnston. The Lords Proprietors disapproved of the choice and directed their Deputies to select one of their own number as Governor of North Carolina Deputies selected WILLIAM GLOVER. Cary, who was selected as deputy governor, had been collector of rents of the Lords Proprietors, and had neglected to settle his accounts. For awhile he tried to yield to the sway of Glover, but, aided by his friends, he seized the records of the Province, and proclaimed himself governor.

The Colony was now a scene of anarchy; the laws were suspended and justice fled. The respectable portion of the colony adhered to Glover, while Cary possessed the force. A General Assembly was called, which met at Captain Hecklefield's, on Little River, to decide this vexed question. Members appeared under writs of election issued by President Glover; while another set appeared under writs of election issued by President Cary. Glover and Cary sat in separate rooms and their respective councils. Great confusion prevailed, and the partisans of Glover, irritated by the persecutions from Cary and his adherents, sought refuge in Virginia. Thus was the Colony of North Carolina, for a time, again under a domination contrary to the proprietary government. At this period EDWARD HYDE arrived with the commission of Lieutenant Governor; but Cary refused to surrender. With an armed brig and a smaller vessel he made an attempt upon KENTON, but was repulsed and retired to BATH. The proprietors called upon Governor Spotswood, of Virginia, who by July 1 had succeeded in quieting the rebellion. HYDE was appointed governor the next year and issued a proclamation in 1712, granting a pardon to all the insurgents, except THOMAS CARY, JOHN FOR-BES and three others.

According to a dependable authority, COL. THOMAS CARY, the "rebel" of 1711, was a son of John Cary, of Chesping Wycumb, county Bucks, England, and was a step-son of JOHN ARCDALIE, the Red Quaker, called, I believe, one of the most popular of the proprietary governors of North Carolina, who had poured oil on the "troubled water" brought about by the CULPEPPER REBELLION.

CARTER FAMILY. These CARTERS were from VIRGINIA, as evidenced by a deed mentioned on 2-156; that they were connected with the old "King" Carter family is likely. Genealogists have hunted in vain for actual proof that the Col. John Carter, of the Watanga settlement in Tennessee was related to the LANDON CARTER family of Virginia, which seems reasonable, since his eldest son was named Landon, evidently for some forbear. On the Tennessee records the name John, Isaac, Hugh, Jesse and Wylie Carter have repeatedly appeared for over 150 years, and this record shows 2-155, 2156 identical names were borne by the Bertie Carters. It appears that the Carter genealogists have been looking in the wrong place for the ancestors of this family.

CHARLTON FAMILY. Originally this was an "Eastern Shore" family in Accomas County, Virginia, from whence came many of the early emigrants to the old ALBEMARLE PRECINCT in North Carolina.

CHEW FAMILY. The Chew family came originally to YORK COUNTY, Virginia. From their members of the family migrated, some to North Carolina, some to the falls of the Rappahannock at Fredericksburg, Va., some to the vicinity of Winchester, some to Maryland. The Maryland Chews intermarried with some of the first families of that commonwealth.

JONATHAN CHRISTMAS was also from YORK COUNTY, VIRGINIA, a descendant, possibly even grandson of old DOCTORIS WILLIAM CHRISTMAS, of YORKTOWN, whose will was proven in 1654, witness by PETER STARKEY, ancestor of the Starkeys who went down into North Carolina. It seems reasonable that Peter Starkey was son-in-law of Doctoris Christmas, of Yorktown, and that the distinguished Starkeys of North Carolina may have acted as the magnet that brought hither this JONATHAN CHRISTMAS. WILLIAM CHRISTMAS was a noted landscape architect and city planner in the old North State, perhaps a hundred years ahead of the times, who laid out the cities of WASHINGTON and the State Capitol, RALEIGH. ROBERT CHRISTMAS, of this same clan, migrated to the State of GEORGIA, following the American Revolution, where he was one of the members of the Court in Greene County before whom the trial of ELIJAH CLARKE was held, who was charged with some irregularities, while the court saw fit to waive in favor of the gallant old revolutionary patriot.

COBB FAMILY. The Cobb family of this record originated in YORK COUNTY, VIRGINIA, and in Isle of Wight County. William Blount, the distinguished member of the Philadelphia Congress, and later Territorial Governor of Tennessee, son of JACOB BICURT, presided over the first court ever held West of the Blue Ridge at the home of WILLIAM COBB, on the banks of the Watanga river. It can be no mere co-incidence that the site of this old COBB home is within a stone's throw of the old home and the family cemetery where COL. JOHN CARTER, mentioned above, with his son LANDON is buried, in Carter County, Tennessee.

COLE FAMILY. There is a reference on 2-151 to WILLIAM COLE, Justice of WARWICK COUNTY, Virginia. He was not only a Justice of Warwick, where MILES CARY, a cousin of COL. THOMAS CARY, was Clerk, but was also Secretary of the Colony of Virginia. The James Cary of our NORTH CAROLINA RECORD appears to have been contemporaneous with this distinguished William Cole - perhaps a brother. The suggestive items in Mr. Hathaways records that lead one to conclude that they are of the same family, is frequent references to the LEIGHS, who married into the family of the old Justice of Warwick. This COLE family is the one from which came DOLLY PAYNE, daughter of JOHN PAYNE and MARY COLE, who became the famous DOLLY (PAYNE) HARRISON, one of our "first ladies" and wife of JAMES MADISON. Dolly's grandparents lived in Hanover County at what was called the "Coles Hill". Their North Carolina cousins were some distance away, and the genealogists, on account have long overlooked them.

COOPER FAMILY. Old man JUSTINIAN COOPER, according to his will, apparently left no direct male descendants when he died in Isle of Wight County, but the Coopers of this North Carolina record bear the earmarks of his family, in their associates and intermarriages. The wife of Justinian Cooper was a HARRISON, and there have been innumerable connections since that time between the Harrison and Cooper families.

COTTON FAMILY. This is another ISLE OF WIGHT COUNTY family. In his "Seventeenth Century Isle of Wight" John Bennett Riddie says: John Cotton married Martha, daughter of WILLIAM GODWIN. He owned two hundred acres in Isle of Wight in 1704, but afterwards moved to Hansemon and then to NORTH CAROLINA. He may have been a brother or relative of THOMAS COTTAGE, who made his will in Surry (Va.) in 1718, and leaves "wife Mary my plantation and land and after her death to my cousin Thomas Cotton, son of Walter Cotten and Elizabeth his wife. His will was witnessed by John Barker, Sr., John Johnson and Grace Bailey. One of John Cotten's sons married Sarah, widow of William Bridgers of Northampton (County, N. C.), and William Bridgers mentions his father John Dew and his brother William Bryant (BRYANT?) in his will. This John Dew was probably the son of Capt. Thomas Dew, of Hansemond, Speaker of the House of Burgesses.

JOHN CULPEPPER and the "CULPEPPER REBELLION". John Culpepper, prior to the event here recorded, had been surveyor-general of South Carolina (Wheeler), and one MILLER, preceded Governor Eastchurch into North Carolina, holding the triple office of governor, secretary and collector. The people were aroused by this man's extortion and tyranny, and led on by the redoubtable JOHN CULPEPPER they seized the president and six members of the council and slapped them in jail; then they called a Legislature, appointed courts of justice, and exercised all rights and powers of government for two years. When Eastchurch arrived his authority was defeated. He died before the Governor of Virginia could send him aid. JOHN CULPEPPER was tried of his offenses in England, and acquitted, then Harvey took over and John Jenkins was appointed to succeed him. One of Culpepper's associates was Receiver General and another was no less a person than GEORGE DURANT a Judge of the Court.

GOV. ROBERT DANIEL. The popular conception of Governor Daniel's genealogical history is that he was born in England, whereas the weight of the suggestive, if not positive evidence is that he was born in York or Warwick counties, in Virginia. No one has been able to determine the exact year in which MILES CARY, the emigrant, arrived in Virginia, but it was probably between 1644-5 at least. He was from Bristol, England, and brought over with him his "known kinsman" ROGER DANIEL and his son ROGER DANIEL JR. The latter was the father of GOV. ROBERT DANIEL, who with two brothers, JOHN and WILBERT fled to the BARBADOES to escape the wrath of HERKELEY after the rebellion stirred up by NATHANIEL BACON. Wilbert Daniel remained in the Island only a few months.

ter which he returned to Virginia. Prior to his going there on November 13, 1678, he had been one of the subscribing witnesses to the will of HENRY ISHAM, ^{2d} Vorina, in Henrico County, whose wife was the widow Katherine Royal, and whose son HENRY ROYAL in 1693 witnessed with HENRY DANIEL (uncle of Governor Robert) the will of his step son HENRY COPELAND, in Elizabeth City County. John Daniel, the other brother, remained in the Barbadoes for some time and the James Parish Records there show the birth of two sons John (in 1678) and THOMAS (1679). HENRY DANIEL had married DOROTHY CHAMBERLAINE, sister of EDWARD FYE CHAMBERLAINE, by whom he had one son, ROBERT; and JOHN DANIEL, his brother, married ANN _____. Thomas Daniel, born 1679 married ELIZABETH LANIER, daughter of THOMAS LANIER (who was also living for a time on the Island) and both Thomas Daniel and Thomas Lanier died in TYRRELL COUNTY, W. C. about 1750, as disclosed by these Hathaway records. Robert Daniel's first wife died before he sailed for the "MARY" for the Carolinas in April 1679, bringing with him to Charleston his housekeeper and servant MARY COOPER and his son, ROBERT, a child-in-arms at that time.

Arriving in the Province of the Carolinas, Robert Daniel married a second wife, SARAH GAN, by whom he had several children, including SARAH (b. 1703), married Algernon Wilson; MARMADUKE DANIEL, MARTHA (b. 1704); JOHN DANIEL, born (1707) and ANN DANIEL, born (1710), according to the Annals of the Parish of St. Thomas and St. Dennis, of Charleston, S. C. SARAH DANIEL died July 31, 1721.

DOROTHY CHAMBERLAINE, the first wife of ROBERT DANIEL, had a sister who appears to have been the wife of JOHN LEAR, Clerk of Nansemond County, Virginia, hence Robert Daniel and the old Clerk were brothers-in-law. Dorothy also had a nephew MARMADUKE CHAMBERLAINE, for whom Governor Daniel named his second son. ROBERT DANIEL, the Governor's oldest son, married and had a number of children and many descendants, while MARMADUKE DANIEL's descendants intermarried into the famous BUFFINGTON FAMILY, of South Carolina (originally from Spottsylvania County, Virginia) which in turn had representatives who intermarried with prominent Cherokee Indian families and scattered throughout Georgia, Alabama and later to the Indian Territory and Oklahoma.

ROBERT DANIEL in a distant way was a kinsman of THOMAS CARY, who was born in England, the son of Walter Cary, whose widow, after Walter's death, became the wife of that lovable character and Governor of North Carolina, following the Culpepper troubles, JOHN ARCHDALE, Thomas Cary being the step-son of JOHN ARCHDALE and a distant cousin of ROBERT DANIEL. Robert Daniel was a landgrave, a Lieutenant General and Deputy Governor of the Province of North Carolina from 1704 to 1708. Unostentatiously he was in sympathy with the Quakers, dissenters and others who had been barred from holding office and exercising other privileges as citizens and during his incumbency the first church in North Carolina was established and the first seeds of the whole-some policy of the separation of Church and State were sown. Strange to say, THOMAS CARY, step-son of the popular JOHN ARCHDALE, who was chosen against the wishes of the Proprietors to succeed Daniel, soon became a thorn in the flesh of the whole colony, was deposed by the deputies and refused to surrender the office to WILLIAM GLOVER who had been elected Governor in his place. When it was that the "double parliaments" met at the home of old JOHN HECKLEFIELD on LITTLE RIVER, Glover presiding in one room and Thomas Cary in another. The gallant ROBERT DANIEL sent his regrets and asked to be excused (1-454) from attendance at the session.

DARDEN FAMILY. This is an old ISLE OF WIGHT COUNTY family. In an excellent genealogical work containing a chart of this family the compiler finds this statement, which is typical of many such compilations: "STEPHEN DARDEN settled in Nansemond County, Va. in 1640, and his son Capt. JOHN DARDEN, revolutionary soldier, married MISS DANDRIDGE, sister of MARTHA WASHINGTON". From 1640 to the beginning of the revolution was 135 years, which is a long time for the son of a settler of 1640 to live and still be a revolutionary soldier. Captain JOHN, according to the same account had two sons, JOHN (also a revolutionary soldier) born in 1734, and JACOB the next birth in the family. STEPHEN DARDEN may have been the first American ancestor of the family, but certainly there were several generations between 1640 and the birth of any member of the clan who could possibly have served in the revolution. One JACOB DARDEN made his will in the Isle of Wight County in 1719. His wife was ANNE. He and Anne sold one-half of his patent to land in Isle of Wight to HENRY POPE in 1698. Jacob was alive and active in 1684, when he sold 100 acres to William Murphy in Isle of Wight County. (Boddie's 17th Century pp 635, 596.). After the death of Jacob Darden his wife Anne married a LEIGH and her will was proven in BEAUFORT, North Carolina, which shows JACOB had changed his residence from Virginia, or his widow did after his death. The will was proven in (1733) 1-58, and gives us the names of their children: SAMUEL, JACOB, JOSEPH, JAMES; daughter ANN married ABRAHAM ADAMS, and JANE DARDEN married a WATKINS; the son JACOB DARDEN married (according to John Bennett Boddie p. 217), a daughter of GEORGE WILLIAMSON and the grand-daughter of that well known character COL. JOSEPH BRIDGER. It is not only possible, but probable, reverting now to the published chart referred to above, that Jacob Darden, a son of Jacob and Miss Williamson, were the parents of the JACOB DARDEN who married MARY HILLIARD and had (1) ZEPHIA DARDEN who married JOSHUA BOUNDREE (2) CYNTHIA DARDEN who married ABRAHAM BRYAN (which one, I don't know) and JACOB DARDEN who never married. The JACOB who married MARY HILLIARD had a brother WILLIAM, one of whose daughters married MANNING BOUNDREE (an old N. C. family, of course), and a brother GEORGE married MARTHA BURCH and moved to GEORGIA after the revolution and they were the ancestors of the famous Texan STEPHEN HEARD DARDEN, well known in the annals of that commonwealth.

GEORGE DURANT. At the risk of having this work condemned, utterly, this compiler has long been convinced that one of the greatest genealogical tragedies of which he knows is the statement, long since perpetuated in print, that the wife of GEORGE DURANT was ANNE MARWOOD. Whether in Dr. Swen's monumental index, or the equally prolific and voluminous records of the provincial periods of North Carolina does the name MARWOOD appear. This name, obviously a scrivener's poor effort at writing the name "NORWOOD" in the old English style, has literally spoiled a great family history. A further statement, in the space available here, is not possible.

REV. DANIEL EARL. This man was an English Clergyman, who came to Virginia some-prior to 1756, when he succeeded REV. CLEMENT HALL as the Rector of ST. PAUL'S PARISH in town of EDENTON, which position he held until the time of his death in 1785 (1-542). His wife was ELIZABETH GREGORY, a member of an old and respected HANSEMOND COUNTY, Virginia, family, the daughter of JAMES GREGORY, who was a son of MAJ. JOHN GREGORY (16 Va. Mag. 203). REV.
 EARL and his wife ELIZABETH GREGORY had two children, both daughters. They were ANN EARL who left a will in CHOWAN COUNTY in 1796 (1-542) and ELIZABETH EARL who married CHARLES JOHNSON. Charles Johnson and Elizabeth Earl were the parents of ELIZABETH EARL JOHNSON who became the wife of DR. ALEXANDER HENDERSON, a son of PLEASANT HENDERSON and SARAH MARTIN. Their
 of old ISLE OF WIGHT COUNTY, Va. merchant, heretofore mentioned in these notes. Rev. DANIEL EARL, in the spelling of his name, omitted the final "e" sometimes attached to the name EARLE in Virginia and South Carolina records, and so far as is known was not related to the EARLES of Westmoreland County, Va. and Spartanburg County, S. C. He evidently left no male descendants to carry on the name of EARL.

WILLIAM EATON. This William Eaton was born on SKEMONT CREEK near the York River in York County, Virginia. He was the son of SARAH PINKETHEMAN (daughter of William Pinkethman, a lawyer and tobacco merchant) and WILLIAM EATON. He had an older brother PINKETHEMAN EATON, who was mentioned in the will of their grandfather WILLIAM PINKETHEMAN, who died in 1713. His older brother PINKETHEMAN EATON had a son PINKETHEMAN EATON, who was born according to the Bruton Parish Register, in 1748. This was MAJ. PINKETHEMAN EATON, of the North Carolina Continental Line, who was WILLIAM EATON'S nephew. WILLIAM EATON, of this record, was one of the founders and a member of the first court of GRANVILLE COUNTY, N. C. SARAH PINKETHEMAN, mother of WILLIAM EATON, had a sister, REBECCA PINKETHEMAN, who married ROBERT COBBS as his first wife; after her death ROBERT COBBS married ELIZABETH ALLEN (daughter of DANIEL ALLEN) and this last couple were the parents of JAMES COBBS who married ROBERT JONES, JR. and they were the parents of GEN. ALLEN JONES and WILLIE JONES famous in North Carolina revolutionary history. MARTHA COBBS, another daughter of ROBERT COBBS and ELIZABETH ALLEN, married SAMUEL WELDON, of HENRICO COUNTY (Dale Parish) and they were the parents of DANIEL WELDON who married MARTHA EATON, one of the daughters of WILLIAM EATON, of GRANVILLE COUNTY. After the death of his wife SARAH COBBS, Robert Jones, Jr., father of Gen.
 Jones and Willie Jones and their sister CHARLOTTE JONES, married MARY EATON, another daughter of WILLIAM EATON, of Granville. By this last marriage ROBERT JONES JR. (who was attorney general of North Carolina) had one daughter ELIZABETH JONES (half-sister of ALLEN and WILLIE JONES) who died August 10, 1781, BENJAMIN WILLIAMS, Governor of North Carolina from 1799 to 1802, who resided in MOORE COUNTY.

In the Department of ARCHIVES and HISTORY, at Raleigh, N. C. some years ago this commissioner found an old record book (the first, apparently), a mere fragment of which gave a brief account of the organization of the original Granville county. The first entry, in a faded state, was an account under date of September 3, 1746, contains an abstract of the Act of the Assembly providing for the erection of the upper part of Edgecomb County into a new county by the name of GRANVILLE. It provided that the courthouse should be erected at ROCKY CREEK, "as near as may be to the BOILING SPRING". WILLIAM PERSON and WEST HARRIS were appointed commissioners to confer with the court of EDGECOMBE County, and PERSON was appointed Sheriff of the new county. Court to meet at the home of EDWARD JONES, and so it met there on December 2, 1746. Present at the first meeting were the following persons: WILLIAM ETON (Eaton), JOHN MARTIN, JAMES PAYNE, EDWARD JONES, JAMES WALKER and GIDEON MACON. At a second meeting, those present were: JAMES PAYNE, JOHN WADE, JOHN MARTIN, WEST HARRIS and JONATHAN WHITE. At that time the territory embraced in GRANVILLE included (in addition to other territory) all of the present counties of GRANVILLE, VANCE, WAR-REN and FRANKLIN counties.

EDWARD JONES, at whose home the first meetings of the court were held in Granville county, came from Virginia, and at that time lived, as near as can be ascertained in the Northwestern part of what is now Franklin County near Shocco Springs - then referred to as the BOIL-ING SPRINGS. His wife was ABIGAIL SUGER, the daughter of a French Huguenot family who had settled in that colony at Manikintown, in Virginia. From the will of Edward Jones, proven in Granville county in 1750, we learn that his children were SUGAR, JAMES, EDWARD, DANIEL, SARAH, OBEEDIENCE, JOHN and PRISCILLA. Priscilla Jones married GIDEON MACON, who was one of the members of the first Granville county court, as shown above. He was the brother of MARTHA MACON, of New Kent county, who married ORLANDO JONES, son of Rev. Rowland Jones, of Bruton Parish in York County, Va.
 These were Martha Washington's near relatives. GIDEON MACON'S daughter, ANN HUNT MACON became the wife of CAPT. JOHN ALSTON of the family so often mentioned in these records. CAPT. SUGAR JONES, son of EDWARD JONES, played an important role in the early Indian Wars in North Carolina. His wife was SARAH FRANKLIN, who after his death married NATHANIEL HENDERSON, son of JUDGE RICHARD HENDERSON and brother of PLEASANT HENDERSON, who married SARAH MARTIN, daughter of Col. James Martin, of Snow Creek, N. C.

COL. NATHANIEL EDWARDS, who in 1769 borrowed a horse from HENRY DELANEY to watch a contest owned by COL. WILLIE JONES, of Halifax (2-302) and which operation finally resulted in a lawsuit with resort to the courts (2-468) was a son in law of WILLIAM EATON, the old SHERIFF of Granville County, N. C., and member of its first court, having married JANE EATON, his daughter (1-41). Col. Edwards lived in BRUNSWICK COUNTY, Virginia, which, of course, was not far away.
 He had the following children, as disclosed by his will written in 1771: SARAH (m. AMBROSE RILEY) Isaac, William, Anne (m. RIDLEY), REBECCA (wife of ALLEN JONES, of "Mount Gallant" in Southampton County, N. C., and brother of Col. WILLIE JONES, who owned the horse he wanted to fight) and Elizabeth Edwards, who is said to have married HENRY WILLIS. Allen Jones' daughter, REBECCA EDWARDS JONES married (1) LUNSFORD LONG, son of Col. Nicholas Long, and (2) CADWALLADER
 JONES, of the PETER JONES family.

FAGAN, RICHARD. Division of his estate in TYRRELL COUNTY in (1777) names heirs 1-449.

FAIR, ONEDIAH, was headright of JOSEPH PEIRY in (1701) 2-300.

FAIRCLOTH, EDWARD, called "son" in the will of PHILLIP TORRSEY (1727) 1-78.

JOSEPH GLAISTER who died in 1718 leaving will (1-46) was a Quaker Minister and a mer associate and contemporary of the JORDANS of Isle of Wight County, Virginia. The record of the Virginia Yearly Meeting Book (1702-1844) has the entry for July 18, 1709: "Benjamin Jordan and JOSEPH GLAISTER are appointed to draw up the state of this meeting in order for 1710. They are also appointed Country Correspondents", also on the 23rd day and 7th month, 1711, minutes say "Benjamin Jordan, Clerk, with JOSEPH GLAISTER, is continued as Correspondent" was at "Chuckatuck". At "Levy Neck", July 19, 1708 an entry says "Benjamin Jordan and JOSEPH GLAISTER are appointed to draw up the state of this meeting," etc. It is thus interesting to note these items showing conclusively that this JOSEPH was the same one who lived in the general neighborhood of Capt. Christopher Lawrence's Plantation, from whence came the Blounts, Whit Harrison and so many others on this record. JOSEPH had a sister, MARY TOMS (1-79) and his daughter SARAH became the wife of WYKE HUNNICUTT and thus the ancestress of a numerous family that name found in nearly all of the "deep South" States.

GODDIN FAMILY. On these records the name is sometimes spelled GODDIN, and on the Virginia records sometimes GODIN, but on the old Family Bible in Virginia (1 Tyler 172) it is spelled GODDIN. In the Fairfax Harrison account it is spelled GODDING, but DAVID GODDIN's name on the old New Kent St. Peter's Parish Register is spelled "GODDIN" long before 1700, although the exact date is not given there. From the "Harrisons of Skinnons" which deals much with the Jordans as well as the Harrisons - the same Jordans mentioned in the preceding note the author on page 7 gives an interesting incident, based on a lawsuit that arose between on JAMES HARRISON (son of the emigrant RICHARD) and old ISAAC GODDIN. ISAAC GODDIN was a Justice or Commissioner of the Peace in YORK COUNTY, VIRGINIA in 1678, when he had the "run in" with the obstreperous JAMES HARRISON, but it was not until 1686, some eight years later, that the participants in this neighborly litigation almost came to blows. Thereafter James was before MATTHEW HOWARD (Lord Biffingham) to give an account of his unseemly conduct, leaving that august presence loaded with a fine of 500 pounds of hard earned tobacco. At the hearing conducted with all due solemnity, it was brought out by the testimony of one SUSANNA BRITS a certain JOHN BERRY that the following events had occurred:

"That about the last of January, the past year (1685-6), deponents were at the house of ISAAC GODDIN, and there JAMES HARRISON came in the presence to borrow a rundlett of the said Goddin, and the said Goddin told him that he had never a one but a two gallon rundlett, and that would serve him he should have it". Harrison's answer was "Dam the rundlett, it is not for my use" and otherwise used certain threatening and abusive language to the said GODDIN which is set forth in its somewhat lurid detail. Whereupon the said GODDIN told him: "James, my are tied to keep the peace". Then the said JAMES HARRISON replied, exclaiming "God dam the and further "ye deponents sayeth not".

If the student of psychology will now turn to Vol. II of these remarkable records and read the numerous affidavits and depositions set forth on pages 208 to 217, and in other parts dealing with the "loyalists and Tories" of early revolutionary days, in which, coupled with the activities we find the name of WILLIAM BRINKAGE, THOMAS and JAMES HARRISON, DANIEL LINGGOTT and numerous other members of the HARRISON family he will be struck with the similarity of the conduct of this JAMES HARRISON who sued ISAAC GODDIN and the Harrisons involved in these troublesome events. It may not mean anything, but it is certainly singular and highly interesting.

WILLIAM GLOVER. This man who served as Deputy Governor in the hectic days when the troublesome THOMAS CARY attempted to rule or ruin, and thus precipitated the infamous "CARY-BELLION" came from the North side of the James River in Henrico County, Virginia, to Albemarle Precinct about 1691. With shelves of various source books and records from both North Carolina and Virginia, however, the compiler has been unable to discover the maiden name of his wife CATHERINE, who after his death married TOBIAS KNIGHT, and seems only to have borne her GLOVER husband one or two daughters. The idea has been advanced that his first wife may have been Mary Davis, and that THOMAS, JOSEPH and CHARLES WORTH GLOVER were sons of his by this first marriage (1-637, 1-460). This idea is suggestive and has some force, but proof is lacking. Deputy Governor WILLIAM GLOVER was a Justice in Henrico County in 1688, as the following item from page 279 of the Bound Volume of Records for Henrico for 1677-1692, shows:

"John Womack, accused by FRANCIS CARTER, to MR. WILLIAM GLOVER, one of ye Justices of this county * * being by said GLOVER bound over to this court, the said complaint referred to jury," etc. That he left there for parts unknown is revealed by the following item from page 404 of the Bound Record for 1682-1701:

"Captain WILLIAM RANDOLPH, deputy commander on the North Side JAMES RIVER (Henrico County, Virginia) representing to the court that by departure of MR. WILLIAM GLOVER, there is a platoon in his troops become void which cannot be supplied at present" etc. William Glover was a close friend of the Randolphs and is one of the witnesses to a transfer of patented lands in 1687 Henry Randolph Jr. to his sister MARGERY BRIGGS. And it is singularly interesting to note that WILLIAM GLOVER, GENT., of Henrico County, who had so much trouble in the Province of North Carolina with a certain THOMAS CARY, should have been intimate with and a neighbor to JOHN PLEASANTS, Virginia, who married DOROTHY, the daughter of another and different THOMAS CARY (but of a different family line), as witness the following item from the Henrico Records:

"JOHN PLEASANTS, of Henrico County, Gent., to JOHN ELLIS, same county, planter, convey a tract of land included in patent to MR. WILLIAM GLOVER, of same COUNTY, GENT., bearing date of April 1691, and by him (Glover) sold to JOHN ELLIS, and by him sold to JOHN PLEASANTS, the land being on the North side of James River, Henrico County, bounded N. E. by lands of JOHN and ROBERT BURTON. Nov. 1, 1701." Yes, William Glover's first wife might have been a DAVIS.

GRIMES FAMILY. The will of SAMUEL GRIMES in 1783 (2-336) suggests that the Grimes and the BRYANS were related. Sampson Grimes of Duplin County, married BATHSHEBA WINDER and their son JESSE GRIMES was born in 1788. He married twice and had a large family of children; one of his sons died with DAVID CROCKETT in the Alamo in Texas in 1836. GRIMES COUNTY, TEXAS, named for JESSE GRIMES, son of Sampson Grimes and Bathsheba Grimes of Duplin County, N. C.

HARRISON FAMILY. The numerous HARRISONS of this record are all seemingly the descendants of FOUR PERSONS of the name who came into ALBEMARLE PRECINCT shortly after RACON'S REBELLION out of VIRGINIA. They lived contiguously, were of the same generation and could have been, and probably were, brothers. At the time of their coming and always afterwards and until this good day they were related to the HILLS, SPEIGHTS, HENNETTS, SIMMONS, HARMONS, JOHNS, BRYANS, GROPLEYS, VINES and JONES FAMILIES. Their names were JOHN, ROBERT, THOMAS and EDWARD HARRISON. We know that THOMAS was born about 1645 and presumably the others related and consecutively about the same period, and they were therefore contemporaneous with the second BENJAMIN HARRISON, son of the Clerk of the Virginia Council in 1633, about whose origin practically nothing is known. In CHARLES CITY County at this particular period there was a certain WILLIAM HARRISON, whose sons they may have been, if an obvious speculation may be indulged. JOHN HARRISON died in CHOWAN in 1693. Children, WILLIAM, JOHN and ELIZABETH were named in his will (1-48).

ROBERT HARRISON died in ALBEMARLE in 1713 (1-232). His wife was ELIZABETH and his children ROBERT, JOSEPH, REBECCA (d. 1706 3-404), SARAH and ELIZABETH.

THOMAS HARRISON was born about 1645 (3-42, 1-139) and his first wife was ELIZABETH (3-301), though he appears to have married a second time to a widow JOANNA about 1680. His children were JOHN, THOMAS, HANNAH (1-52) and ELIZABETH (3-301).

EDWARD HARRISON is the most interesting of the four brothers (?), since he has managed to elude the sleuthing genealogists for nearly 300 years. He did NOT migrate to NEW ENGLAND, as so many of them have insisted, but after signing a petition of the followers of NATHANIEL RACON in Blissland Parish (of New Kent County, Va.) in 1677, he slipped quietly away with his family into ALBEMARLE COUNTY, N. C. where he joined his brother in law JOHN GROPLEY and other relatives, and lived happily ever afterwards. He had married a daughter of MR. LUKE GROPLEY, of London, a wealthy merchant, who after the death of his wife's mother, again married MARY BENNETT, the widow of the still wealthier THOMAS BLAND, a sister of SYLVESTER HILL, wife of MAJ. NICHOLAS HILL, of York County, Virginia, and daughter of EDWARD BENNETT an uncle of GOVERNOR RICHARD BENNETT. EDWARD HARRISON and his wife had three sons (1) WILLIAM (2) JONATHAN and (3) DANIEL HARRISON, some of whose descendants were as follows:

(1) WILLIAM HARRISON married SARAH VINES, daughter of JOHN VINES. His wife was a sister of ANNE VINES who married JOHN GROPLEY, and of THOMAS VINES who married MARY HILL (These last the grand - parents of ANN VINES who married ISAAC COLLIER, who had son MYHILL COLLIER who married a BENJAMIN HARRISON (see later). JOHN GROPLEY who married ANN VINES had a son VINES GROPLEY (1-39) and WILLIAM HARRISON had a son VINES HARRISON (1-48). In order to convey some idea of the dates applicable it is appropriate to say that MARY GROPLEY a sister of VINES GROPLEY married JAMES KEASLEY (son of ROBERT KEASLEY and wife SARAH) in 1675, and when VINES GROPLEY died about 1720, ROBERT KEASLEY (son of JAMES?) was the administrator of his estate. The children of WILLIAM HARRISON and his wife SARAH VINES were JOHN (3-444), JOSEPH, WILLIAM and EDMUND HARRISON, and a daughter SARAH who married HUMPHREY FELTUS (1-48). Likewise VINES HARRISON.

(2) JONATHAN HARRISON in 1701 owned lands on the North side of ALBEMARLE RIVER and among his close neighbors was ARGYLE or ARGALL SIMMONS and WILLIAM HARRIS and his wife ANNE (1-4, 1-35). JONATHAN HARRISON was the father of at least two sons, DANIEL HARRISON and JOSEPH HARRISON, who married ELIZABETH SIMMONS. DANIEL HARRISON, son of Jonathan, bought lands from his cousin JOSEPH HARRISON, the son of (3) DANIEL HARRISON in 1729 (2-447). The SIMMONS family, to which ARGALL SIMMONS belonged, lived in ST. ANDREW'S PARISH in Brunswick County, Virginia, and perhaps acted as the magnet that drew JOSEPH, son of JONATHAN back to that part of the country before his death. The records of that period indicate that a member of these HARRISONS went along at the same time. At any rate in the year 1763, JOSEPH HARRISON died in HENRYS-CK COUNTY (Va.) leaving a will in which he named six children: WILLIAM, DANIEL, BENJAMIN, SIMMONS, PATTY and NANCY HARRISON who married HENRY MANGUM JR. (later a prominent N. C. family). WILLIAM HARRISON (son of JOSEPH, son of JONATHAN, son of WILLIAM) is said (by the family genealogists) to have married ELIZABETH SIMMONS, an evident error, since that was his mother's name though the old family Bible shows her name was HANNAH, and gives him a daughter CHLOE and a daughter ESTHER (3-472). According to the family genealogical account he and his wife ELIZABETH (sic) had JOSEPH, BENJAMIN, ANN, ELIZABETH (m. JOHN HILL BRYAN), SUSANNAH (m. WILLIAM BRYAN), ARY (m. SPEIGHT), REBECCA (m. WILLIAM ISLER), FENILOPE HARRISON and SIMMONS HARRISON. The last, SIMMONS HARRISON, was born in JONES COUNTY, N. C. in 1777 and died in SUMPTER COUNTY, Ga., in 1855. He married HOLLAND SPEIGHT (b. 1781 in JONES COUNTY N. C.) and they had children: NANCY SPEIGHT HARRISON (m. JACOB GILES), MARY R. HARRISON (m. NATHAN BRYAN BUSH), ELIZABETH (m. JOSEPH PIERCE), REBECCA (m. JAMES BRYAN SHINE), HOLLAND (m. WHITE), MARILDA (m. WILLIAM HARRISON GREEN, a cousin), BENJAMIN HARRISON, SIMMONS (b. 1817), LARISSA (m. RICHARD) and SUSAN CHARLOTTE HARRISON (m. ELLIAR KEASLEY BLALOCK). This last couple were the parents of MRS. R. W. FINLEY, of AUSTIN, TEXAS.

(3) DANIEL HARRISON, died leaving a will in CHOWAN, proved January 14, 1726-7, in which he mentions his son JOSEPH and wife and executrix ELIZABETH, "friend" HILL SAVAGE and co-executor EDWARD PADGETT. William Williams, John Falconer and Martha Hammond were the witnesses. (1-50 - GRIMES p. 183).

NOTE: WILLIAM HARRISON married SARAH VINES. Their son was JONATHAN HARRISON, who had son JOSEPH HARRISON married ELIZABETH SIMMONS; and they in turn had BENJAMIN HARRISON, who he books say, had a daughter JUDITH HARRISON. THOMAS VINES (brother of SARAH) married MARY HILL, whose grand-daughter, ANNE VINES who married ISAAC COLLIER; and they in turn had MYHILL COLLIER who married JUDITH HARRISON. Thus the two lines run back together once more; a trait of these families.

HARDY FAMILY. This family has already been partially mentioned in these notes under the head of "BRYAN FAMILY" (page 20). An exhaustive genealogical account of the HARDYS will be found on pages 216 to 280 of Landon C. Bell's "OLD FREE STATE" Volume II; which account, however omits the N. C. branch of the family entirely. The origin, however, is pretty well stated and the connections with numerous other families are clearly shown.

HILL FAMILY. The HILL FAMILY in all of its ramifications could not possibly be handled in a foot note, such as this purports to be, but the compiler will here make just a few brief observations, one of which is that the genealogy of the family which appears at 3-312 to 3-314, dealing with the family of a certain WILLIAM HILL is wholly inadequate to paint a picture of the Hills as a whole. This WILLIAM HILL whose family is connected with the FAISON, DUDLEY and other families is only one of a large group of persons of the name who were contemporaneous with him. He is mentioned as being "of Brunswick County, Virginia" because the latter days of his life was spent there, and only a small part of it in North Carolina, whence his descendants moved, and because he left a will in Brunswick County. The best account of his family will be found set out, beginning on page 86 of the Virginia Magazine of History & Biography Volume No. 45. A study of that article convinces the reader that the WILLIAM HILL in question came to Innsburg County, Virginia, from New Kent County, and that he was a brother in law of the famous Clement Riddle who married MARY HILL, evidently a daughter of ISAAC HILL (said to have married MARGARET JENNINGS in Middlesex County, Virginia in 1708.). An interesting item, however, in the Hathaway account, was the marriage of FRANCES DIANA FAISON to WILLIAM E. HILL fourth son of WILLIAM LANIER HILL, who was a grand-daughter of HENRY FAISON, member of an old family from YORK COUNTY, VIRGINIA; to NORTHAMPTON COUNTY, N. C. What was not known to the writer of the Hathaway Account, was the fact that the DUDLEY COUNTY FAISON family - a part of it, at least - transferred their citizenship from North Carolina to Texas. Among the early settlers in FAYETTE COUNTY, TEXAS, was HENRY FAISON, from North Carolina. In an old cemetery at LaGrange, Texas, which this writer has visited, he found a prominent tombstone or marker, reading as follows: "HENRY FAISON, Born in SAMPSON COUNTY, N. C., APRIL 6, 1824; Died at LA GRANGE, TEXAS on October 17, 1883." There are appended to this account at the bottom of 3-313, requests for certain information, among these being one asking for the "Ancestry of Christopher Dudley prior to 1828." The trouble about this is that one does not know WHAT CHRISTOPHER DUDLEY the writer had in mind. There were several of them. The one that was related to the writer collaterally was the father of the famous and distinguished HON. GUILFORD DUDLEY. Guilford Dudley's father CHRISTOPHER DUDLEY married ELIZABETH DANIEL, the youngest daughter of JOHN DANIEL, who died in GRANVILLE COUNTY, N. C. in 1762, a certified copy of whose will I have. The will of this CHRISTOPHER DUDLEY was copied by this writer personally from the records at HELEN, N. C. in 1938, it bearing the date 1777, and in it he names the following children: RAMSON DUDLEY, CHRISTOPHER DUDLEY, SAUL DUDLEY, LINCOLN DUDLEY, ANN DUDLEY (wife of HENRY MACHIN) GUILFORD DUDLEY, ELIZABETH DUDLEY or AGATHA DUDLEY. GUILFORD DUDLEY, HENRY MACHIN and O. DAVIS were the executors named. There is neither time nor space to go into it here, but the records show that GUILFORD DUDLEY, the son of this particular CHRISTOPHER DUDLEY was born in CAROLINE COUNTY, VIRGINIA, a tip which the genealogists are welcome to. GUILFORD DUDLEY died near NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE.

MEMUCAN HUNT. The name of his home on the outskirts of WILLIAMSTON in Granville County (now Vance) North Carolina was "BURNSIDE". By his familiars, such men as JUDGE JOHN L. LIAMS, RICHARD MULLOCK and ROBERT HURTON he was called "MOON" HUNT. When independence came to Colonies MEMUCAN HUNT was the first State Treasurer of North Carolina and was a member of the Provincial Congress. Doubtless MEMUCAN HUNT had a number of children, but this writer has been unable to supply their names, and only knows of two, DR. THOMAS HUNT and his brother WILLIAM HUNT. The old home "BURNSIDE" still stands in the old WILLIAMSTON settlement in Vance County, a few miles from the town of HUNTERSTON. DR. THOMAS G. HUNT, the son, inherited the place about 1820, after the death of MEMUCAN HUNT. It was sold to EDMOND HAMILTON before 1740, when DR. HUNT left North Carolina and came to TEXAS and settled in WASHINGTON COUNTY, at a place called "GAY HILL" not far from the present HENDERMAN, where he died and is buried, a fact that few people, and perhaps many descendants of the family know.

DR. THOMAS HUNT (son of MEMUCAN) married (1) BETTY DUKE, daughter of GREEN DUKE and his wife ELIZABETH WALKER, who was a planter of some distinction, it is said, in VIRGINIA. They had the parents of eight children: MARY HUNT, SALLY HUNT, JAMES HUNT, ELIZABETH HUNT, THOMAS HUNT, ALBERT HUNT, WILLIAM HUNT and JOHN HUNT. The son "JAMES HUNT" was DR. JAMES ANDERSON HUNT, was born in GRANVILLE COUNTY, N. C. Dec. 22, 1808, and died at CALDWELL, TEXAS, January 19, 1892. His parents were married in the year 1800. DR. James Anderson Hunt was a "BINGHAM" pupil, and obtained his medical education at TRANSYLVANIA UNIVERSITY, Lexington, Kentucky.

DR. JAMES ANDERSON HUNT (son of DR. THOMAS HUNT, son of MEMUCAN) married ANNA ADAMS BRIDGES, HARRISBURG, KENTUCKY, March 19, 1838. She was the daughter of JUDGE JOHN L. BRIDGES, Kentucky, and his wife MARY ADAIR, daughter of GOVERNOR JOHN ADAIR, of Kentucky. DR. Hunt and ADAMS BRIDGES were married at "WHITE HALL" near Harrisburg, Kentucky. They had the following children: WILLIAM, ELIZA, CATHERINE, ANNA, MARIAN, ISABELLA, HENRY, GALLIE, JOHN, BEN, HOWARD HUNT. BEN BRIDGES HUNT (son of DR. JAMES ANDERSON HUNT) was born at HARRISBURG, KY. March 19, 1857, and died at CALDWELL, TEXAS, in 1904. He married LAURA ELLI PARRIS and had the following children: JAMES DUDLEY, MABEL, WALTER, BEN BRIDGES, HOWARD HAMILTON, EDITH, GLADYS, WARREN and LAURA HELEN and ALMA HUNT.

BEN BRIDGES HUNT II, an attorney and writer of considerable note, and a commentator on current events who is widely quoted, resides in AUSTIN TEXAS, his home for many years past.

WILLIAM HUNT (another son of MEMUCAN HUNT) had one son MEMUCAN HUNT, born in GRANVILLE COUNTY, N. C., who emigrated to Texas, where he became Secretary of the Navy of the REPUBLIC OF TEXAS in Sam Houston's Cabinet. Memucan Hunt (son of William) married a HOWARD, and settled at Galveston. In addition to serving in the Cabinet of the Republic, Mr. Hunt was also, in the language of diplomacy, "Minister Plenipotentiary and Envoy Extraordinary, from the Republic of Texas to the United States of America," and was a Commissioner on the part of Texas to run the boundary line between Texas and the United States. Mr. Hunt, in 1845, was a candidate for the Constitutional Convention held for the purpose of writing a new Constitution for the State of Texas, but was defeated for the post by one BACHE, who was a grandson of BENJAMIN FRANKLIN. After his death this TEXAS MEMUCAN HUNT'S widow married at least twice. This particular branch of the Hunt family married with the KIFFERILL family, the descendants of which are numerous today in Texas.

IVES, THOMAS will (1751) CURRITUCK, wife MARY JOHN WOODHOUSE and JAS. PARKER wits. 1-330.

ISHAM FAMILY. The abstract of the will of JAMES ISHAM as shown (1-323) is not quite complete as that of the same will shown in GRIMES (p. 180) which is as follows:

ISHAM JAMES (DUPLIN COUNTY) Sons: JAMES, CHARLES. Daughters: MARGARET. Wife and Executrix: JANE. Executors: EVAN ELLIS and EDWARD HARRISON, JUNIOR. (Brothers in law). Witnesses: WILLIAM HOUSTON, WILLIAM MCKEE, JOHN DUHN. Clerk of the Court: JOHN DICKSON.

That gives us a little more light. It may be that the wife of JAMES ISHAM was JANE HARRISON, a sister of EDWARD HARRISON; or the wife of EDWARD HARRISON was a sister of JAMES ISHAM; that both JAMES ISHAM and EVAN ELLIS married HARRISONS, or else EVAN ELLIS had sisters who married EDWARD HARRISON and JAMES ISHAM. Anyway you imagine it, here was a brother in law relationship between JAMES ISHAM and EDWARD HARRISON.

The presence of a family by the name of ISHAM in DUPLIN COUNTY, N. C. in the middle of the eighteenth century, gives the genealogist a peg on which to hang a lot of unclaimed garments. Some of them have looked far and long, in vain, seeking to find how and where some of the HARRISONS acquired ISHAM as a given name, when the particular HARRISONS in which they were interested were seemingly no relation to the HARRISONS who married into the RANDOLPHS and ISHAMS of Virginia; and here we find a North Carolina family of HARRISONS, mixed up in marriage with an ISHAM FAMILY there. The name EDWARD suggests, of course, descent from the NEW ENGLAND (Mass.) EDWARD who married into the CROPLEY FAMILY, settled on ALBEMARLE SOUND and became the ancestor of a large group of the name, as shown on this record. (See p. 73 of this study).

JOHN HARRISON, somewhere in Virginia, married SARAH DANIEL, a daughter of JOHN DANIEL, who was in YORK COUNTY, and among the children of JOHN HARRISON and SARAH DANIEL was a son ISHAM, as shown by JOHN'S will in 1762. ISHAM HARRISON was a brother of JAMES HARRISON, who married ELIZABETH HAMPTON, and also had a son ISHAM, whose various descendants spread through SOUTH CAROLINA, MISSISSIPPI and on into TEXAS, where they are still numerous. WILLIAM HARRISON left will in NORTHAMPTON COUNTY, N. C. in 1786, and among children named in his will was a son ISHAM.

JACKSON FAMILY. JOHN JACKSON (1-7, 1-292), RICHARD JACKSON (1-470, 2-143) and WILLIAM JACKSON (1-54) were seemingly the ancestors of the numerous JACKSONS of this record. We are convinced that they were closely related to, if not direct descendants of RICHARD JACKSON, who patented lands on LAWNE'S CREEK in Isle of Wight County, Virginia, in 1641. This land adjoined land owned by GEORGE HARDY, JUSTINIAN COOPER (and his wife ANNE HARRISON) and one THOMAS and ALICE BENNETT. RICHARD JACKSON'S wife was a daughter of the last named couple. She was a sister of WILLIAM BENNETT (1-22) and GRACE BENNETT, the wife of the first GREEN HILL, was her niece. Another sister of the wife of RICHARD JACKSON married JOHN HARDY and was the ancestress of the HARDY FAMILY of N. C., and at least some of them, while her daughter married EDWARD BRYAN and became the grandmother of the old BRYANS of this record. ALICE BENNETT, the mother in law of RICHARD JACKSON, had first married a PIERCE, related in some way to CAPT. WILLIAM PIERCE, who came to Virginia with SIR THOMAS GATES in the year 1709, and was a member of the Virginia Council in 1631, and who also owned lands on MULBERRY LAND (in Warwick County) and LAWNE'S CREEK, in ISLE OF WIGHT. (See BODDIE'S SEVENTEENTH CENTURY ISLE OF WIGHT COUNTY, pp 289 to 294).

JARNIGAN FAMILY. One of the interesting families of this record is the JARNIGAN family, which is so often mis-spelled. Descendants I have known pronounced the name "JERNIGAN" as if spelled with an "e", but invariably spelled it with the "a". At least two descendants of this family were distinguished members of the bar in the State of Tennessee and Kentucky, Spencer and Chesley Jarnigan. From what I can gather some of the members of the family from the old ALBEMARLE stock went west and settled in JEFFERSON COUNTY, TENNESSEE, and later at KNOXVILLE, where the BLOUNTS had ancient representatives. SPENCER JARNIGAN was born there and studied law under the famous HUGH LAN WHITE, afterwards United States Senator and a Justice of the SUPREME COURT OF TENNESSEE. An old history of the Bench and Bar of Tennessee speaks of Spencer Jarnigan as a "plain, unimaginative man with a clear head and sound judgment".

JORDAN FAMILY. The JOHN JORDAN (1-444, 1-622 and 1-12) could possibly have been the son of RICHARD JORDAN, who with his wife ALICE, deeded lands to their son JOHN in ISLE OF WIGHT COUNTY Virginia in 1678, as shown by Virginia Magazine of History & Biography, and whose parentage is not revealed, but who obviously belonged in some way to the family of Col. GEORGE JORDAN, one time ARMY GENERAL of Virginia (1670). These JORDANS, therefore are NOT the JORDANS who were such ardent QUAKERS, who lived mostly in HANSELOM COUNTY and were descended from SAMUEL JORDAN of "Jordan's Neck", up the JAMES. The scarcity of material relating to these particular JORDANS in Virginia has been very noticable, but such scarcity is now accounted for by the fact that they migrated to NOVA CAROLINA, as revealed by Mr. Hathaway's collection. The frequent occurrence of the names ARTHUR RIVER among them is of itself a most convincing identification.

COL. FREDERICK JONES. Was son in law of HON. SAMUEL SWANN (1-477, instead of 3-245 as stated in the text of the index hereto) and in 1820 was CHIEF JUSTICE of North Carolina (2-608). The forefathers settled in YORK COUNTY, Virginia, though the ancestor patented lands in WARWICK, or the WARWICK RIVER in 1628, as evidenced by the following note (p 644 Boddie's 1th Century Isle Wight): "RICE JONES, Planter of Warwick River. 50 acres, 2 Dec. 1628. Lying on Eetly side of WICKESQUIBBCKE RY. Nly on land of MARTHA KEY, Sly on land of PHETITPACSE CLAUSE. Due as his first widow. Doe unto FRANCIS WEST for transportation of said JONES from Canada in the JOHN AND FRANCIS 1623 and by these presents made over to said JONES." In all other records we have found of the family of RICE JONES thereafter, until some of his descendants moved to JAMES CITY COUNTY, they are referred to as of "YORK COUNTY". RICE JONES had several children, one of whom, RACHEL, married (1) CAPT. RICHARD CROSHAW, brother of MR. JOSEPH CROSHAW, (2) one MARTIN PALMER, whose wife immediately preceding had also been a widow, the relict of CAPT. WILLIAM COBBS, of York County. June 25, 1677, MARTIN PALMER, then the husband of RACHEL (Jones) CROSHAW, was appointed the administrator of BENJAMIN CROSHAW, son of CAPT. RICHARD CROSHAW, and the guardian of his children; he had also, in 1678, been the administrator of the estate of CAPT. WILLIAM COBBS. Martin Palmer in 1678 in YORK COUNTY opened also to be a member of the jury in a suit brought by JOHN COTTON against JOHN HARRIS and PHILIP COCKE. RICE JONES, a son of the first RICE JONES and a brother of RACHEL JONES, married in Alexander County, Va. in 1678, JANE, a sister of PHILLIP COCKE, and the daughter of NICHOLAS COCKE. GEORGE LYDDALL was assigned a patent to 1750 acres of land in YORK COUNTY by MR. JOSEPH CROSHAW, brother of the son in law of RICE JONES, and then in 1702, RICHARD LITTLEPAGE, with ANN LYDDALL as witness sold land in KING WILLIAM COUNTY, VA. to FREDERICK JONES and THOMAS JONES of JAMES CITY COUNTY. This was COL. FREDERICK JONES who died 21 years later in CHOWAN COUNTY, N. C. leaving to his father THOMAS JONES, GENT., certain lands called the "HORN QUARTER" in KING WILLIAM COUNTY, Virginia. These two were grandsons of the original RICE JONES, of YORK COUNTY, long since deceased.

Now, what makes this story of COL. FREDERICK JONES still more interesting is that, long afterwards JOHN COTTON, a grandson or great grandson of the JOHN COTTON who sued JOHN HARRIS and PHILIP COCKE in York County, Virginia, in 1678 (with MARTIN PALMER, son in law of the first RICE JONES, on the jury) married MARTHA JONES, daughter of COL. FREDERICK JONES, and died in 1728 (1-479) leaving children JOHN, WILLIAM, SAMUEL, THOMAS, ARTHUR, JAMES, JOSEPH and ALEXANDER COTTON, his wife MARTHA, daughters PRISCILLA and SUSANNAH, son in law JOHN THOMAS, son in law JOHN SPEARS, daughter MARY HOLLAND and daughter MARTHA BENTON, widow of FRANCIS BENTON; and also the fact that CAPT. WILLIAM COBBS, whose relict for a brief time, apparently, had been the previous wife of MARTIN PALMER, among other sons a ROBERT COBBS. This ROBERT COBBS married (1) REBECCA PINKETHEMAN, daughter of WILLIAM PINKETHEMAN, by whom he had, among other children, perhaps, two daughters: ELIZABETH COBBS, married JAMES SHIELDS, and REBECCA COBBS (who was still unmarried about 1715); then ROBERT COBBS married (2) ELIZABETH ALLEN (daughter of DANIEL ALLEN) and had two more daughters, one of whom, MARTHA COBBS, married DUDLEY RICHARDSON, and the other, SARAH COBBS, married ROBERT JONES, JR., -443, 3-444) of this record. ROBERT JONES, JR. was the father of COL. ALLEN JONES, of "MOUNT LANT", NORTHAMPTON COUNTY, N. C., and GEN. WILLIE JONES of "THE GROVE" in HALIFAX COUNTY. This ROBERT JONES JR., who appears to have lived to a ripe old age, was seemingly contemporaneous with the son of COL. FREDERICK JONES, and he is said to have been the son of another ROBERT JONES, of SURREY COUNTY, who was doubtless a grandson of the original RICE JONES, the ancestor of the tribe. After the death of ROBERT COBBS, grand-father of WILLIE and ALLEN JONES, his widow ELIZABETH ALLEN married WILLIAM WELDON, of HENRICO COUNTY, VIRGINIA, and became the father of DANIEL WELDON and a number of other sons, for whom the town of WELDON in HALIFAX COUNTY was named. ROBERT JONES, JR., after the death of his wife SARAH COBBS, married MARY EATON, daughter of COL. WILLIAM EATON, of GRANVILLE COUNTY, by whom he had one daughter ELIZABETH JONES, who married AUG. 10, 1781, HON. BENJAMIN WILLIAMS, GOVERNOR of N. C. about 1700, who was therefore a half-brother in law of WILLIE and ALLEN JONES. Both Willie and Allen Jones played important roles in the revolutionary history of NORTH CAROLINA, and SARAH JONES, daughter of ALLEN married GEN. WILLIAM M. DAVIE, the light of whose fame as statesman during the days following the revolution, is still reflected in the history of the OLD WEST STATE which he adopted and lived in and served until old age forced him back into his beloved North Carolina home. JONESBORO, TENNESSEE, was named for WILLIE JONES. The shadows of these men are long and sheds luster on the sheen of a great commonwealth, as well as the name of JONES.

MATTHEW JONES. One of the most numerous of the JONES FAMILIES in Northeastern North Carolina was the descendants of MATTHEW JONES, of MULBERRY ISLAND, in Warwick County, Virginia. Properly speaking they really descend from ANTHONY JONES, who was born about 1604 in England. He was a seaman from Isle of Wight County in 1643 (Boddie p. 96). ANTHONY was the father of ABRAHAM JONES, who had son MATTHEW. This is the family to which TIGUAL, ALERINGTON or BRITTAN and the RIDLEY JONES family belonged. The ramifications of the genealogy of this set is somewhat clarified by the numerous accounts that have been published, particularly the one in Vol. 9, Tyler's Magazine beginning at pp 1-7, etc. FRANCIS JONES, of this family, died in EDGECOMBE COUNTY in 1755, leaving a will in which he mentions his wife MARY (RIDLEY) and children JUDITH, NATHANIEL, TIGUAL, JOHN JAMES, MATTHEW, ALERINGTON, RIDLEY, MARY, BETTIE DAY JONES, LYDIA and JEREMIAH. It is not only possible, but probable that this set was related in some way to the ALLEN and WILLIE JONES set, and the NATHANIEL JONES of CARY, in Wake County. TIGUAL JONES who married PENELOPE CAIN has many descendants who went to Texas, and a TIGUAL JONES has been Clerk of BASTROP COUNTY TEXAS for more than thirty years at this writing (1945.)

EDWARD JONES, of WARREN COUNTY, and his family, have already been mentioned under the note relating to WILLIAM EATON, in which it is stated that the first county court ever held for GRANVILLE COUNTY was at his home. The fact that his daughter PRISCILLA married GIBSON MACON, and was a descendant of the MACONS of NEW KENT who married into the REV. ROWLAND JONES family suggests that EDWARD may have been of the ROWLAND JONES strain, and thus indirectly related to MARTHA (DANDRIDGE) WASHINGTON. The CHAMPION FAMILY of this record were related to that set, and the much mentioned ORLANDO CHAMPION heired his name from ORLANDO JONES, son of Rev Rowland JONES, Sector of old TOWN PARKIN in VIRGINIA. (CORRECTION: JOHN COTTON (above) m. MARTHA GODWIN instead of JONES.)

THOMAS KIRBY of this record belonged to an old YORK COUNTY, VIRGINIA, family, and his emigrant ancestor, another THOMAS KIRBY, married a daughter of DOCTORIS WILLIAM CHRISTMAS, while the father of the first THOMAS married MARY RAY, daughter of THOMAS RAY and his wife MARY CHRISTMAS, of the same parentage. The last will of this writer's oldest known ancestor, THOMAS RAY, now an undeniable rag on the records of YORK COUNTY, Virginia, probated, as near as can be made out, on the 1st of June 1653, gives the names of the following signers, as witnesses thereto: HENRY FREEMAN, THOMAS RAY, THOMAS KIRBY and PETER STARKEY. The will of DOCTORIS WILLIAM CHRISTMAS was proved in November, of the following year (1654) and the witnesses to his will were HENRY FREEMAN, THOMAS RAY and PETER STARKEY. On the old CHARLES PARISH REGISTER there are fragments of records of members of these families, but obviously NOT ALL OF THEM. But enough is gleaned to enable the student to piece in the missing items needed to connect these NORTH CAROLINA Starkeys, Kerbys, Rays and Freemans, as limbs from these old stems. All of these witnesses were apparently sons in laws of DOCTORIS WILLIAM CHRISTMAS. PETER STARKEY married BRIDGET CHRISTMAS, HENRY FREEMAN married CHRISTMAS and THOMAS RAY married MARY CHRISTMAS. No slightest clue reveals the name of the daughter who married THOMAS KIRBY, but that one died there is little doubt. No clairvoyancing is needed to deduce the THOMAS KIRBY who in 1712 lived on TURKEY CREEK and sold land to HENRY WHEELER, joined by wife ESTHER, with RICHARD WASHINGTON as a witness (1-295); and sold land to RICHARD WASHINGTON 718 (1-627); and the JONATHAN CHRISTMAS who witnessed a deed by RICHARD WASHINGTON in (1720) 1-608 and was sued by WASHINGTON in 1724 (2-297); and the historically known presence in this same section of North Carolina of PETER STARKEY, EDWARD STARKEY, JOHN STARKEY and others of prominence, the direct descendants of the signatories of the THOMAS RAY WILL on NEW FORDON, in YORK COUNTY, Virginia, in 1653.

As far as the FREEMANS, the same may be said of them - some of them took the same course and went to North Carolina. The RAYS and FREEMANS were related to the KINGS, as witness the will of HENRY FREEMAN in Bertie in 1793, the father in law of BLAKE BAKER (2-334), and the writer's father, was WILLIAM KING RAY, of Tennessee and Texas. These ancient families had ways of perpetuating family history by the use of certain names which branded their off-spring. One ALEXANDER SKIPWORTH married a daughter of THOMAS RAY (the emigrant) and this accounts for the SKIPWORTH RAYS in Virginia to this day; also for the origin of old man ALEXANDER RAY, intimate with the CHARLTONS in Virginia at the beginning of the 18th century (1-629). THOMAS KIRBY, of TURKEY CREEK, was a grandson of THOMAS KIRBY of the RAY WILL, and a son of THOMAS KIRBY and his wife MARY RAY, who had a son JOHN KIRBY, born May 1, 1662, according to the old Charles Parish Register. There is no record of the birth of THOMAS, but he was perhaps a few years older than his brother ROBERT, whose wife was REBECCA, and who had thirteen children, including a son BENNETT KIRBY, who had a son named THOMAS. JOHN WHEELER, ancestor of the WHEELERS of TURKEY CREEK, also lived in YORK COUNTY, VIRGINIA.

JONATHAN KITTRELL. JONATHAN KITTRELL, so far as this record shows, appears to have been one of the earliest arrivals of that name. Like WILLIAM and JOHN DANIEL, JOHN ALSTON and the PEELLES settled on BENNETT'S CREEK. This fact alone almost marks him as a comer from ISLE OF WIGHT or NEWMONT, if his subsequent known transactions with families of that derivation, did not remove any further doubt of it. He and his wife ANN sold lands there as early as 1713 (1-630). The name JONATHAN for many succeeding generations constituted the KITTRELL BRAND. The family married into the RAYS, as a matter of course (2-233, 2-344). JONATHAN KITTRELL, JR. lead the migration westward to VIRGINIA COUNTY, and here the town of KITTRELL was established, which became the seat of this then prominent family. A junction by marriage was effected with the MEMUCAN HUNT family (HAUSEY KITTRELL married WILLIAM HUNT in 1780) and with the HOWARDS (MEMUCAN HUNT of the third generation married a HOWARD) etc. ELIASAUNT WILLIAM KITTRELL moved down on the FEE DEE after his graduation from the University in 1822 (Wheeler (1) p 120) and there he was elected and represented ANSON COUNTY in the Legislature. There he married a MISS GORKE. He then moved to ALABAMA, and was again sent to the Legislature. Then he "went to Texas" and again was sent to the Legislature in the new State. His name rose to prominence. JUDGE NORMAN GORKE KITTRELL served with distinction on the bench of TEXAS. His nephew COL. JOHN W. THOMASON, of "FLY BAYONETS" fame, only recently died serving his country.

LUNSFORD FAMILY. Obvious errors are sometimes revealed by the context of some of these. In the case of "JOHN LANCEFORD" will 1797 and his witness "WILLIAM LANCEFORD" (3-177) we get nothing until a comparison is made with the will of "MARY LUNSFORD" of 1806 and her named "WILLIAM LUNSFORD" (3-340). Clearly MARY LUNSFORD was a MARY WINGATE, while the wife of JOHN LANCEFORD was SARAH WINGATE. The name was either LANCEFORD or LUNSFORD - not both. As a LUNSFORD was son of COL. NICHOLAS LONG, and a SIMON LONG witnessed the will of MARY LUNSFORD, thus we can reasonably conclude that the proper spelling of the name in each instance was LUNSFORD.

JONATHAN LANE. Among the sons of JOSEPH LANE and his wife PATIENCE MCKINNIE were JON JONATHAN, JOSEPH and JESSE, and apparently WILLIAM and ROBERT (1-470, 1-471) LANE. The son JESSE LANE had sixteen children, among whom was a CHARLES and a JONATHAN (1-471) LANE. Factual evidence lacking, but reasonable circumstantial testimony exists in abundance establishing one or the other of the two sons of JESSE LANE as the ancestor of HON. JONATHAN LANE, of Texas, a well-remembered, notable lawyer of Houston, Texas, who died only some twenty years ago. Aside from being a descendant of BARNABY MCKINNIE and of JOSEPH LANE and his wife PATIENCE MCKINNIE, HON. JONATHAN LANE of Texas had a most interesting genealogical background, which illustrates the remarkable "quirks" the genealogists encounter in tracing the old Southern families. HON. JONATHAN LANE was the son of REVEREND CHARLES J. LANE who was born in MORGAN COUNTY, ALABAMA, April 21, 1822, and his wife ELLEN WALLIS so that his grandparents had migrated to MORGAN COUNTY (North Alabama) and were living there in that year. ELLEN WALLACE (mother of JONATHAN LANE, of TEXAS) was the daughter of one ROBERT WALLIS, and his wife ANGERONIA RICHARDSON, who had in all 10 children. ROBERT WALLIS was the son of JOHN MCKNITT WALLIS and his wife MARGARET CROCKETT (born 1787). JOHN MCKNITT WALLIS was the son of REV. JAMES WALLIS, minister, of old PROVIDENCE CHURCH, in Mecklenburg County, N. C., and his wife MARY ALEXANDER, daughter of JOHN MCKNITT ALEXANDER, the Secretary of the Convention which adopted the famous MECKLENBURG DECLARATION. MARGARET CROCKETT, the wife of JOHN MCKNITT WALLIS, was the daughter of ELIJAH CROCKETT and his wife MARY DAVIS, of LANCASTER COUNTY, S. C., and MARY DAVIS was a daughter of that great patriot and Statesman of NORTH CAROLINA, WILLIAM RICHARDSON DAVIS. ELIJAH CROCKETT, brother in law of WILLIAM RICHARDSON DAVIS, revolutionary patriot and statesman, was the son of JOHN CROCKETT, who with his brother, was a member of OLD PROVIDENCE CHURCH in Mecklenburg County, S. C. long before the American Revolution. JOHN CROCKETT'S brother was the grandfather of the famous Tennessee Congressman and Texas hero and martyr, who died in the ALAMO at San Antonio de Bexar in 1836. In the old WAXHAW CHURCH cemetery, in Lancaster County, S. C., where repose the remains of HON. WILLIAM RICHARDSON DAVIS, JOHN CROCKETT, great uncle of DAVID CROCKETT, his son ELIJAH and dozens of other CROCKETTS are buried. The first pastor of the Old Providence Church in Mecklenburg was the REV. WILLIAM RICHARDSON, foster father of WILLIAM RICHARDSON DAVIS, the place being later filled by REV. JAMES WALLIS, the son in law of JOHN MCKNITT ALEXANDER. Another notable character is buried with the CROCKETTS and RICHARDSONS there is ANDREW JACKSON, SR., father of the turbulent ANDREW JACKSON, who became President of the United States. This writer is not writing second-hand. He has visited the old churchyard and has a transcript of all of the old tombstones, while the old records of MECKLENBURG COUNTY at CHARLOTTE have disclosed most of the other information here given. This writer can also boast that as a young lawyer, many decades ago, he has felt the keen blade of the JONATHAN LANE of this sketch as he sat across the table from him in Texas courtrooms.

THE LANIER FAMILY. This writer is convinced that the ROBERT LANIER, who died leaving a will in TYRRELL COUNTY in 1744 (1-336) is the same ROBERT LANIER who in 1680 was married and at that time living in the BARBADOES, where his name and mention of his wife is made in the old ST. MICHAEL'S Parish Register; he is further convinced by strong circumstantial evidence that the ANTHONY WILLIAMS from whom he received the assignment of a patent to lands in 1713 (1-101) is the same ANTHONY WILLIAMS who appears on the same BARBADOES records; also that the THOMAS DANIEL, who married ELIZABETH LANIER (next to the oldest daughter of ROBERT LANIER) and who died leaving a will in TYRRELL in 1741 (1-199) is the same THOMAS DANIEL, son of JOHN DANIEL and wife ANN, who was baptized in the PARISH OF ST. JAMES in the BARBADOES September 25, 1675, that his father JOHN DANIEL was the brother of GEO. CR or DEPUTY GOVERNOR ROBERT DANIEL, who sailed from the BARBADOES to the CAROLINAS the same year that his nephew THOMAS DANIEL was born (1779).

The most plausible reconciliation of the conflicting accounts of the LANIER family handed down from various sources is that this ROBERT LANIER was one of the sons of JOHN LANIER, who came to VIRGINIA from LONDON after the death of his father JOHN OF LONDON, who died in 1650, leaving a wife ELEANOR, who died in 1652. At that time JOHN and a sister ELIZABETH were under 16 years of age. The son JOHN came to VIRGINIA, possibly by way of the BARBADOES, and settled in PRINCE GEORGE COUNTY. He died leaving a will in either PRINCE GEORGE OF SURRY COUNTY in 1717, in which he named four sons: (1) JOHN (2) NICHOLAS (3) ROBERT and (4) SAMPSON LANIER.

(1) JOHN LANIER. I have found no record of his descendants that can be identified. He was possibly the one who married PRISCILLA WASHINGTON, daughter of RICHARD WASHINGTON, of SURRY COUNTY. (2) NICHOLAS LANIER was the father of THOMAS LANIER, who married ELIZABETH HICKS and settled in GRANTVILLE COUNTY, N. C. THOMAS LANIER was born about 1722 and married ELIZABETH HICKS in 1742. He died in 1805, leaving a will in GRANTVILLE, from which it has been possible to obtain the names of his children, who were as follows: ROBERT LANIER (b. in 1742), MOLLIE LANIER (b. in 1744), SARAH LANIER (b. in 1748) married first, COL. JOSEPH WILLIAMS, and second, his brother COL. RICHARD WILLIAMS; BETTIE (b. 1750) married COL. JOSEPH WINSTON; CATHERINE (b. 1752); FATSY (b. 1754); REBECCA (b. 1757) see (3-425), the first wife of COL. JOSEPH WILLIAMS; THOMAS (b. 1760); SUSANNA (b. 1761); LEWIS (b. 1765); FATSY (b. 1767), and WILLIAM LANIER (b. 1770).

(3) ROBERT LANIER. The name of his wife was SARAH, as shown by his will (1-336) and that he mentions his grandson ROBERT DANIEL, while the will is witnessed by ROBERT LANIER DANIEL, which beyond doubt, was the full name of his son in law. According to this record his appearance in GRANTVILLE PRECINCT was in 1711, when he proved eleven headrights. The chances are that he left the BARBADOES early and came to VIRGINIA where he must have lived for perhaps many years before coming to NORTH CAROLINA. We have searched in vain for a list of the "rights" he proved (3-442) in 1711, but when we count his eight children (named in the will) it is quite obvious that he claimed land rights in 1711 for himself and wife (2) for his next oldest daughter ELIZABETH and her husband, THOMAS DANIEL (2) and the balance of his children. By this we conclude that THOMAS DANIEL and ELIZABETH LANIER were married sometime before 1711, as it is evident that his daughter SARAH had married JOHN WILLIAMS sometime before the date of his death in 1749. (See GRIMES p. 90).

(4) SAMPSON LANIER, the fourth son of JOHN LANIER, who died in 1717, married ELIZABETH WASHINGTON, daughter of RICHARD WASHINGTON, called "of SURRY COUNTY, VA." SAMPSON LANIER lived in 2

X COUNTY, VIRGINIA, at the time of his death, where his will was probated May 5, 1743, same being of record in Will Book 2 pp. 52-53. It is interesting at this point to note that WILLIAM HILL whose family so many of the LANIERS afterwards married, also died in BRUNSWICK COUNTY in the year 1799 (long afterwards, of course) see (3-311). In his will SAMPSON LANIER names the following children: THOMAS LANIER, SAMPSON LANIER, RICHARD LANIER, ELIZA LANIER (m. BURCH), SAMUEL LANIER and JAMES LANIER.

THOMAS LANIER, of this set of children settled in LUNEBURG COUNTY, VIRGINIA, and was one of the first justices there. He with LEWIS DELANEY or DELANEY, was on the commission to run the dividing line between BRUNSWICK and LUNEBURG COUNTIES. He was a Justice of the County Court LUNEBURG COUNTY, Va. from 1746 to 1761 (Bell's Cumberland Parish p. 262). In 1751 he owned lands on BUTCHER'S CREEK, not so very far from the line of GRAYVILLE COUNTY, N. C. where his last son THOMAS LANIER had settled, with his wife ELIZABETH HICKS.

SAMPSON LANIER, son of SAMPSON LANIER and ELIZABETH WASHINGTON, and brother of THOMAS LANIER, married ELIZABETH CHAMBERLAIN, daughter of SAMUEL CHAMBERLAIN of BRUNSWICK COUNTY, Virginia, who died in 1752). After the death of SAMPSON LANIER, his widow ELIZABETH, married CUTHBERT SMITH (Vol 45 Va. Mag. pp 86 et seq.). The children of SAMPSON LANIER and his wife ELIZABETH CHAMBERLAIN were: BURWELL LANIER, of BRUNSWICK COUNTY, who later settled in CARTERET COUNTY, then DUPLIN and finally in ANSON COUNTY, N. C.; LEWIS LANIER, BUCHNER LANIER, WINNIFRED LANIER, NANCY LANIER and REBECCA LANIER.

BURWELL LANIER married ELIZABETH HILL, daughter of WILLIAM HILL, of BRUNSWICK COUNTY (See 11). He moved to CARTERET COUNTY, N. C. where he bought land in 1765, which he sold in 1767; then to DUPLIN COUNTY where he bought land, and sold that in 1774; then moved to ANSON COUNTY, where he died in 1812. The children of BURWELL LANIER and ELIZABETH HILL were: WILLIAM LANIER, who was a member of the House of the General Assembly from Anson County from 1802 to 1806; CLEMENT LANIER, who was a member of the House from Anson in 1801; ISAAC LANIER also served in the House from Anson County; THOMAS LANIER, FANNIE LANIER, PARSY LANIER, ELIZABETH LANIER who married MAJ. JOHN WINGS, who was Sheriff of ANSON COUNTY in 1798 to 1800; SARAH LANIER married WILLIAM MARSHALL; JY LANIER married JOHN McLELLAND, and CATHERINE LANIER who married THOMAS CLEWTON. THOMAS HILL, brother of ELIZABETH HILL, the wife of BURWELL LANIER, married FRANCES SMITH, a half-sister of BURWELL LANIER, she being the daughter of CUTHBERT SMITH and ELIZABETH (CHAMBERLAIN) LANIER, widow of SAMPSON LANIER. THOMAS HILL bought land in DUPLIN COUNTY, and he had a son WILLIAM LANIER HILL who married ANNE ELIZABETH DUDLEY, daughter of CHRISTOPHER DUDLEY and wife MARGARET SNEAD, and a sister MRS. EDWARD DUDLEY (1838-1841) of N. C. JOSEPH HILL, another brother of BURWELL LANIER'S wife, moved to N. C. and became a member of the SENATE (STATE), and he had a son JOSEPH HILL, who married MARGARET WALLACE, daughter of RICHARD WALLACE and ANNE STARKEY (Daughter of PETER STARKEY of ONSLOW). In WILLIAM STARKEY HILL married FRANCES FOY and (2) ANNE GREEN, daughter of JAMES GREEN, of JONES COUNTY, N. C., and a son THOMAS HOLT HILL married MIRANDA B. GREGORY (of ONSLOW COUNTY) and moved to ALABAMA, where he died. To extend this would be too long. See Va. Mag. 45 pp 86-7.

LINDSAY FAMILY. REV. DAVID LINDSAY, of NORTHUMBERLAND COUNTY, Virginia, who on the 10th of JANUARY, 1658, performed the rites that united GEORGE DURANT and ANN MARRIOTT in marriage (1699) was the son of another DAVID LINDSAY, known as the BISHOP OF ROSS, whose second wife and mother of the Northumberland Rector was ELIZABETH HARRISON, who in all probability was the daughter of that BENJAMIN HARRISON who was Clerk of the Council and the ancestor of two Presidents of the United States (53 V. Mag. of Hist. & Biog. 21). That the DAVID LINDSAY who died leaving will in CURRITUCK COUNTY in 1749 (1-336), and who witnessed the will of MARY JENNINGS twenty years before (GRIDES p. 185), was the son of DANIEL LINDSAY (1-337), was either a descendant or a close relative of REV. DAVID LINDSAY (3-199) is the writer's conviction. This is based upon several positions that seem plausible. The will of DAVID LINDSAY was witnessed by one HENRY WOODHOUSE. HENRY HARRISON, a brother of ELIZABETH HARRISON, the mother of REV. DAVID LINDSAY was Governor of the BERMUDAS in 1723, and his successor in that office was CAPT. HENRY WOODHOUSE, of Wadhwa, co. MORTON, England, who died in 1657 in ENGLAND (53 Va. Mag. p. 24). This CAPT. HENRY WOODHOUSE and JOHN HARRISON, while seemingly unfriendly, and perhaps not actually of blood kin, never the less were connected with the BERNARDS and other families by intermarriage. HENRY WOODHOUSE, a son of CAPT. HENRY WOODHOUSE, who succeeded JOHN HARRISON as Governor of the BERMUDAS, like BENJAMIN HARRISON, settled on the South side of JAMES RIVER in Virginia, and was a member of the House of BISHOPS from LOWER NORFOLK, it is said, from 1642 to 1652. He was a member of the Vestry of the Church of LYNHAVEN PARISH in 1640 (40 Va. Mag. p. 134), his wife was MARY, and he died leaving a will in 1655, in which he named his children: HENRY, HORATIO, JOHN, WILLIAM, ELIZABETH, SARAH and RACHEL WOODHOUSE. ELIZABETH WOODHOUSE, it is claimed by genealogists, married the original emigrant NICHOLAS MERIWETHER, ancestor of a numerous Virginia tribe, connected with many of the old First Families. LOWER NORFOLK COUNTY was the front door to CURRITUCK PRECINCT (later CURRITUCK COUNTY) and a study of the roster of the first settlers in CURRITUCK will disclose even to the casual reader the presence in that territory of the same families that were prominent in LOWER NORFOLK. Notably among those were the WHITES, MOSELEYS, LINDSAYS, CASTWELLS (sometimes KASWELLS) and JONES (particularly old MOSES LINTON), LOWES and a host of others, all of which indicates that HENRY WOODHOUSE'S descendants came down out of LYNHAVEN PARISH to take up lands around DURANT'S and adj. ALBEMARLE SOUND contemporaneous with GEORGE DURANT and his wife ANN. With them, no doubt came the LINDSAYS. The writer has found no LINDSAYS he can identify positively as the sons of REV. DAVID LINDSAY, of NORTHUMBERLAND COUNTY. The grandfather of REV. DAVID LINDSAY on his mother's side was PETER HARRISON, of WARRINGTON, co. LANCASTER, ENGLAND, who had sons RICHARD (?), JOHN, (either of whom may have been father of BENJAMIN HARRISON of the Council) and PETER. DANIEL LINDSAY had a son DAVID (1-337), DAVID LINDSAY (1-336) had a son BENJAMIN, and JAMES LINDSAY had a son PETER. To further strengthen this hypothesis, BENJAMIN HARRISON, of the Council (1633) had a son PETER HARRISON, said to have died young and left no descendants. REV. DAVID LINDSAY, we are told had an older half-brother named JEROME LINDSAY, who probably never came to VIRGINIA, but DANIEL LINDSAY, of LANCASTER COUNTY, Virginia, who witnessed a WALTER HEARD deed in 1755, could possibly have been one of his sons. ADAM LINDSAY who left will in YORK COUNTY (1637) was ancestor of a numerous VIRGINIA FAMILY of the name, who were probably related to the same tribe.

MARKS FAMILY. PETER MARKS of "Ye Little Creeke" (will 1656) in Lower Norfolk County, Virginia, was the ancestor of JOHN MARKS of 1706 (1-95) and THOMAS MARKS of 1702 (1-8, 2-456, 1-88) who acquired lands on ROCKHOCK CREEK, as shown by this record. He was the father of STEPHEN MARKS who died in ANSELOND COUNTY, Virginia in 1670, who left sons STEPHEN and JOHN, and the latter two were the ancestors of numerous sons, including the JOHN and THOMAS who about 1700 settled in ALBEMARLE PRECINCT; also of JOHN, PETER and HASTINGS MARKS who migrated up the RAPPAHANNOCK to SPOTTSYLVANIA and HANOVER COUNTY, and from there "spread out". In 1734 "JOHN MARKS, Planter, of St. MARKS PARISH, Spottsylvania County, on the South side of the RAPIDAN had wife MARY and a daughter MARY" and in 1733 "PETER MARKS was licensed to keep an ORDINARY at the Courthouse in HANOVER COUNTY, Virginia, with one THOMAS PROSSER his bondsman. (1 Crozier's County Records, and W. & M. Mag 1912 p. 55). This was the same house of entertainment, which many years later, was presided over by one JOHN SKELTON, who daughter married PATRICK HENRY. "JOHN MARKS, planter" of St. Mark's Parish, had a son JOHN MARKS, who settled at SHEPHERDSTOWN, Virginia, up around HARPER'S FERRY, and married ELLIENOR MORROW, daughter of HON. JOHN MORROW, member of Congress from that District, long years later, and a distinguished Colonel in the American Revolution. JOHN MARKS, of Shepherdstown, was also a revolutionary soldier, and the builder, it is claimed of the first Presbyterian Church in Fredericksburg Virginia, where he removed some years prior to his death, about 1812.

HASTINGS MARKS, brother of JOHN (Of St. Mark's Parish), PETER (Of Hanover County and WILLIAM MARKS (of Middlesex County, Va.) who sold lands to JAMES BATCHELDER that he had purchased from ROBERT MICKLEBOROUGH in 1740, was the ancestor of an interesting and numerous family children, one of whom, HASTINGS MARKS, JR., married ANNE SCOTT JEFFERSON, sister of THOMAS JEFFERSON, the President, and another, JOHN MARKS who married LUCY MERIWETHER (then the widow of WILLIAM LEWIS) and the mother of NICHOLAS MERIWETHER LEWIS, of Expedition fame. It is through this all and others with the MERIWETHER FAMILY that we are able to trace this MARKS FAMILY back to old PETER MARKS of "ye Little Creeke" in LOWER NORFOLK. Consider these facts:

In 1650 COL. WILLIAM BERNARD was overseer of the will of JUSTINIAN COOPER (whose was ANNE HARRISON) of ISLE OF WIGHT COUNTY (pp. 531-532 Boddie) and who owned lands in LOWER NORFOLK. Margaret Bernard, his sister married DANIEL GAINES and had BERNARD GAINES, father of another DANIEL GAINES who had MARTHA GAINES who married JOHN HARVEY, of Charlottesville, the parents of ABETH HARVEY who married JAMES MARKS, son of HASTINGS MARKS, and brother of JOHN MARKS who married LUCY MERIWETHER. MARTHA GAINES HARVEY, JOHN MARKS, the TALIAFERROS, THE MOORES, JAMES MARKS and GAINES FAMILY all settled after the American Revolution on BROAD RIVER in GEORGIA. As for the MERIWETHERS, they also settled on BROAD RIVER, though originally they came down from old NICHOLAS MERIWETHER and his wife ELIZABETH WOODHOUSE of LYNHAVEN PARISH in Lower Norfolk County. MARTHA GAINES HARVEY died in the Broad River settlement. The theory has been indulged by the MARKS genealogist that JOHN MARKS, the ancestor of this family of Upper Virginia, married a daughter of a LORD EAST based on the name of a son "HASTINGS", but no actual proof has been advanced to establish the claim and the compiler accepts it only as a romantic dream having no basis in fact, since the surrounding historical data makes out too plain a case of mistaken identity, and establishes, beyond doubt that PETER MARKS "of ye Little Creeke" was the ancestor.

THE MOORE FAMILIES. This remarkable record certainly contains an abundance of material for a study of the MOORE FAMILY. The writer thinks he is able to identify among all of those mentioned at least three distinct families, though it is impossible to separate from the mass of names all those assignable to each group. (1) THE BARBADOS, or GOOSE CREEK MOORES; (2) THE LOWER NORFOLK, or BERMUDA MOORES, and (3) THE BRISTOL PARISH MOORES. This is a grouping that will furnish a basis for a study of these records, and I am frank to confess that I find evidence in some instances that suggests a relationship existed between nearly all of them. Following is a brief geographic outline of each of the three families:

(1) GOV. JAMES MOORE, who is said to have married a daughter of SIR JOHN YEAMANS was the ancestor of the BARBADOS set. These all came to the CAROLINAS from the BARBADOS with JOHN YEAMANS, ARTHUR MIDDLETON, GOV. ROBERT DANIEL, the BROUGHTONS and others and settled between the Ashley and Cooper Rivers in South Carolina about the same time (about 1678-9). It is probable that GOV. MOORE had brothers. Possibilities: DAVID MOORE (1-340) and NATHANIEL (1-297) also a ROGER MOORE (not mentioned). GOV. JAMES MOORE was certainly the father of a JAMES, a MAURICE and a ROGER MOORE, and probably of a NATHANIEL, JOHN, JOSEPH, RICHARD and EDWARD, all of whom appear on the records, but unidentified as his children. It is known that GOV. JAMES MOORE, who married MISS YEAMANS had a large family (McGRADY) and certainly only the three KNOWN sons would not have complied with that description. The son JAMES was also Governor, but died in 1723-36? (1-61), and he left a son MAURICE, but not the one who established BRUNSWICK and lived and died there in 1777 MAURICE MOORE, brother of the second GOV. JAMES left sons MAURICE and JAMES, mentioned in the will of ALEXANDER DUNCAN (1-201) and ROGER MOORE mentioned in the will of JOHN DALRYMPLE (3-465). What became of MAURICE MOORE, son of GOV. JAMES MOORE, these records do not show. Not all of these MOORES remained in South Carolina, nor did they all live in WILMINGTON, but moved to the ALBEMARLE SOUND region where they multiplied and replenished the earth.

(2) The LOWER NORFOLK or BERMUDA MOORES were all descendants of RICHARD MOORE, the first Governor of the BERMUDAS, whose father was SIR GEORGE MOORE, son of SIR WILLIAM MOORE whose first wife was MARGARET, the daughter of RALPH DANIEL (ALEXANDER BROWN), and who lived in SWAFFHAM county NORFOLK, ENGLAND, from whence came the WOODHOUSE FAMILY. Richard Moore had a son EDMUND MOORE, who with his son in law HENRY WOODHOUSE (also son of a Governor of the BERMUDAS) settled in LYNHAVEN PARISH in Lower Norfolk County (or PRINCESS ANNE). He was the father of GASON MOORE who married SARAH WOODHOUSE, THOMAS MOORE, WILLIAM MOORE who married MARY WOODHOUSE and ELIZABETH MOORE who became the wife of HENRY WOODHOUSE, who will be found on these records. These Lower Norfolk MOORES spelled the name MOORE for a time, but later adopted the usual spelling of MOORE. OREDLIA MOORE of ONSLOW County was a descendant of this set. The WILLIAM MOORE and his wife ELIZABETH of the BERKELEY PRECINCT records (3-371) belonged to this set, and the careful researcher in these records will find it possible to trace the line therefrom. MORGAN MOORE or MOORE was of this clan.

(3) THE BRISTOL PARISH MOORES. On the old Register of BRISTOL PARISH in Virginia will be found a list of MOORES, apparently the descendants of a "Great John Moore" there mentioned in which the names SEITH, ROGER, JAMES, JOHN, THOMAS, ALEXANDER, GEORGE, SAMUEL and MARK MOORE are mentioned. SEITH MOORE, son of "GREAT JOHN" was born in 1692, and reasonably may have been the father of the others, or most of them. That some of these MOORES went to ALBEMARLE is evident by the presence of the names on the North Carolina records. JOHN MOORE and his wife CATHERINE had a BETTIE RUTHERFORD MOORE born in 1731, and JOHN RUTHERFORD and his daughter FRANCES are mentioned with MAURICE and JAMES MOORE in the will of ALEXANDER DUNCAN of WILMINGTON in 1768 (1-201).

PHILLIP MULKEY. Will in 1736 witnessed by JONATHAN MULKEY (1-348). REV. PHILLIP MULKEY born near RALIMAX, N. C. in 1732, was probably the son of the brother JONATHAN who witnessed the will. In 1757 REV. PHILLIP MULKEY organized the famous SANDY CREEK Baptist Church on DUCK RIVER. In 1760 he carried several members of the Church with him to Little River in South Carolina where they organized another Church. From there he went to GEORGIA where he died. His son REV. JONATHAN MULKEY was a famous pioneer churchman on the Watuga in East Tennessee in 1787, and he had a son REV. PHILLIP, famous in S. E. Kentucky, who with his family settled in MULETOWN, ILLINOIS named for him, where he died and is buried. The descendants are legion all over the Southwest.

ABNER's first wife was the widow of ARTHUR DOBBS and his second wife a MISS JONES of the WILLIE JONES family. WILLIE JONES married daughter of COL. JOSEPH MONTFORT and his wife PRISCILLA HILL, daughter of COL. BENJAMIN HILL, who was a son of HENRY APPLEWHITE HILL, son of THOMAS HILL and MARY MARSHALL (Daughter of HUMPHREY MARSHALL). COL. THOMAS HILL, son in law of HUMPHREY MARSHALL was the father of HENRY APPLEWHITE HILL, ISAAC HILL and THOMAS HILL, the latter the father of HUMPHREY HILL. ISAAC and THOMAS HILL this family settled in KING & QUEEN COUNTY, VA., the home of HUMPHREY HILL, whose descendants married into the BAYLORS, GWATHNEYS, DABNEYS and other old families, not to neglect the WALKER FAMILY ISAAC HILL (uncle of COL. BENJAMIN HILL, of North Carolina) had at least three very interesting children: SUSANNA HILL who married BENJAMIN CLEMENT (d. 1780); WILLIAM HILL, married (1) CATHERINE (2) PRISCILLA EMBREE (3) SARAH LANIER (See 3-310, 3-311, 3-312, 3-313 of this record); and MARY HILL married COL. COL. CLEMENT READ who married MARY HILL belonged to an old Colonial Family in YORK COUNTY, VIRGINIA, if the genealogical accounts are to be credited, but in his own right he had a very distinguished career as a lawyer in MECKLENBERG and PRINCE EDWARD Counties. PARKER FAMILY. In order to convey to the reader of these notes an adequate conception the VIRGINIA origin of the PARKERS who practically over-ran the old ALBEMARLE PRECINCT in NORTH CAROLINA near the close of the Seventeenth Century, it will be necessary to present some brief sketches of the families with which they were connected. THOMAS PARKER of "MACCLESFIELD" in ISLE OF WIGHT COUNTY, Virginia, married the widow of PETER MONTAGUE. (Vol. 6 Va. Mag. of Hist. & Biog. 420). This reference does not give the name of the widow of PETER MONTAGUE, so recourse is to the will of PETER MONTAGUE, proved in May, 1659, in LANCASTER COUNTY, Virginia, as shown on p. 57 of the "History and Genealogy of Peter Montague" by GEORGE WILLIAM MONTAGUE (1894) in which name is given as CIGELY. And thereby hangs a most fantastic tale of marital adventure:

THE MYSTERIOUS CIGELY JORDAN. At or about the same time, if not on the same vessel, in year 1611, a ten year old girl named CIGELY REYNOLDS, and a comparatively young widower, who left his small sons behind him in England, arrived at JAMESTOWN in the Colony of Virginia. The young widower was SAMUEL JORDAN, who afterwards established a seat on the JAMES RIVER near its confluence with the APPOMATTOX, which he called "JOURDAN'S JOURNEY". Almost contemporaneously with the coming of these two, but perhaps a year earlier, Sir THOMAS GATES and his companions of the ill-fated "SEA VENTURE" had landed, among them being CAPT. WILLIAM PIERCE. This was followed by JOANE PIERCE, the Captain's wife on the "BLESSING". CAPT. PIERCE was a relative in some degree of the young girl CIGELY REYNOLDS, and doubtless the advance arrival of CIGELY was known to both CAPTAIN PIERCE and his wife. Besides, SAMUEL JORDAN was a near-relative of CIGELY and her mother's cousin, and another cousin (of her mother) SILVESTER JORDAN, came about the same time, so there was no lack of relatives to look after the ten year old child, whose mother, still living in Dorsetshire, for some reason had consented to her coming. Twelve years later, her brother, CHRISTOPHER REYNOLDS, arrived on the "JOHN and FRANCIS" and may have discovered for the first time that his sister was married to her second husband SAMUEL JORDAN and the mistress of JORDAN'S JOURNEY, with a six year old daughter by her first husband, named TEMPERANCE BAILLY.

These sudden and swift transitions in the life of CIGELY REYNOLDS were characteristic of the adventurous spirit as to undertake a long sea voyage into strange lands, even though accompanied by near relatives. She was ten years of age in 1611, and must have married her first husband BAILLY when but about 14 years old, as in 1623-4 her daughter TEMPERANCE was seven years of age. (Vol. 51 Va. Mag. of Hist. & Biog. pp. 384-385). The Christian name of her first husband has not been found, but it is safe to say he was of the same family as the SAMUEL BAILLY who is known to have married a grand-daughter of CAPT. WILLIAM PIERCE, her relative. The grandfather of CIGELY REYNOLDS was THOMAS JORDAN, of DORSETSHIRE, England, grand daughter, the mother of CIGELY married CHRISTOPHER REYNOLDS. Her mother's maiden name was CIGELY FITZGER or PHIPPEN, and she was the daughter of ROBERT PHIPPEN and his wife CIGELY or CIGELLIE JORDAN. ROBERT PHIPPEN was the son of one JOSEPH PHIPPEN, whose mother was ALICE PIERCE, and thus CIGELY REYNOLDS was related to CAPT. WILLIAM PIERCE and his wife JOANE. This last couple were the parents of JANE PIERCE who married as his third wife a celebrated Virginia character - JOHN ROLFE. But to continue the story:

SAMUEL JORDAN, of JORDAN'S JOURNEY, became the second husband of this adventurous daughter's first cousin CIGELY PHIPPEN, and at their home on the JAMES he and his wife and their household survived the Indian uprising that occurred in 1622-3. But not long after that SAMUEL JORDAN died. By his first marriage in England he is said to have had three sons THOMAS (b. 1600), SAMUEL and ROBERT JORDAN (W. & M. 7, 121) and in all of the genealogical accounts of these Jordans, each of whom came to Virginia, there continual bobs up the name of a certain RICHARD JORDAN whose parentage is unaccounted for. Incidentally he married before 1654, ELIZABETH REYNOLDS, a daughter of CHRISTOPHER REYNOLDS, of Isle of Wight County. Very shortly after the death of SAMUEL JORDAN, of "Jordan's Journey", one of the legatees in the will of ABRAHAM PERSEY, a certain REV. GREVILLE PERSEY, vociferously "wood" the widow CIGELY JORDAN, who rejected his early advances on the ground that she was with child; but thereafter she married CAPT. WILLIAM FARRAR, a prominent man of the VIRGINIA COUNCIL. Thereupon the parson brought what has been called by Alexander Brown "the first great promise suit in America". The astute third husband, being a lawyer, succeeded in quashing the proceedings, and Parson Pooley went on his way. BUT THE CHILD WAS BORN. His name was RICHARD JORDAN, and he married his first cousin (as they so often did in those days) ELIZABETH, the daughter of CHRISTOPHER REYNOLDS. (See Boddie's 17th Century Isle of Wight). Thus CIGELY REYNOLDS had been married twice and was the mother of one child by each of her first two husbands. By CAPTAIN WILLIAM FARRAR, she became the mother of two sons CAPT. WILLIAM FARRAR JR. and LIEUT. COLONEL JOHN FARRAR, of HENRICO COUNTY, who left no children and never married, so that the girl-emigrant thus became the ancestress of the numerous FARRARS of Virginia, through her son WILLIAM FARRAR, JR. Her third husband, CAPT. (or COLONEL) WILLIAM FARRAR died about 1635-6. But CIGELY was not near the end of her life. In 1621 PETER MONTAGUE, then a very young man, came to JAMESTOWN in the "CHARLES" and was married in JAMES CITY in 1624 aged 21 years. He was two years younger than CIGELY FARRAR, the widow of 1636. He too, had been previously married and had two daughters, then very young, named DOROTHY and SARAH. He married the widow CIGELY as her FOURTH HUSBAND. His will in Lancaster County named seven children, all obviously her children, but obviously also, not all of his family, thus refuting his previous marriage. It was proven in 1659. SARAH MONTAGUE, one of the daughters of his first marriage married JAMES BAGWELL (6 Va. Mag. of Hist. & Biog. p. 420) and the same authorities tell us that the widow of PETER MONTAGUE became the wife of THOMAS PARKER. As Cigely was born in 1611, she was 58 years old at the time of the death of PETER MONTAGUE, therefore it is patent that his latter marriage was one of convenience, and that no children resulted. But this alliance with CIGELY MONTAGUE, alias CIGELY JORDAN, nee CIGELY REYNOLDS readily suggests an explanation of the persistent intimacy which through the long years existed and continued to exist between the JORDAN, PARKER and REYNOLDS families as reflected by these records (1-16), (1-8), (1-628), (2-619) and her items throughout the list. It is claimed by one writer (Boddie's 17th Century Isle of Wight, p. 239) that the PETER MONTAGUE of LANCASTER (will 1659) and the one in ISLE OF WIGHT, whose widowed mother married THOMAS PARKER were different persons. This statement is refuted by our records. The author of the MONTAGUE GENEALOGY did confuse the parentage, but not the identity of his subject. Our records disclose that both THOMAS PARKER, who first patented lands in ISLE OF WIGHT COUNTY in 1650 (Vol 6. Va. Mag. of Hist. & Biog. p. 420) who married the widow of PETER MONTAGUE, and JAMES BAGNALL, who married his daughter SARAH MONTAGUE were living in LANCASTER COUNTY after 1650 (Fleet's Colonial Abstracts 22 pp 8, 9 and 78). All of the records we have examined however, tend to show that perhaps not only JAMES BAGNALL and THOMAS PARKER but also PETER MONTAGUE had been previous residents of ISLE OF WIGHT COUNTY, and further show that THOMAS PARKER and JAMES BAGNALL were living in the latter county towards the latter end of the century. JAMES BAGNALL was the son of ROGER BAGNALL, who died leaving will in Isle of Wight in 1647, at which time his son JAMES BAGNALL was not of age. (Boddie's 17th Century Isle of Wight p. 514). These early emigrants to Virginia moved about a great deal in their furious search for vast tracts of land and for social and economic advantages, just as the people of this day and time and it would perhaps be a misnomer to say that Peter Montague, or James Bagnall or Thomas Parker were either "of Isle of Wight" in a strict sense, until they had finally settled down at an advanced age. In 1624 Peter Montague, then 21 years of age was in Jamestown (Hotten) and in 1631 he was witness to a will in Yorktown, or in York County (Fleet's Colonial Abstracts No. 24 p. 11). He was perhaps "of York County" at the time he married the widow of CAPT. WILLIAM FARRAR, and he was certainly "of Lancaster County" when in 1638, a year before his death, he was a Burgess from that county.

THE PARKER FAMILY, ITSELF. Enthusiastic genealogists of the PARKER FAMILY, ITSELF, have made valiant efforts to set down the history of the tribe. In none of these efforts has there been a reference to the NORTH CAROLINA PARKERS, so often mentioned in these records. In one of such articles, evidently written with much care, we are told that two PARKER BROTHERS, a THOMAS and a GEORGE PARKER took up lands in Virginia, the former in ISLE OF WIGHT COUNTY and the latter in ACCOMAC (on the Eastern Shore) in 1650. (We think they came much earlier than that.) THOMAS, of ISLE OF WIGHT, called his home "Macclesfield" as they were descended from the "Macclesfield" Parkers of England. The remainder of this fine article is devoted entirely to the descendants of one ALEXANDER HYDE PARKER, a grandson of GEORGE PARKER, who settled in ACCOMAC COUNTY, and who moved to TAPPAHANNOCK, in ESSEX COUNTY, Virginia, and became the ancestor of a numerous tribe of PARKERS many of whom distinguished themselves in the wars of their country, including the AMERICAN REVOLUTION and on the bench. (Vol. 61 Daughters of the American Revolution Magazine, p. 1) Any genealogical account of a large family that deals exclusively and solely with the descendants of one lone grandson cannot possibly give one any conception of the family with which it deals. This article is valuable as a history of the "Northern Neck Parkers" only, though they are by no means unimportant, and were beyond question distant cousins of our North Carolina tribe. A much better conception of the ACCOMAC COUNTY PARKERS is given in another account of CAPT. GEORGE PARKER, GENL. (the supposed brother of THOMAS PARKER of "Macclesfield", Isle of Wight County) who was HIGH SHERIFF of Accomac County, Virginia, and a member of the County Courts of both ACCOMAC and NORTHAMPTON COUNTY about 1666 (Vol 6 Va. Mag. of Hist. & Biog. pp 412-414). It was his grandson, ALEXANDER HYDE PARKER who is said to have moved to ESSEX COUNTY where he became the ancestor and progenitor of the "Northern Neck Parkers". But the exasperating thing is that, though he appears to have had many grandchildren and grandsons listed in this account, we search among them in vain for an ALEXANDER HYDE PARKER. But if this last article be credited, CAPT. GEORGE PARKER had not only a brother THOMAS PARKER, but also brothers ROBERT, JOHN and PHILLIP, though PHILLIP is alleged to have returned to ENGLAND to live. As for children CAPT. GEORGE PARKER had GEORGE, JOHN, HENRY, THOMAS, JAMES, CHARLES, CLEMENT, ANN, SARAH, PRISCILLA and ELIZABETH. With a list of eleven (11) children, including SEVEN sons, CAPT. GEORGE PARKER must have had a small army of grandsons, so it is therefore little wonder we can't find ALEXANDER HYDE PARKER in the scimpy list available.

THOMAS PARKER, of "MACCLESFIELD" in ISLE OF WIGHT COUNTY, was apparently the ancestor of most, if not all of the PARKERS who settled in NORTH CAROLINA (Albemarle Precinct) at about the of the Seventeenth Century. He is said to have patented land at "Smith's Neck". We think perhaps this was in NEWPORT PARISH. His lands adjoined those of MR. NORSWORTHY. According to the article which we rely he had FOUR children (all imported), JOANE, ELIZABETH, THOMAS and FRANCIS PARKER. Like the previous article discussed the only light thrown on the entire family pertains solely to the descendants of the son THOMAS PARKER who died leaving a will in 1688, aged 56 years, which is proof that the son THOMAS PARKER was born in 1632. Presumably the other three children have relatively approximate dates. It is the writer's conviction that if this account had included the children of the son FRANCIS we would have much more light on our NORTH CAROLINA PARKERS. As it is, however, we must conjecture and "conjure" with the descendants of THOMAS PARKER JR., who had (from will) JOHN, THOMAS, FRANCIS, GEORGE, ELIZABETH, MARY and ANN. Of these four sons we do not have descendants of any except FRANCIS PARKER, who had MARTHA, NICHOLAS and NATHANIEL. Nicholas doubtless had sons of whom we know nothing. NATHANIEL married ANN and had NICHOLAS, NATHANIEL, MARTHA & MARY. The last NICHOLAS married ANN COPELAND, and had COL. JOSIAH PARKER (of the revolution) and COPELAND PARKER. (Vol 6 Va. Mag. of Hist. & Biog. p 420). Here we begin to connect, for COL. JOSIAH PARKER married the widow of COL. JOSEPH BRIDGER, who had been MARY PIERCE, daughter of COL. THOMAS PIERCE. THOMAS PIERCE JR. married MARY COPELAND in 1719 (3-393). ANN COPELAND was the sister of THOMAS COPELAND and the daughter of THOMAS COPELAND who married HOLLAND APPLEWHITE, daughter of THOMAS APPLEWHITE (Boddie's 17th Century Isle of Wight pp 214-215). HOLLAND APPLEWHITE was mentioned in the will of HENRY WEST in 1752 (1-80), and this particular HENRY WEST came from NEWPORT PARISH, ISLE OF WIGHT COUNTY, Virginia. Add to this the fact, as shown by these records, that PETER PARKER of CHOWAN, before 1714 had married GRACE COPELAND, the daughter of WILLIAM COPELAND and his wife CHRISTIAN, and that this same PETER PARKER sold lands to WILLIAM COPELAND in 1716 with JOHN JORDAN and JAMIE JORDAN as witnesses (2-456) and (2-619) and little room is left for doubt as to the fact that THOMAS PARKER of "MACCLESFIELD" who married as his second wife CICELY MONTAGUE alias CICELY JORDAN, nee CICELY REYNOLDS, was the ancestor of the PARKERS of NORTH CAROLINA.

The remaining space available here will not permit, at this particular point, the account of the COPELAND FAMILY (mostly from YORK COUNTY, VA.) which would further clarify this record.

DANIEL RICHARDSON, who was Attorney General of North Carolina, may have belonged to the MARYLAND family of that name, though there was a YORK FAMILY in Virginia, of which he could have been a member. WILLIAM RICHARDSON, SR., of ANN ARUNDEL COUNTY, Maryland, died leaving will in 1711, in which he named children DANIEL, JOSEPH, WILLIAM, SOPHIA, MARGARET and ELIZABETH. The overseers of his will were RICHARD JONES, RICHARD HARRISON, JOHN TALBOT and WILLIAM COLESON. It appears they were Quakers, and it is quite possible they went to MARYLAND from Virginia, and that the eldest son DANIEL, instead, made his way to NORTH CAROLINA, where he played an important role in the affairs of the new Colony. Other RICHARDSONS from Virginia DID settle in ALDEMARLE.

ROBERTSON FAMILY. From the old BRISTOL PARISH REGISTER in VIRGINIA we learn that our CORNELIUS GARGILL married ELIZABETH DANIEL and that their first child WILLIAM GARGILL was born on June 15, 1727, which gives us an approximate date of the marriage. On OCTOBER 11, 1733, that indelible character, COL. WILLIAM BYRD wrote in his "Journey to the Land of Eden": "In a distance of about two miles we reached the DAN (river), which we forded with some difficulty into the forks, and then we passed through two good miles across to the STAUNTON (river). COL. COOK had been surveying lands in these parts and particularly that of MR. STITH'S COPPER MINE, and a tract on which CORNELIUS GARGILL has also a mine of fine appearance. We thought best of GARGILL'S MINE." For the years 1751-2 in LUNENBURG COUNTY, VIRGINIA, a complete set of all the tythe lists have been discovered, and they were taken by LYDDALL BACON, WILLIAM CALDWELL and one certain CORNELIUS GARGILL (see light on the South Side p. 178, by LANDON C. HILL). On the list for 1751 appear the names:

John Robertson
Mark Robertson
Edward Robertson	4 tythes
John Robertson Junr	1

On page 48 of Bell's Sunlight appears this statement with respect to such lists: "If a person returned his list of tythes of a certain number made up of his own name and certain slaves there is a reasonable presumption that the tithables bearing his name may be his children, who were that year between the ages of SIXTEEN and TWENTY-ONE years of age", and cites an example from the list of CORNELIUS GARGILL. So we are reasonably certain that JOHN ROBERTSON in 1751 had TWO sons MARK and EDWARD over SIXTEEN, and one son JOHN ROBERTSON JR. probably married and with several children UNDER SIXTEEN at that time. Any children the elder JOHN had UNDER SIXTEEN are not listed.

JOHN ROBERTSON (above) married a daughter of CORNELIUS GARGILL, who had a copper mine of "fine appearance" when COL. WILLIAM BYRD and his party went to visit him in 1733. The record says he married ELIZABETH DANIEL. She was probably his second wife as she could hardly have been the mother of a daughter with three sons over sixteen in 1751-2. Two more sons, too young to be enumerated in the above list, because under sixteen, were CHARLES and CORNELIUS ROBERTSON. How many other children there may have been we have no way of telling, but of these we are quite sure. It is likely that DAVID ROBERTSON (who appears on the GARGILL list for 1752) may have been another.

JOHN ROBERTSON, JR. married MARY GOWER, of an old VIRGINIA FAMILY, and had JAMES, ELLI MARK, JOHN, CHARLES, ANNE and another daughter who married WILLIAM CASH.

CORNELIUS ROBERTSON (name of wife unknown) most certainly had two sons: CORNELIUS ROBERTSON, who married CLARISSA HILL, and CHARLES ROBERTSON (known as "BLACK CHARLES") of the WATAUGA VALLEY, in TENNESSEE. The U. S. Census of N. C. for 1790 shows CORNELIUS had two other sons two daughters, but what became of them we do not know, unless perhaps they were the JOHN ROBERTSON WILLIAM ROBERTSON who appear on the land records of LAURENS COUNTY, S. C. with a CORNELIUS GARGILL in 1854, they might have been.

CORNELIUS ROBERTSON and JOHN ROBERTSON, together with CHARLES ("Black Charles" son of CORNELIUS) appear together on the U. S. CENSUS RECORDS for 1790 in MONTGOMERY COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA, Charles at that time unmarried. In letters to DR. LYMAN C. DRAPER in 1854, DR. FELIX ROBERTSON, of NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE (Son of JAMES ROBERTSON) says that JOHN ROBERTSON who married MARY GOWER emigrated from Virginia to WAKE COUNTY, N. C. MONTGOMERY COUNTY is directly South of BALTIMORE (the State Capital and County Seat of Wake County) while the article in this record (1-632, 1-633) intimates that CORNELIUS married in ANSON COUNTY, which joins MONTGOMERY on the South. The Census record places both JOHN and CORNELIUS in the general vicinity of WAKE, though a little lower down the same DR. FELIX ROBERTSON wrote DR. DRAPER that "Black Charles Robertson was my father's cousin. He further states that "Black Charles", he is quite sure, was NOT the son of his grandfather's brother CHARLES ROBERTSON, whom he thinks "lived in PHILADELPHIA". He did NOT live in Philadelphia, less he moved there from Montgomery County, N. C. after 1790. His brother CHARLES ROBERTSON was simply swallowed up in the grand rush of migration that emanated among the members of this family after they began to leave NORTH CAROLINA for different destinations in the South.

The late COLONEL WILLIAM CURRY HARRLEE, in his monumental work on the ROBERTSON FAMILY was extremely loath to depart from his well established traditions and insisted that the statement by DR. FELIX ROBERTSON to LYMAN C. DRAPER regarding the origin of the family were strictly true, that "my grandfather JOHN was a native of IRELAND, and his father (not named) a native of SCOTLAND. This could have been true and I have no evidence to refute it, but that JOHN and his brother CHARLES came direct to this country from IRELAND by way of PENNSYLVANIA, only two brothers, is, I think, refuted by the LUNENBURG RECORDS I have quoted, which shows that their FATHER was a tithable in that county in Virginia, in 1751-2. It is also refuted by the MONTGOMERY COUNTY, N. C. Census for 1790. The descendants of JOHN ROBERTSON and his wife MARY GOWER, including GENERAL JAMES ROBERTSON, the oldest son, who founded the Cumberland Settlement (Nashville) in Tennessee, and whose grandsons established large landed estates in Texas, is thoroughly covered in Col. Harlee's three volume work "KINPOLES", so the purpose of this sketch, in the main, is to throw some light on the descendants and relatives of CORNELIUS ROBERTSON about whom a "Correspondent in Atlanta, Georgia" wrote MR. HATHA for publication in the last number of his REGISTER (1-632, 1-633).

The four sons of CORNELIUS ROBERTSON, of MONTGOMERY COUNTY, N. C. in 1790, were CHARLES (then above 21 years of age), CORNELIUS (II), WILLIAM and JOHN ROBERTSON. (The name is spelled as ROBERTSON on the Census, as ROBERTSON on the Laurens County (S. C.) records, and ROBERTSON by the descendants who came to TEXAS, with one exception. TOD ROBERTSON spelled the name ROBINSON, though KENTUCKY relatives spelled it ROBERTSON. All of the TENNESSEE family spelled the name ROBERTSON, did GENERAL GEORGE B. ROBERTSON and his son GENERAL FELIX ROBERTSON. The name is also spelled ROBERTSON on the LUNENBURG, VIRGINIA records; so we are forced to the conclusion that the "correspondent in Atlanta, Georgia" was in error in spelling the name ROBINSON.

In 1990 when the UNITED STATES CENSUS was taken in MONTGOMERY COUNTY, North Carolina CORNELIUS ROBERTSON (II) brother of "Black Charles" Robertson, of Tennessee, was perhaps a little under 21 years of age, though listed as "over sixteen", which indicates he was born about 1770. He married CLARISSA HILL who was born in 1779, by 1793-4. Notes gathered by this compiler establishes the fact that that CORNELIUS ROBERTSON emigrated from North Carolina to KENTUCKY where he lived for a time, and from there went to ALABAMA, where he was Captain of a Company who fought against the Indians sometime during the 1830s in a battalion commanded by R. E. B. BAYLOR, who was also from KENTUCKY. Col. Baylor was both a minister and a lawyer and came to Texas and settled at OLD INDEPENDENCE. He became one of the first members of the TEXAS SUPREME COURT after the Revolution. The sons of CORNELIUS ROBERTSON also settled at INDEPENDENCE, and CLARISSA (HILL) ROBERTSON died and is buried there in the old cemetery, where this compiler copied her tombstone inscription about 1938, which recites that she died there, the relict of CORNELIUS ROBERTSON on JANUARY 5, 1864, aged 84 years and six months. This places her birth in 1779. Who was she? CLARISSA HILL (who married CORNELIUS ROBERTSON about 1793-4) was a daughter of one ABRAHAM HILL who married CHRISTIAN WALTON. This is a good place to set out what is known of this FAMILY line.

HUMPHREY MARSHALL died in ISLE OF WIGHT COUNTY, Virginia, in 1711, leaving a will in which no sons, but some daughters are mentioned; ANNE, who married CAPT. HENRY APPLEWHITE, and a daughter MARY, who married THOMAS HILL. (RODDIE'S 17th CENTURY ISLE OF WIGHT pp 232-233) THOMAS HILL and MARY MARSHALL were the parents of HENRY APPLEWHITE HILL, ISAAC HILL, ABRAHAM HILL and ROBERT HILL. Perhaps others. The son THOMAS HILL was the father of HUMPHREY HILL of KING and QUEEN COUNTY, Virginia, who left many descendants.

ISAAC HILL was the father of WILLIAM HILL who settled in LUNENBERG COUNTY, Virginia, & later in BRUNSWICK COUNTY, who left numerous descendants throughout North Carolina and Virginia. He is said to have married a JENNINGS. He was the father of MARY HILL who married CLEMENT READ and was the ancestor of ARNER and JOSEPH NASH, through their marriages.

ROBERT HILL has been misplaced, as yet, but he may have been the father, among others of ABRAHAM HILL, whose father was ROBERT.

HENRY APPLEWHITE HILL was the father of COL. BENJAMIN HILL, ABRAHAM HILL (m. JUDITH) WILLIAM HILL (m. JONES) ISAAC HILL (b. 1725) who settled in TENNESSEE, after living for a time in MORGAN, and GREEN HILL (b. 1714) who married GRACE BENNETT, the daughter of WILLIAM BENNETT of HAMPTON COUNTY, N. C.

ABRAHAM HILL (who married JUDITH) and who died in CHOWAN in 1760, was the father of ABRAHAM, HENRY, ISAAC and THEOPHILUS HILL. ISAAC settled in GEORGIA; HENRY married SARAH COTTON and had eight children; THEOPHILUS HILL married TERESA THOMAS, daughter of JOHN THOMAS SR., and ABRAHAM HILL married CHRISTIAN WALTON. This last couple were the parents of CLARISSA HILL who became the wife of CORNELIUS ROBERTSON. CLARISSA HILL had eleven brothers and sisters, whose names are listed in the "HILLS OF WILKES COUNTY, GA."

It is possible that CORNELIUS ROBERTSON died in ALABAMA, and that his widow came to Texas to live among her children and numerous other relatives, including the APPLEWHITES and WALLACES. CORNELIUS ROBERTSON and his wife CLARISSA HILL, had among possible others, the following children:

(1) GEN. JEROME B. ROBERTSON, who on the death of GEN. JOHN B. HOOD, was promoted to lead the famous "HOOD'S BRIGADE" of Texas Troops. He was the father of GEN. FELIX ROBERTSON who died in WACO, TEXAS, only a few years ago, then the "last living General of the Confederacy". His son FELIX (the Great grandson of CORNELIUS ROBERTSON) was a JUDGE of the District Court in Dallas many years, but is now deceased. HENRY BELL ROBERTSON the youngest son of GEN. JEROME B. ROBERTSON, died Oct. 23, 1860. The wife of GEN. JEROME B. ROBERTSON was MARY E. CUMMINGS, who died in 1864 at INDEPENDENCE, TEXAS.

(2) HON. TOD ROBERTSON (second son) who married MARY CRITTENTON, of KENTUCKY. He was born in NORTH CAROLINA in 1813, and came to TEXAS and settled in BRAZORIA COUNTY in 1839. He served as a member of Congress of the Republic of Texas several terms before Texas became a State, and is said to have become a JUDGE in CALIFORNIA. He had a number of children who are listed by "Correspondent from Atlanta Georgia" (1-633) in this record. One grandson, TOD ROBINSON (so spelled) is a prominent business man in AUSTIN, TEXAS.

(3) MARY ROBERTSON, who became the wife of JOHN ALSTON DUDLEY for whom see (1-633).

(4-57) GEORGE ROBERTSON and ANDREW ROBERTSON, who were among the very early settlers and members of STEPHEN F. AUSTIN'S "first three hundred" colonists to Texas, may have been sons of CORNELIUS, but there is no proof of this as a fact.

CORNELIUS ROBERTSON, father of GEN. JEROME B. ROBERTSON, and ELIJAH ROBERTSON, father of FERRILL CLACK ROBERTSON, the Texas Empresario, were second-cousins. In ante-bellum (Civil War) days they lived about 40 miles apart and the two families called each other "cousins" and were so very intimate, according to local tradition in Texas.

ROWDEN (RAWDEN, WRAUGHTON, ROUGHTON, WROUGHTON, RODEN, WROTEN) FAMILY. At (3-204) of this record we are told that ELIAS ROWDEN and SARAH DURANT were married by ALEXANDER LILLINGTON on the 6th of August 1690; an at (1-203) in giving the birth dates of the children of GEORGE and ANN DURANT, we are told that GEORGE and his wife ANN (MARWOOD?) had children: GEORGE (b. 1659), ELIZABETH (b. 1660), JOHN (b. 1662), MARY (b. 1665), THOMAS (b. 1668), SARAH (b. 1670), MARTHA (b. 1673) and ARTHUR (b. 1675), and that GEORGE DURANT and ANN MARWOOD, the parents, were married JANUARY 1, 1658, in NORTHUMBERLAND COUNTY, Virginia, by REV. DAVID LINDSAT; and further, that these state-ments are taken FROM THE RECORDS OF PERQUIMANS COUNTY, N. C. In the "record" of their marriage the names of their daughter SARAH is called "ELIAS" ROWDEN (3-204), but in the will of ANN DURANT he referred to as "ISAAC" ROWDEN (1-41). On page 11, of GRIMES' ABSTRACTS, the will of one ARNOLD GRIMES is witnessed by ISAAC ROWDEN in 1691, so apparently the Christian name of SARAH DURANT'S husband was ISAAC instead of "ELIAS". As to his sur-name GRIMES prints it consistently, all the way through as "ROWDEN" - and "thereby hangs a tale". At (1-70) of this record a PETER RAWDEN is mentioned, and at (3-110) we are told that RICHARD ROUGHTON married MARTHA MANN in TYRRELL COUNTY 1778, and even our particular ISAAC has his name spelled "RAWDEN" when he obtained a grant of in PASQUOTANK in 1704 (1-303), so thus it is seen that even these records, voluminous as they leave us wholly in the dark as to whether SARAH DURANT married an ISAAC (?) ROWDEN, RAWDEON or ROUGHTON. GRIMES, on page 305, gives us a JOHN ROUNTON.

The mis-spelling - sometimes mis-reading and transcribing - of names, in this as in hundreds of other instances, has all but relegated to total obscurity, the ancestry of many early American families, making it seemingly impossible for descendants to identify their progenitors. To add to this confusion many of such names, thus mis-spelled, have been perpetuated by roneoed records based on the original errors, as this writer thinks is true in the case of the ANN "MARWOOD", wife of GEORGE DURANT, the "first grantee" of DURANT'S NECK.

ISAAC ROWDEN, who became the son in law of GEORGE DURANT and his wife ANN was a lineal descendant of "EZEKIAH" ROUGHTON, a passenger to Virginia in the "BONA NOVA" in 1619, and MAR ROUGHTON, his wife, who came over in the WARWICK. Both were living after the Indian Massacre of the colony. Apparently a son, WILLIAM WRAUGHTON, "beloved brother" of DR. THOMAS ROOTES of LA TER COUNTY, Virginia, who, with RICHARD FLINT patented 400 acres of land on the West side of the OMAN RIVER in that County in 1652. "EZEKIAH" of course, was probably a contraction of the name "HEZEKIAH" which remained in this family through the centuries, after it had established itself in the "deep South". However, even in those far-flung days of 1652, there appears to have been no conformity of the spelling of this unusual sur-name, for on the old LANCASTER RECORDS for 1652-1653 HEVERLY FLEET (Vol. 22 of his Colonial Abstracts, 1945), the name is variously spelled WRAUGH WRATAN, WROUGHTON, WRATTAN, RAUGHTON and ROUGHTON. Among other familiar names appearing on the LANCASTER RECORDS with WILLIAM WRAUGHTON is that of HUGH LINDSAY, believed to have been a son brother of the old Rector, REV. DAVID LINDSAY, who performed the marriage ceremony for GEORGE ANN DURANT in 1658. This suggests strongly that the romance between ISAAC "ROWDEN" and SARAH had its beginning along the COROTOMAN or RAPPAHANNOCK in LANCASTER or NORTHEMBERLAND COUNTIES in their childhood days their parents were friends and neighbors.

To carry this interesting story of the name still further, the descendants of this "DEN" FAMILY are even yet "divided" in their method of spelling the name, some writing it ROWDEN some RHOEN, some RODEN, some RATLAN, some WROUGHTON, some ROUGHTON, some WROTON and still others WROTEN. The life-companion of this writer, as a girl, was MISS WROTEN, and in the old family in the cemetery at DENMARK (BARNWELL COUNTY) South Carolina, from whence came her great grand HEZEKIAH, moss-covered gravestones, standing side by side, have the name chiseled and spelled in different ways; while at the little old courthouse on the faded deed records we found the name, ten "RODEN" in one or two instances, and in each case most certainly intended to apply to this ancient clan. Also the name PARTHENIA (harking back to one of SARAH (DURANT) ROWDEN'S sisters) continued to persist in this South Carolina family, and followed it through the West into MISSISSIPPI, LOUISIANA, ARKANSAS and TEXAS.

THE STALLINGS FAMILY came to ALBEMARLE PRECINCT in NORTH CAROLINA from HANSEMOND COUNTY, VIRGINIA, as is evidenced by the fact that NICHOLAS sold lands in that county and State to ROBERT BOUNDREE in 1700 (1-39), and similar items appearing on this record. The name of NICHOLAS, JAMES SIMON, JEREMIAH and other members of this family may be found on the Virginia Quit Rent Rolls as owners of lands there in 1704. How many remained in Virginia and how many came to North Carolina there is no telling. Some were in North Carolina while some were still living in Virginia and HANSEMOND COUNTY, according to outside records, as ELIAS BALLARD owned lands on WHITE OAK SWAMP, Hansemond County, Virginia, in (1717) adjoining lands then owned by NICHOLAS STALLINGS in the same neighborhood. Since ELIAS became a family name with the STALLINGS it suggests that there may have been an intermarriage relation between the BALLARDS and STALLINGS sometime back in those very early days. The WILKES COUNTY, GEORGIA records show that a JESSE STALLINGS, probably the son of the one who died leaving will in 1785 (3-187) in North Carolina, went to BROAD RIVER in Wilkes County following the American Revolution, and took up his quota of lands reserved for soldiers of that conflict and left surviving him a few years later a widow SALLIE and five children, SIMON, JESSE, EMILIA, LOUISA and SALLIE STALLINGS, and that, for a time, at least one JOHN RAY was serving with the widow, as their guardian. Previous thereto in CLEVELAND COUNTY, North Carolina, there had been a marriage between the RAY and STALLINGS family, which had its reverberations in later generations as the writer once found on a visit on Duck River over in Tennessee, where the RAYS, BALLARDS and STALLINGS families were living side by side in the same prosperous farming community, totally oblivious of the fact that the three families had been probably related for more than two hundred years. As this writer has always been interested in his own family and has studiously followed migratory peripatations all over the South, he can say that he is yet to find a family of the name planted anywhere in any Southern State, that like the "gray mule always a red headed girl" tradition did not also turn up a family by the name of STALLINGS not far away. In one instance we were puzzled to discover that a family by the name of LATTIMORE seemed very intimate with both families but a reversion to the old early VIRGINIA RECORDS showed that these LATTIMORES were of that HILL CITY COUNTY (Virginia) family, which was allied by intermarriage with CAPT. THOMAS BALLARD'S which explained the situation.

TOWNSEND FAMILY. The TOWNSENDS of this record found their way to the ALBEMARLE SOUND region of NORTH CAROLINA before the year 1700, and certainly prior to 1708 (3-378). Apparently they were headed by JOHN and WILLIAM TOWNSEND (1-77). COL. RICHARD TOWNSEND, member of the COUNCIL of the Colony of VIRGINIA, from YORK COUNTY, as early as 1633, was the ancestor of the family. On the oldest YORK RECORD the name is spelled "TOWNSENE" and later TOWNSHEND. Gradually the name was simplified to "TOWNSEND" as it is now spelled throughout the entire South.

COL. RICHARD TOWNSEND, of the COUNCIL, is credited with being the father of at least two sons, possibly others, (1) CAPT. ROBERT TOWNSEND and (2) WILLIAM TOWNSEND. The first was the ancestor of the NORTHUMBERLAND and STAFFORD COUNTY (Virginia) TOWNSENDS, and the second, of the NORTH CAROLINA TOWNSENDS. Descendants of both branches worked their way Southward into the CAROLINAS and other States.

CAPT. ROBERT TOWNSEND appears in LANCASTER COUNTY as early as 1652, was then of age and engaged in the transfer of property (Fleet's Colonial Abstracts 22, p. 96). He later appears on the records of NORTHUMBERLAND (Fleet 23, p. 91, 23 Va. Mag 97). His children were MARY, FRANCES and WILLIAM TOWNSEND. The daughter MARY TOWNSEND, by virtue of her marriage on March 15, 1692 to JOHN WASHINGTON, JR. (Fleet 23 p. 91, Va. Mag. 23 97) in WESTMORELAND COUNTY, became the ancestress of all of the descendants of the emigrant LAWRENCE WASHINGTON, bearing the name of WASHINGTON. The JOHN WASHINGTON, whom she married, was the only son of the emigrant LAWRENCE, though he had two full sisters and one half-sister, the latter born in ENGLAND of a first marriage of his father. JOHN WASHINGTON, JR. and his wife MARY (TOWNSEND) WASHINGTON moved to STAFFORD COUNTY, where he was SHERRIFF in 1717-1719. He and his wife MARY had five children, LAWRENCE, JOHN, ROBERT, TOWNSEND and MARY TOWNSEND WASHINGTON. FRANCES TOWNSEND, daughter of CAPT. ROBERT TOWNSEND, married FRANCIS DANE they were the parents of TOWNSEND DANE. JOHN WASHINGTON (son of JOHN and MARY) died and left a will in 1743 (23 Va. Mag. 98) in which they named children ROBERT, THOMAS, FRANCES TOWNSEND, and TOWNSEND, LUND, JOHN, LAWRENCE and HENRY WASHINGTON. The last named, HENRY WASHINGTON, was the father of LAWRENCE, JOHN and BAILEY WASHINGTON. BAILEY WASHINGTON married, it is said, CATHERINE STARKER, and they were the parents of COL. WILLIAM WASHINGTON, the gallant revolutionary officer; married JANE ELLIOTT, daughter of CHARLES, and settled in SOUTH CAROLINA and GEORGIA, following the American Revolution. It will be noted that SARAH TOWNSEND, daughter of WILLIAM TOWNSEND, who died leaving a will in (1767) of these records, in NORTH CAROLINA (3-191) married EPHRAIM ELLIOTT, which suggests the almost certain connection between the STAFFORD and NORTHUMBERLAND TOWNSENDS and those in NORTH CAROLINA, descendants of DR. WILLIAM TOWNSEND, of YORK COUNTY, VIRGINIA. HENRY WASHINGTON, another son of BAILEY WASHINGTON, and a brother of COL. WILLIAM WASHINGTON, married MILDRED PRATT, settled in MISSISSIPPI, and his son THOMAS PRATT WASHINGTON moved to TEXAS, where his descendants are still numerous. Descendants of the NORTHUMBERLAND TOWNSENDS appeared in Texas at about the same time in approximately the same locality.

DR. WILLIAM TOWNSEND, of YORK COUNTY, Virginia, (the other son of COL. RICHARD TOWNSEND of the Council) was living in YORK COUNTY towards the close of the seventeenth century, as is evidenced by the following item which appears on p. 45, of Vol. 8, of the YORK COUNTY RECORDS, for November 24, 1687: "Judgment is this day granted WILLIAM TOWNSEND against MATTHEW HOWARD for the payment of Three Pounds, five shillings, it being for his care and trouble and attendance in suing on the said Howard's come in law, and Physick administered to his wife, which hee, the said HOWARD is ordered to pay with costs of suit, etc."

The other WILLIAM TOWNSEND, son of CAPT. ROBERT, and brother in law of JOHN WASHINGTON JR., had sons WILLIAM, JOSEPH and JOSHUA TOWNSEND, of Northumberland County. His son WILLIAM married a daughter of WILLIAM HAYNIE, a witness to the will of COL. PETER PRESLEY in 1750, whose wife was WINNIFRED GRIFFIN. PETER PRESLEY's daughter WINNIFRED married ANTHONY THORNTON and they were the parents of PRESLEY THORNTON. The HAYNIES, PRESLEYS and TOWNSENDS were all intermarried. The children of WILLIAM TOWNSEND and his wife ELIZABETH HAYNIE (as shown by the old St. Stephen's Parish records) were HAYNIE TOWNSEND, SARAH TOWNSEND, ANNE TOWNSEND and GRIFFIN TOWNSEND.

JOSHUA TOWNSEND, (son of WILLIAM, grandson of WILLIAM and great grandson of CAPT. ROBERT TOWNSEND) is believed to have been the father of JOHN and OSWALD TOWNSEND, who settled at BOON HORN, Ky. about 1778 (Ardery's Ky. Court Records pp. 103, 112, 113), of EWEEL LIGHT TOWNSEND (b. Sept. 12, 1757) a revolutionary soldier, THOMAS R. TOWNSEND, who died leaving will in BAY COUNTY, TEXAS, in 1838, and whose wife was ELIZABETH STAPLETON, ASA TOWNSEND (who witnessed said will) and SPENCER TOWNSEND, who also came to Texas. WASHINGTONS. The JOHN, JAMES, RICHARD and THOMAS WASHINGTON, of CHOWAN COUNTY in this record must have been descendants of another and different emigration of WASHINGTONS who came early to AMERICA and settled in VIRGINIA. Possibly their ancestors, whoever they were even preceded First Mate JOHN WASHINGTON of the "Seahorse of London", who with CAPT. EDWARD PRESSCOTT in 1656 got stuck in the mud in the middle of the POTOMAC, opposite the home of ALEXANDER POPE and his wife ANN, who afterwards married the luckless adventurer, who was to become the ancestor of the First President of the United States. (Fleet's Westmoreland Abstracts Vol 23). None of the numerous attempts to straighten out the WASHINGTON FAMILY history appear to agree, and this writer has relied more upon an account written by one WILLIAM WINSTON FONTAINE for a Texas branch of the WASHINGTONS nearly 75 years ago, than any other. Mr. FONTAINE was a contemporary and close friend of ALEXANDER BROWN, and knew his Virginia families. We have several most interesting MSS in his own handwriting, long before the fountain pen was born, and near the close of the "goose quill" era. They are priceless. There is no place in the JOHN and LAWRENCE WASHINGTON family for the CHOWAN COUNTY, N. C. Washingtons; nor is there a niche for RICHARD WASHINGTON of SURRY, the father in law of the two LANIER brothers, mentioned in another note. Richard of Surry and Richard of "Washington's Branch" were not the same. The wife of one was ELIZABETH, and the wife of the other was HANNAH (2-608). ELIZABETH, widow of RICHARD of SURRY left will in 1730 and named children WILLIAM, JAMES, ARTHUR, ELIZABETH LANIER, PRISCILLA LANIER, FAITH BARKER, MARY WARD and ANN WASHINGTON. The photostat of the will in the Archives at RICHMOND, VIRGINIA, which the writer examined, unmistakably identifies the testator as the "Widow of Richard Washington". However, it is not only possible, but probable, that RICHARD of SURRY COUNTY (Va.) and RICHARD, of CHOWAN were kinsmen, and had a common ancestry in early Virginia.

COL. WILLIAM WASHINGTON, of GRANVILLE COUNTY, who for many years was preacher at the little Tar River Church below CXFORD, and whose revolutionary record is known to history, was a son of BAILEY WASHINGTON, who was the son of HENRY, the son of JOHN, the son of LAWRENCE, the first mate's brother. COL. WASHINGTON, after the revolution, moved to SOUTH CAROLINA, and later to GEORGIA where he settled on LOG DAM Creek in HANCOCK COUNTY and died leaving a will dated August 12, 1799. His children were JOHN, EPERAITH, WILLIAM, MARY and SARAH, and his executors were MILES GREENE, BRITTAIN ROGERS and WILLIAM HART. One of his daughters, MARY, married PLEASANT ROSE, of a well known NORTH CAROLINA FAMILY, which will be found mentioned often in these records.

WOODWARD FAMILY. One of the most colorful characters in CAROLINA HISTORY was HENRY WOODWARD, in all likelihood, a close kinsman, if not an ancestor of the HENRY WOODWARD and others of the name who appear in these pages (1-65). About the time that GEORGE DURANT was dickering with the old Indian Chiefs for his choice tract on the "neck of land" on ALBEMARLE SOUND, HENRY WOODWARD and his companions were exploring the region around the mouth of the Ashley River and learning from the Indians something about the country. Left there by his companions the intrepid explorer remained among these Indians many long months, and was finally captured and carried to San Augustine; after his escape he became a ship's doctor in the West Indies, was finally wrecked on St. Nevis, and picked up by the Sir John Yeaman's contingent, which was trying unsuccessfully to reach the Carolinas. Later he came to the settlements on Ashley River and, finally became an Indian Trader, of note, whose headquarters were mainly around what is now Augusta, Ga. I would call it a genealogical coincidence that a hundred years later, one of the striking characters of that new era, who stalked among the Indians of the same general area was COL. JOSEPH MARTIN, whose wife was a LUCAS, and who was almost surely a kinsman of the famous HENRY WOODWARD, since the HENRY of (1715) married MARY MARTIN, (1-65) and WILLIAM MARTIN and HENRY LUCAS were both the uncles of a JOHN WOODWARD, who died leaving a will in (1734) 1-32, 1-513.
